U. S. GRAND JURY AGAIN SUMMONED

Surprise Call In Orleans Causes Belief 'Something Unusual Developed'

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The surprise call for the federal grand jury to reconvene here next Tuesday led to the belief that something unusual developed.

The jury which returned indictments against leading political figures and others in recent sessions adjourned last week until September [illegible] unless officials said something unusual demanded its attention.

The jury was called into special session by United States Attorney Rene Viosca, who said it probably would "go further into some matters that already are under investigation," in addition to taking up "new matters."

Viosca said he did not know how long the jurors would be in session after Tuesday but that he hoped "to present all of the testimony for which the body was called in one or two days."

O. John Rogge, assistant United States attorney general who has been directing the Louisiana investigations, was expected back in New Orleans next week. He has been in Washing-

BODY OF DROWNING VICTIM IS FOUND

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 26.—(AP)—The body of Archie MacLeod, 43-year-old bridgeman, who was drowned in the Mississippi river Thursday after falling 170 feet from the structure of the new river bridge under construction here, was recovered early today.

The body was found opposite Baton Rouge, across the river and more than four miles below the scene of the accident. It was discovered by a negro workman.

The body will be shipped to Richmond, Prince Edward island, Canada. Bodies of two others killed in the accident were shipped yesterday. The body of William Buford, 38, was sent to Briggsville, Ark., and the body of James B. Brooks to Oklahoma City.

The accident Thursday brought to eight the deaths in the construction of the $10,000,000 bridge here.

Chamber Of Commerce Also Wants Loudspeakers Taken Off Streets

Also the [illegible] of Monroe commission [illegible] and the board of aldermen of West Monroe will also, according to a decision reached by the two boards, receive a recommendation that suitable ordinances be passed to prohibit commercial loudspeakers to be used on cars on streets of the Twin Cities.

The aviation committee of the chamber, of which Berny Oakland is chairman, pointed out that 11 acres are required to be added to the present acreage at the airport to enable runways of sufficient length to permit landing of large passenger planes. Airplanes of the future will require runways of 4,000 feet length, it was said, and this is impossible without the acquiring of 11 acres of land additionally. The airport investment now totals $150,000 or more and will be of little use unless it is enlarged and made so as to accommodate large ships. The airport investment has been made to date through three sources, the Ouachita parish police jury, the Louisiana state highway commission, and the WPA.

The police jury will be urged, through action of the Chamber of Commerce, to acquire the needed land at a reasonable price. At present the

LABOR DAY PLANS TENTATIVELY MADE

Organized labor of the Twin Cities and adjacent area will celebrate Labor day, September 4, which will be initiated with a parade at 9:30 a.m., There will be a dance that night, details of which will be made known soon.

All crafts will assemble in their respective places north of the new traffic bridge. All business places and friends are urged to enter floats, cars or trucks, as they may see fit. More details as to the entering of floats can be had of any member of the Labor day committee, which is composed of the following: F. C. McMullin, chairman; J. W. Welch, B. S. Thompson, Walter Beal, Ira Cagle and I. H. Redding. Mr. McMullin can be reached by phoning 2860-W.

The parade will follow the following route, if tentative plans are carried out: West over new bridge to Trenton street in West Monroe; from Trenton street to Coleman avenue; east on Coleman over the old traffic bridge to DeSiard street; east on DeSiard to Sixth street; Sixth street to Layton; on Layton to South Fifth, South Fifth to Ouachita avenue, Ouachita avenue to South Second street; thence south to Bernstein park.

250 AMERICANS LEAVING FRANCE

Travel Under Wartime Conditions, Many Leaving Luggage Behind

LE HAVRE, Aug. 27 (Sunday)—(AP)—A group of 250 American refugees from Europe's threats of war sailed for home early today on an emergency trip to the United States liner President Roosevelt.

An almost full moon hung low over Le Havre as the ship left the harbor to pick its way through the six miles danger zone around the French coast.

Patrolling French warships which have orders to shoot to sink any commercial craft found within the zone after nightfall received special notifications that the ship would be passing.

The passengers had rushed to Le Havre from all over Europe to board the liner which was turned around at Le Havre to evacuate Americans.

The Roosevelt, which normally carries from 200 to 300 passengers, will have taken on 525 by the time she leaves Southampton and Cork. Cots were put in lounges and even the Grand piano was jammed into one corner and circles with beds.

A woman who got the last place ruefully remarked:

"I hope we have good weather. I don't know what a cot would be like in a storm."

DONKEY GAME FATAL TO SHREVEPORT MAN

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Injuries received in a donkey baseball game Tuesday night proved fatal early today to Jacob R. Meier, 39, building engineer and well-known local figure in veterans' and reserve officers' association circles.

Meier, a first lieutenant in the 336th field artillery reserve regiment, suffered a punctured lung when one of several broken ribs penetrated his left lung. He was injured when thrown violently to the ground from his mount in the first inning of Tuesday night's game.

A native of Kansas, Meier was an army air corps pilot during the World war and saw service in France. He has been an officer in the field artillery reserve since the war. Surviving are his widow, a son, and other relatives.

MATTER OF WAR OR PEACE STILL FAR FROM DECIDED

Ambassador To Russia Called Home 'On Long Leave' By France

Paris, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The French government tonight cut off all air communication between France and eastern Europe.

A decree, to become effective at 9 a.m. (3 a.m., eastern standard time) tomorrow, forbade any planes except French military craft to fly over French territory east of a line from Calais south though Paris and Lyons to Marseille.

Eight regular air routes used by lines serving Belgium, The Netherlands, Germany, Switzerland and Italy as well as countries farther east were eliminated by the order.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—France was reported tonight to have told Germany in a firm response to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's peace proposals that the way to settle the European crisis was for Germany to negotiate directly with Poland.

The French [illegible] handed personally to the Nazi chieftain this afternoon by Ambassador Robert Coulondre was said by Paris diplomatic sources to have stated the French position on two points:

1. France does not want to have to fight but she has given her guarantee to Poland and intends to make good on it.

2. If Germany wants a peaceful solution she must negotiate a settlement directly with Poland as equal power treating with equal power.

DUCE ACTIVE IN 'PEACE ATTEMPT'

Receives Telephone Call From Hitler Before Fuehrer Offers Plan

ROME, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini is taking an active part in a "last attempt to save the peace of Europe," a responsible Italian informant said tonight.

The duce of Fascism was represented as willing and perhaps eager for negotiations which would avert war but along with this, Fascists emphasized, must be considered Italian claims upon France for a greater share in African colonial possessions.

Mussolini, nevertheless, continued with steps of military preparedness. He conferred with army, navy and air chiefs, and there was conjecture as to whether general mobilization was discussed.

Diplomatic foreign circles believed this step was being held up pending outcome of diplomatic activity in London, where Adolf Hitler's plan for a European settlement was under discussion. Italy was believed in foreign military circles to have slightly less than 2,000,000 men now in arms.

Authoritative reports said Hitler notified British, French, Italian and

WOMAN PICKET AT NEW ORLEANS SLAIN

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Death of a woman picket shot Wednesday during a labor controversy at a seafood packing plant at Violet brought an announcement today from District Attorney Leander H. Perez of St. Bernard parish that he would call a meeting of the parish grand jury Tuesday to probe the case.

The victim was Mrs. John B. Treadaway, 52, a member of the Violet Seafood Workers' association, which stationed a picket line near the Dunbar-Dukote company plant.

The district attorney said the woman was shot through the abdomen during an exchange of pistol fire between men sympathizers of the pickets and occupants of an automobile which tried to drive through the line.

District Attorney Perez said he would submit about 40 "conflicting statements" on the incident to the grand jury.

SENATOR NOE IS HURT IN TEXAS

Suffers Slight Brain Concussion, Two Broken Ribs And Lacerations

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 26.—(AP)—James A. Noe of Monroe, Louisiana state senator and candidate for governor, received a mild brain concussion, extensive scalp lacerations, and two broken ribs today when his automobile overturned on a highway west of here.

Hospital attendants said tonight he was resting well and his condition was satisfactory. The attending physician said Noe would probably have to stay in Austin "several days."

Noe, his wife, their daughter, Miss Gay Noe, and their chauffeur, were en route home from Kerrville, Tex., when the car overturned at a curve. Noe was the only one hurt.

OFFICE HERE KEEPING IN TOUCH WITH CONDITION

Senator Noe's office in Monroe, which was keeping in close touch with his condition last night, said his condition apparently was not extremely serious.

Senator and Mrs. Noe left here Thursday and went to Austin and later went to Kerrville for the purpose of bringing Miss Gay Noe home from a school she had been attending throughout the summer.

Senator Noe and his wife and daughter had planned to be back in Monroe Saturday evening but the accident of course interrupted the plan.

Senator Noe is the second gubernatorial candidate in Louisiana to be injured in an automobile accident recently. L. F. Clawson, Shreveport, suffered a broken rib and severe bruises in an accident two weeks ago near Coushatta. His injury kept Mr. Clawson from his office only two or three days.

ATTORNEY HELD ON SLANDER CHARGES

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A personal feud between two local attorneys who have been speaking on opposite sides in the Louisiana political scandals investigation today sprouted slander charges which temporarily jailed one.

Alleging wilful and malicious attempt to injure his reputation, Shirley G. Wimberly, who praises the memory of the late Senator Huey P. Long in his radio discourses, filed five charges of slander against Matthew S. Braniff, 26-year-old lawyer who took to the air in an attack on Wimberly last night.

Wimberly alleged in his charges filed in criminal district court that Braniff called him a "grafter and a shakedown artist, knowing said statement to be false."

Braniff was arrested at his downtown office and taken to the parish jail, where he later was released on $5,000 bond.

"I welcome the opportunity of being able to prove in court of law the statements made in my speech," Braniff said.

ARKANSAS ENDS OIL SHUTDOWN

Becomes First Of Six States To Terminate Closing Order

EL DORADO, Ark., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Arkansas, which closed down its "flush" oil fields August 16 in concert with five other mid-continent oil producing states, today became the first to terminate the shutdown when the state oil and gas commission ordered reopening of the fields on a staggered schedule beginning tomorrow.

The order, released without comment from the commission, was issued simultaneously with new official allowables which slashed the state's daily production from 69,956 to 63,250 barrels. The average reduction for the state's five fields, which include two separate productive strata in the nearby Shuler area, was 14 per cent.

Atlanta field and Reynolds lime wells of the Shuler field—7 a.m. August 27.

Magnolia, Village and Buckner fields—7 a.m. September 1.

Jones sand wells, Shuler field—7 a.m. September 4.

The order and new allowables were issued by the commission following an executive session that came at the end of an open hearing at which continuance of the shutdown was both

NEARLY $3,000,000 IN RETIREMENT FUND

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 26.—(AP)—P. C. Rogers, secretary-treasurer of the state teachers' retirement board, reported almost $3,000,000 now in the retirement fund.

Of this, he said, $1,193,610.07 was paid in during the past fiscal year, $48,474.92 paid out in pensions and $34,103.37 reimbursed to persons withdrawing from participation.

E. W. Jones, Caddo parish school superintendent, was elected chairman of the board, succeeding Spencer Phillips, who resigned recently to become a member of the Louisiana tax commission.

PROGRAM READY FOR KIWANIANS

Plans Complete To Entertain District Meet Here Next Week

The program for the district convention of Kiwanis clubs from Louisiana, Mississippi and west Tennessee, which will be held here September 3-5, has been prepared. George Welch of the West Monroe Kiwanis club and C. C. Colvert of the Monroe club are co-chairmen of the program committee.

Registration will start at Hotel Virginia Sunday, September 3, at 9 a.m., and the first religious service will be held in Temple B'Nai Israel at 8 a.m., when Rev. C. Estornelle, rector of Holy Trinity Episcopal church in Vicksburg, will be the speaker of the occasion.

The convention proper will open on Hotel Virginia roof Monday, September 4, at 9 a.m., at which session the governor's address will be delivered, and an outstanding feature will be an address by Fred C. W. Parker, international secretary.

At the second session, which will start Monday September 4, at 1:30 p.m., W. C. (Parson) Teague, editorial writer of the Commercial Appeal, Memphis, Tenn., will give an address.

When the annual district dinner is held on Hotel Virginia roof Monday, September 4, at 8 p.m., Mr. Parker and Mr. Teague will both participate with humorous talks. The annual dance will conclude Monday's program.

The election of officers will be held and selection of the next convention city will take place at the morning session Tuesday, September 5.

The ladies will have an interesting program. Monday noon, September 4, there will be a luncheon given by the Kiwanettes of Monroe and West Monroe, while at 3 p.m. there will be a boat ride.

Tuesday morning, September 5, there will be a coffee hour in the social center building at Northeast Junior college.

SNEAD APPOINTED TO BRIDGE COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—C. D. Snead, district engineer for the public roads administration at Montgomery, Ala., was appointed to the Louisiana-Vicksburg Bridge commission today by Thomas H. MacDonald, public roads commissioner.

The commission was authorized by the last session of congress to purchase, maintain and operate a bridge across the Mississippi river near Delta Point, La., and Vicksburg, Miss.

Two additional members will be appointed by the governors of Louisiana and Mississippi.

Snead has directed federal aid road work in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Tennessee since April, 1930. He will serve on the bridge commission without compensation other than travel expenses.

HITLER SUDDENLY ENDS PLANS FOR PARTY CONGRESS

FRANCE GIVES FIRM REPLY TO GERMANY'S PROPOSAL

Asserts Decision Must Be Up To Poland And On Equal Basis

LONDON, Aug. 27 (Sunday).—(AP)—Europe's outlook for peace darkened early today as Fuehrer Hitler announced a sudden cancellation of his great Nazi party congress at Nuernberg, which was to have opened next Saturday.

The move, announced in Berlin shortly before midnight, followed dispatch of the French reply to the fuehrer's peace proposals. France was reported to have told Hitler firmly that she has given her guarantee to Poland and intends to make good.

If Germany wants a peaceful solution, she must negotiate a settlement directly with Poland as an equal power, France was reported to have informed the fuehrer.

Meanwhile Britain delayed replying to the Hitler message, brought to London by airplane Saturday by the British ambassador to Berlin, Sir Nevile Henderson. Hitler was reported to have demanded a straight "yes" or "no" to his proposals.

The British cabinet met late last night in framing an answer, and Henderson was expected to take it back to Berlin today.

The Nuernberg congress cancellation was not explained, but the inference was that Germany was dissatisfied with the reaction of France and Britain to the Hitler proposals.

It seemed obvious in Berlin that Nazi and government leaders figured on being too busy in the coming

CHAMBERLAIN IS ON SPOT AGAIN

Britain Defers 'Yes' Or 'No' Answer To Overture From Hitler

LONDON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Tall, spare, 70-year-old Neville Chamberlain was cast again tonight as the chief actor in a European drama of war or peace as the British government deferred a "yes" or "no" answer to an eleventh hour overture from Adolf Hitler.

Again the British prime minister and his cabinet—but primarily the prime minister—were confronted with decisions of momentous importance to the future of Europe and in circumstances bearing both parallels and contrasts to the crisis of 1938.

For two hours and a half Chamberlain sat with his cabinet discussing the full implications of an apparent offer from the German Chancellor to negotiate at this late hour the German-Polish dispute which, in the prime minister's own words, brought Europe within imminent peril of war.

The terms—if they were terms—were brought to London during the day by the British ambassador in Berlin, Sir Nevile Henderson, after an hour and a quarter conference to which Hitler himself had summoned him in Berlin yesterday.

But at the end of the cabinet session tonight, it was announced that still another meeting would be held tomorrow morning before Henderson

I WONDER

By Pat Green

How many of you boys and girls who ride bicycles on the main streets and thoroughfares, ever think how near you come to being killed every day? While driving down DeSiard street the other evening, four different riders of bicycles dashed across the street in front of me without looking to the right or left. The only reason a lot of you youngsters are still alive is that other people have been looking out for you. Some day some driver will be looking the other way, or won't be able to stop. There will be a crash. Then, your parents will want to hire some high-powered lawyer to sue some one else for breaking up your machine and injuring you, when it was all your fault. Remember, if you are old enough to ride a bicycle, you are old enough to be more careful. If you want to keep from growing old, just keep on being careless. But if you want to live long and be happy, remember that safe riding of your bicycles is sane riding, just the same as SANE DRIVING IS SAFE DRIVING.

Roosevelt Still Awaiting Replies To Two Messages Asking Peace

POLISH REPRESENTATIVE SAYS 'WE CAN ONLY WAIT'

Believes German Developments Another Step In 'War Of Nerves'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Dispatches from abroad gave official Washington a measure of hope today that a European war might be averted, but there was no relaxation in the hour-by-hour study of developments abroad, or in the government's advance preparations for the steps this country will take if war breaks out.

President Roosevelt, still awaiting German replies to his two messages in behalf of peace, conferred with A. A. Berle, assistant secretary of state, and Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, regarding plans to meet the problems a war would present for this country.

Neither the White House nor the state department had received any indications as to when, or whether, Adolf Hitler would reply to the president's peace appeals. It generally was assumed, however, that week-end developments wold show whether Europe would be pushed into war or would settle its differences by negotiations.

The French and Polish ambassadors called at the state department and discussed the fast-developing European events with Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state.

Jerzy Potocki, the Polish representative, expressed the appreciation of his government for Mr. Roosevelt's efforts to avert war. "The only thing we can do now," he asserted, "is to wait and wonder what Hitler will do."

Potocki told reporters he thought recent German developments the sudden stoppage of communication with the outside world and its unexplained resumption, the grounding of commercial planes and the call for German shipping to return home—were designed as another step in Hitler's "war of nerves."

The Polish ambassador reiterated

A decree, to become effective at 9 a.m., (3 a.m., eastern standard time) tomorrow, forbade any planes except French military craft to fly over French territory east of a line from Calais south though Paris and Lyons to Marseille.

Eight regular air routes used by lines serving Belgium, The Netherlands, Germany, Switzerland and Italy as well as countries farther east were eliminated by the order.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—France was reported tonight to have told Germany in a firm response to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's peace proposals that the way to settle the European crisis was for Germany to negotiate directly with Poland.

The French answer, handed personally to the Nazi chieftain this afternoon by Ambassador Robert Coulondre, was said by Paris diplomatic sources to have stated the French position in two points:

1. France does not want to have to fight, but she has given her guarantee to Poland and intends to make good on it.

2. If Germany wants a peaceful solution she must negotiate a settlement directly with Poland as equal power treating with equal power.

DUCE ACTIVE IN 'PEACE ATTEMPT'

ROME, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini is taking an active part in a "last attempt to save the peace of Europe," a responsible Italian informant said tonight.

The duce of Fascism was represented as willing and perhaps eager for negotiations which would avert war but along with this, Fascists emphasized, must be considered Italian claims upon France for a greater share in African colonial possessions.

Mussolini, nevertheless, continued with steps of military preparedness. He conferred with army, navy and air chiefs, and there was conjecture as to whether general mobilization was discussed.

Diplomatic foreign circles believed this step was being held up pending outcome of diplomatic activity in London, where Adolf Hitler's plan for a European settlement was under discussion. Italy was believed in foreign military circles to have slightly less than 2,000,000 men now in arms.

Authoritative reports said Hitler notified British, French, Italian and

WOMAN PICKET AT NEW ORLEANS SLAIN

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Death of a woman picket shot Wednesday during a labor controversy at a seafood packing plant at Violet brought an announcement today from District Attorney Leander H. Perez of St. Bernard parish that he would call a meeting of the parish grand jury Tuesday to probe the case.

The victim was Mrs. John B. Treadaway, 52, a member of the Violet Seafood Workers' association, which stationed a picket line near the Dunbar-Dukote company plant.

The district attorney said the woman was shot through the abdomen during an exchange of pistol fire between men sympathizers of the pickets and occupants of an automobile which tried to drive through the line.

District Attorney Perez said he would submit about 40 "conflicting statements" on the incident to the grand jury.

SENATOR NOE IS HURT IN TEXAS

Suffers Slight Brain Concussion, Two Broken Ribs And Lacerations

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 26.—(AP)—James A. Noe of Monroe, Louisiana state senator and candidate for governor, received a mild brain concussion, extensive scalp lacerations, and two broken ribs today when his automobile overturned on a highway west of here.

Hospital attendants said tonight he was resting well and his condition was satisfactory. The attending physician said Noe would probably have to stay in Austin "several days."

Noe, his wife, their daughter, Miss Gay Noe, and their chauffeur, were en route home from Kerrville, Tex., when the car overturned at a curve. Noe was the only one hurt.

OFFICE HERE KEEPING IN TOUCH WITH CONDITION

Senator Noe's office in Monroe, which was keeping in close touch with his condition last night, said his condition apparently was not extremely serious.

Senator and Mrs. Noe left here Thursday and went to Austin and later went to Kerrville for the purpose of bringing Miss Gay Noe home from a school she had been attending throughout the summer.

Senator Noe and his wife and daughter had planned to be back in Monroe Saturday evening but the accident of course interrupted the plan.

Senator Noe is the second gubernatorial candidate in Louisiana to be injured in an automobile accident recently. L. F. Clawson, Shreveport, suffered a broken rib and severe bruises in an accident two weeks ago near Coushatta. His injury kept Mr. Clawson from his office only two or three days.

ATTORNEY HELD ON SLANDER CHARGES

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A personal feud between two local attorneys who have been speaking on opposite sides in the Louisiana political scandals investigation today sprouted slander charges which temporarily jailed one.

Alleging wilful and malicious attempt to injure his reputation, Shirley G. Wimberly, who praises the memory of the late Senator Huey P. Long in his radio discourses, filed five charges of slander against Matthew S. Braniff, 26-year-old lawyer who took to the air in an attack on Wimberly last night.

Wimberly alleged in his charges filed in criminal district court that Braniff called him a "grafter and a shakedown artist, knowing said statement to be false."

Braniff was arrested at his downtown office and taken to the parish jail, where he later was released on $5,000 bond.

"'I welcome the opportunity of being able to prove in court of law the statements made in my speech," Braniff said.

ARKANSAS ENDS OIL SHUTDOWN

Becomes First Of Six States To Terminate Closing Order

EL DORADO, Ark., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Arkansas, which closed down its "flush" oil fields August 16 in concert with five other mid-continent oil producing states, today became the first to terminate the shutdown when the state oil and gas commission ordered reopening of the fields on a staggered schedule beginning tomorrow.

The order, released without comment from the commission, was issued simultaneously with new official allowables which slashed the state's daily production from 69,956 to 63,250 barrels. The average reduction for the state's five fields, which include two separate productive strata in the nearby Shuler area, was 14 per cent.

Atlanta field and Reynolds lime wells of the Shuler field—7 a.m. August 27.

Magnolia, Village and Buckner fields—7 a.m. September 1.

Jones sand wells, Shuler field—7 a.m. September 4.

The order and new allowables were issued by the commission following an executive session that came at the end of an open hearing at which continuance of the shutdown was both

NEARLY $3,000,000 IN RETIREMENT FUND

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 26.—(AP)—P. C. Rogers, secretary-treasurer of the state teachers' retirement board, reported almost $3,000,000 now in the retirement fund.

Of this, he said, $1,193,610.07 was paid in during the past fiscal year, $48,474.92 paid out in pensions and $34,103.37 reimbursed to persons withdrawing from participation.

E. W. Jones, Caddo parish school superintendent, was elected chairman of the board, succeeding Spencer Phillips, who resigned recently to become a member of the Louisiana tax commission.

PROGRAM READY FOR KIWANIANS

Plans Complete To Entertain District Meet Here Next Week

The program for the district convention of Kiwanis clubs from Louisiana, Mississippi and west Tennessee, which will be held here September 3-5, has been prepared. George Welch of the West Monroe Kiwanis club and C. C. Colvert of the Monroe club are co-chairmen of the program committee.

Registration will start at Hotel Virginia Sunday, September 3, at 9 a.m., and the first religious service will be held in Temple B'Nai Israel at 8 a.m., when Rev. C. Estornelle, rector of Holy Trinity Episcopal church in Vicksburg, will be the speaker of the occasion.

The convention proper will open on Hotel Virginia roof Monday, September 4, at 9 a.m., at which session the governor's address will be delivered, and an outstanding feature will be an address by Fred C. W. Parker, international secretary.

At the second session, which will start Monday September 4, at 1:30 p.m., W. C. (Parson) Teague, editorial writer of the Commercial Appeal, Memphis, Tenn., will give an address.

When the annual district dinner is held on Hotel Virginia roof Monday, September 4, at 8 p.m., Mr. Parker and Mr. Teague will both participate with humorous talks. The annual dance will conclude Monday's program.

The election of officers will be held and selection of the next convention city will take place at the morning session Tuesday, September 5.

The ladies will have an interesting program. Monday noon, September 4, there will be a luncheon given by the Kiwanettes of Monroe and West Monroe, while at 3 p.m. there will be a boat ride.

Tuesday morning, September 5, there will be a coffee hour in the social center building at Northeast Junior college.

SNEAD APPOINTED TO BRIDGE COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—C. D. Snead, district engineer for the public roads administration at Montgomery, Ala., was appointed to the Louisiana-Vicksburg Bridge commission today by Thomas H. MacDonald, public roads commissioner.

The commission was authorized by the last session of congress to purchase, maintain and operate a bridge across the Mississippi river near Delta Point, La., and Vicksburg, Miss.

Two additional members will be appointed by the governors of Louisiana and Mississippi.

Snead has directed federal aid road work in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Tennessee since April, 1930. He will serve on the bridge commission without compensation other than travel expenses.

HITLER SUDDENLY ENDS PLANS FOR PARTY CONGRESS

FRANCE GIVES FIRM REPLY TO GERMANY'S PROPOSAL

Asserts Decision Must Be Up To Poland And On Equal Basis

LONDON, Aug. 27 (Sunday).—(AP)—Europe's outlook for peace darkened early today as Fuehrer Hitler announced a sudden cancellation of his great Nazi party congress at Nuernberg, which was to have opened next Saturday.

The move, announced in Berlin shortly before midnight, followed dispatch of the French reply to the fuehrer's peace proposals. France was reported to have told Hitler firmly that she has given her guarantee to Poland and intends to make good.

If Germany wants a peaceful solution, she must negotiate a settlement directly with Poland as an equal power, France was reported to have informed the fuehrer.

Meanwhile Britain delayed replying to the Hitler message, brought to London by airplane Saturday by the British ambassador to Berlin, Sir Nevile Henderson. Hitler was reported to have demanded a straight "yes" or "no" to his proposals.

The British cabinet met late last night in framing an answer, and Henderson was expected to take it back to Berlin today.

The Nuernberg congress cancellation was not explained, but the inference was that Germany was dissatisfied with the reaction of France and Britain to the Hitler proposals.

It seemed obvious in Berlin that Nazi and government leaders figured on being too busy in the coming

CHAMBERLAIN IS ON SPOT AGAIN

Britain Defers 'Yes' Or 'No' Answer To Overture From Hitler

LONDON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Tall, spare, 70-year-old Neville Chamberlain was cast again tonight as the chief actor in a European drama of war or peace as the British government deferred a "yes" or "no" answer to an eleventh hour overture from Adolf Hitler.

Again the British prime minister and his cabinet—but primarily the prime minister—were confronted with decisions of momentous importance to the future of Europe and in circumstances bearing both parallels and contrasts to the crisis of 1938.

For two hours and a half Chamberlain sat with his cabinet discussing the full implications of an apparent offer from the German Chancellor to negotiate at this late hour the German-Polish dispute which, in the prime minister's own words, brought Europe within imminent peril of war.

The terms—if they were terms—were brought to London during the day by the British ambassador in Berlin, Sir Nevile Henderson, after an hour and a quarter conference to which Hitler himself had summoned him in Berlin yesterday.

But at the end of the cabinet session tonight, it was announced that still another meeting would be held tomorrow morning before Henderson

I WONDER

By Pat Green

How many of you boys and girls who ride bicycles on the main streets and thoroughfares, ever think how near you come to being killed every day? While driving down DeSiard street the other evening, four different riders of bicycles dashed across the street in front of me without looking to the right or left. The only reason a lot of you youngsters are still alive is that other people have been looking out for you. Some day some driver will be looking the other way, or won't be able to stop. There will be a crash. Then, your parents will want to hire some high-powered lawyer to sue some one else for breaking up your machine and injuring you, when it was all your fault. Remember, if you are old enough to ride a bicycle, you are old enough to be more careful. If you want to keep from growing old, just keep on being careless. But if you want to live long and be happy, remember that safe riding of your bicycles is sane riding, just the same as SANE DRIVING IS SAFE DRIVING.

In the meantime Great Britain's ally, France, already had sent a reply to Hitler.

The implication was that France tonight was in no mood for "another Munich," and that, as one highly placed official in Paris said, "There can be no conference simply to ratify Germany's claims."

Despite its delay in sending forthwith an answer to Berlin, the British government was said in usually well informed quarters to be determined to prevent Poland from going the way of Czecho-Slovakia.

The apparent optimism in Nazi circles in Berlin at the prospect of a compromise was not shared in British circles. The tendency in government circles here was to minimize the possibility of negotiation—unless Hitler was ready to talk on terms of "lasting peace."

The British, like the French, pushed on with military preparations just as though negotiation was as remote as it seemed last night when German developments indicated a lightning move against Poland was planned.

The failure of Germany to strike last night when the stage appeared to be set for swift military action, and Hitler's sudden summons instead to the ambassadors of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, was interpreted by some observers as a sign that the fuehrer was not ready to risk a European war over his claims against Poland.

These claims, as reported in reliable diplomatic quarters in London, were not defined clearly in Hitler's talks with Henderson and the French ambassador yesterday.

But the German chancellor was said to have stressed his desire to avoid war with Great Britain and France and to have indicated a strong desire for negotiation.

Hope in the diplomatic activity was tempered somewhat by the frank Italian statement that Hitler was seeking, by offering his way out of this crisis, to establish war guilt, if there is war, by throwing the responsibility on others.

Virginio Gayda, editor who is close to the government, said Germany again had "consented to specify its position through diplomatic channels so that in the supreme moment there would be no doubt and confusion and each government would assume its own responsibilities before its people and before history."

LAKE CHARLES, La., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Rufus W. Fontenot, Louisiana collector of internal revenue, said "a very large income tax case" in Shreveport, now being investigated, might run "in the millions."

Fontenot, now directing an investigation of income tax returns filed throughout the state in the past few years, said he was informed of the Shreveport case by United States Attorney Harvey Fields of the western Louisiana district.

previous declaratons that Poland "was entirely willing to negotiate with Germany." But he added that "negotiations cannot be carried on in an atmosphere of threats."

Avoiding a direct answer to a question as to whether Poland would be willing to negotiate over the status of Danzig, Potocki asserted that Poland could not afford to do anything that would destroy her "vital rights."

The French ambassador, Count De Saint Quentin, told reporters he merely exchanged information with Welles, as he often had done in the past. While asserting he had no reports as to what course Hitler might pursue, Saint Quentin added that press advices from abroad indicated a lessening of tension.

After his talk with the president, Johnson asserted that latest European news warranted some optimism and added:

"The situation appears to be unfolding, but it may hit a snag."

The army, Johnson said, "is ready to carry out any domestic plans a war in Europe makes necessary."

Berle discussed with the president a list of emergency proclamations which would be issued in event of war. The proclamations have been drafted tentatively at meetings of high government officials during the last week. The list includes several on neutrality.

At his press conference, Secretary Hull evinced neither optimism nor pessism about the European developments.

He said the state department had received no tangible information about Hitler's reported proposal for a settlement of the Polish controversy. He declined to express an opinion on whether recent dispatches indicated a lessening of European tension.

A report from Berlin that the danger of a world war had been definitely averted was weighed by officials in the light of advices that the British parliament would meet Monday to consider Hitler's reported peace proposal and that France would negotiate for any settlement of the present situation only on the basis of complete parity.

One well-advised observer said that it was "anybody's guess" what might happen in Europe over the week-end. He added, however, that if the week-end should pass without incident then there would be reason to hope that war would be averted.

It was taken in concert with similar action in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico and Louisiana in the wake of sharp price cuts announced by major purchasing companies in the mid-continent area.

The Lion Oil Refining company of El Dorado, which lost a chancery court fight for an injunction against the field closure, requested at the hearing today that the fields be reopened without delay. Lion was joined by the Shell company, while Phillips Petroleum company; Texas-Canadian Oil company; Jones, Murphy and Hurley company, of El Dorado; the Fohs Oil company of Shreveport, La., and Edwin M. Jones, Houston independent operator, asked that the shutdown be continued.

The Standard Oil company of Louisiana was represted by O. C. Nowiler, Shreveport engineer, but offered no recommendation.

3 MORE GROUPS ARE CALLED OUT

France called up three additional groups of reservists. Estimates of the number of men this will bring under arms varied up to 3,000,000.

Diplomatic sources here said that France and Britain were replying separately to the German proposals because the fuehrer presented his plan to the British and French ambassadors with different emphasis.

As diplomatic circles in Paris pieced together yesterday's dramatic interviews between Hitler and British, French, Japanese and Italian ambassadors, the fuehrer, when he called them in separately, gave them separate messages for their governments that differed in details.

With French Ambassador Coulondre, these sources said he was fairly vague, stressing the fact that Germany had no quarrel with France and that a situation existed between Germany and Poland which must be regulated.

He expressed general impatience with Poland to Coulondre, these sources indicated, but to British Ambassador Sir Nevile Henderson made a more definite proposition.

What these proposals were was still not definitely known but it was believed by some Paris diplomats that they included the handing over to Germany of Danzig and the Polish Corridor in connection with a "peace conference."

Whether this conference was to be held before or after Germany received her demands was not made clear.

Hitler was said to have told Henderson to take his propositions to London and bring back a definite answer from the British government.

During the cabinet session at London this afternoon, the British were understood to have asked both France and Poland to rush their opinion on the Hitler proposal.

The French study of Hitler's proposals—as well as the British—was based, the French foreign office circles made clear, not just on the actual suggestions that the reichsfuehrer has made, but on the possible purposes behind those suggestions.

It was no longer simply a question of discussion of the status of Danzig but also of the risk that might later be faced by Poland and Europe in general.

Persons in close contact with the facts would say tonight only that the question of war or peace still hangs very much in the balance.

Meanwhile the French ambassador to Moscow, Paul Emile Naggiar, has left his post on a call from his government and was speeding back to Paris. His recall, officially described as "on long leave," reflected French dissatisfaction with Russia's explanation of why she signed the non-aggression accord with Germany.

France advanced military preparations almost to the point of general mobilization tonight by calling up three new groups of reserves, a step which would mean:

1. France and Britain were strengthening their hand for negotiations with Adolf Hitler for a peaceful end to the Polish-German quarrel.

2. Or simply that the nations were further preparing to fight, if no negotiations resulted or the Hitler proposals were inacceptable.

Today's mobilization called up groups 1, 5 and 6.

Only two groups remain to be called before mobilization would become general. Eight groups in all have now been called.

Diplomats in Paris were frankly confused by the rapid developments which caused the British ambassador to Berlin, Sir Nevile Henderson, to fly back to London to meet his prime minister, who called an emergency British cabinet meeting.

Observers recalled that France called up new troops last September 28, on the very morning Premier Daladier announced he was flying to Munich for the conference which next day settled the fate of Czecho-Slovakia.

Usually well informed diplomatic circles said Hitler had made "such a clever proposition," which Henderson took to London, that it was "almost impossible not to envisage discussion."

On the other hand, French diplomatic sources characterized the French position as "one of absolute firmness."

weeks to participate in a party convention.

Berlin reports said Hitler appeared to have been all ready to strike against Poland early Saturday, but decided suddenly late Friday upon another course, after which he called in the French and British ambassadors, along with the Italian and Japanese, and gave out his peace terms.

This was interpreted in London as indicating he did not want to risk a European war over his claims against Poland.

Polish circles in Warsaw said Hitler apparently had been impressed by the stand of Britain, France and Poland in the face of the crisis.

Informed quarters said Prime Minister Chamberlain had decided to call a special meeting of parliament Monday as a result of Hitler's message, the nature of which was undisclosed. Another meeting of the cabinet was called for [illegible] the first Sunday meeting since the crisis last September.

In Moscow, the Soviet war commissar, Klement E. Voroshiloff, asserted Russia concluded her non-aggression pact with Germany "among other reasons" because the Russian-British-French military staff talks had reached a deadlock in view of insuperable differences."

These differences, he said, were over a Russian demand that Soviet troops be permitted to pass through Polish territory in case of war.

GERMANS MUST HAVE ORDERS FOR NECESSITIES

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Germans were notified today that because of the emergency they must have official certificates to buy a long list of articles in the neighborhood store.

To get necessities such as shoes, soap, household coal, some textiles, eggs and cocoa, they must show the merchant a so-called "bezugsschein" which will be valid for four weeks.

It was announced officially early today that the purpose is a just distribution of necessities.

Germans recalled that during the World war similar rationing schemes were [illegible] war had [illegible] two years.

POLAND WAITS FOR DIPLOMACY'S DECISION

WARSAW, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Warsaw waited and prayed through a day of mounting tension today for diplomacy's decision in greater capitals that might break up the clouds of war.

The Poles declared they had done their part consistent with honor, by agreeing to refrain from an hostile act if Germany also avoided such act, direct or indirect.

President Moscicki in a message to President Roosevelt, agreed to a suggestion for conciliation of the German-Polish quarrel. (Adolf Hitler has not replied but he was believed to have advanced a compromise plan through the British ambassador to Berlin, who carried it to London today.)

Interest was focused tonight on the Conversations between Hitler and Sir Nevile Henderson, British ambassador to Berlin, and the impression in Polish circles was that Germany has been impressed by the firm stand of the western powers and Poland.

Official circles said the Polish government had been informed by Great Britain concerning the Hitler-Henderson talks and that the main object of these talks was one of "general proposals" concerned only with British-German relations.

This led to rumors here that Hitler had submitted a non-agression pact to Britain. Responsible circles declared they were "completely confident that Britain's reply to Hitler's proposals would not harm Polish interests in the slightest manner."

The popular Polish view here tonight was that Hitler, by summoning Henderson, had indicated that his basic policy was one of "intimidation' and that his reported interest now in negotiations must be regarded as a "weakening."

"It is obvious," it was stated in responsible circles, "that Hitler wants to creat the impression he has withheld war at the last moment because of his interest in peace."

The Polish telegraph agency reported that for the last two days, there were 31 cases of violation of the Polish frontiers by German airplanes.

The bulk of the flights of Polish prohibited areas allegedly took place near Gdynia and Silesia.

Continuing reports of new border incidents, fraught with the danger of touching off other violence, kept tension high.

Crowds quickly bought out special editions with accounts of the incidents, including:

German soldiers hidden in a forest at the East Prussian frontier allegedly killed one Polish guard, wounded another, German authorities closed several frontier routes, including the Zbanszyn passage on the highway from Berlin to Warsaw.

Fifty men with guns allegedly crossed the frontier at Mosty Slaskie, tried to drive a locomotive back to Cadca, in Slovakia, but were repulsed by frontier guards.

BRITISH EDITORIALS AGAINST YIELDING

LONDON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Sunday editorials of London's morning newspapers took firm stands against yielding to Adolf Hitler's demands on Poland.

Lord Beaverbrook's Sunday Express said "he (the fuehrer) must clearly understand that neither the government nor the people of Britain will acquiesce in another settlement on the lines of the Munich agreement. Whether he likes it or not, that is the position."

The Sunday Times said "to be acceptable it must be a peace which will take us out of the vicious circle of suspicion and menace and fear that have cursed Europe in recent years," and other comment echoed this view.

The Graphic said "it is necessary • • • not to be unduly hopeful that Hitler has heeded • • • appeals for peace • • • above all we have the friendship and active sympathy of the United States."

The dispatch asserted "the war of nerves has already been fought and won by Britain and her allies."

In the Sunday Pictorial Stephen King-Hall, the publicist, said "I assume that we shall shortly be in a state of war with Germany. • • • There can be no peace except the peace of the tomb of liberty whilst the Nazi regime controls the destinies of the German nation."

Some members of the chamber stated that it was impossible to get a night's sleep because of disturbances on the street of this nature. After considerable discussion, the chamber voted to recommend to the two city governmental bodies that ordinances be drawn up forbidding use on public streets of commercial loudspeakers.

The members of the chamber, upon report of the good government committee, W. H. Anders, chairman, voted against affiliating with the Young Men's Business League of Louisiana. It was pointed out that the association seemed to be political in nature and the chamber stands committed to debar any politics in its operations.

A report was submitted by the highways committee, of which Tom Hicks is chairman, in which the recent visit to Baton Rouge and the members of the state highway commission was cited. The outcome of the visit will mean that the Delhi-Winnsboro highway is to be at once blacktopped.

Sig Masur, chairman of the Northeast Junior college committee, reported that the four buses desired for the college to transport students to and from classes have been secured and that they will mean an additional 100 students who will attend college here in the fall.

The Twin City Beautification foundation committee of the Chamber of Commerce reported that the group has been organized and will function shortly along lines that a similar group pursues in Shreveport.

The bill entered in the lower house of congress by Representative Newt V. Mills for the acquisition of the Vicksburg bridge over the Mississippi river for the purpose of making it toll free, was reported as passed and a commission will be named to take charge of future proceedings. The chamber voted to recommend that P. M. Atkins, of Monroe, be named by Governor Long as the Louisiana member.

Bob Harmon, chairman of the chamber's agricultural committee, reported that the entire 24 baby beeves will be delivered to 4-H boys in the near future and a start on this project will be under way.

HITLER SUDDENLY CANCELS MEETING

weeks to participate in a party convention.

Berlin reports said Hitler appeared to have been all ready to strike against Poland early Saturday, but decided suddenly late Friday upon another course, after which he called in the French and British ambassadors, along with the Italian and Japanese, and gave out his peace terms.

This was interpreted in London as indicating he did not want to risk a European war over his claims against Poland.

Polish circles in Warsaw said Hitler apparently had been impressed by the stand of Britain, France and Poland in the face of the crisis.

Informed quarters said Prime Minister Chamberlain had decided to call a special meeting of parliament Monday as a result of Hitler's message, the nature of which was undisclosed. Another meeting of the cabinet was called for tomorrow morning, the first Sunday meeting since the crisis last September.

Whatever Hitler's offer, it was authoritatively stated, Britain's position is that Poland must have the say as to whether the proposals are acceptable to her as a basis for negotiations between the two countries.

An informed source said further clarification of Hitler's views might have to be conveyed back to London. This appeared to indicate that Henderson would not take back a definite reply to the fuehrer's proposals, but a cautiously worded answer designed to keep open the door for further consultation.

France, emphasizing her position as "one of absolute firmness," brought her army to a stage approaching complete mobilization with 2,200,000 men estimated under arms.

"There can be no conference simply to ratify Germany's claims, one high French official said, "but only on a basis of absolute parity."

Usually well-informed Paris diplomatic circles said Hitler had made "such a clever proposition" that it was "almost impossible not to envisage discussion."

Lord Halifax then conferred with the French and Polish ambassadors, Charles Corbin and Count Edward Raczynski, presumably to acquaint them with Hitler's offer and to obtain their government's views for submission to the cabinet meeting tomorrow.

A highly placed informant in Berlin, who said today that "the danger of a world war is definitely averted," indicated Henderson's mission resulted after Nazi generals urged Hitler to show the same willingness to negotiate that Polish president Moscicki expressed in his reply to President Roosevelt's appeal.

Orders which would have sent German troops on the march along the Polish border at 4:30 this morning were rescinded, this source said, at 2 a.m. (7 p.m. Friday, central standard time).

Despite this apparent "eleventh hour" respite and the glimmer of hope raised by the desperate diplomatic maneuvers, Germany, Italy, France, England and Poland pushed ahead with military preparations.

Rome dispatches said Premier Mussolini, closely informed by Hitler of his efforts to avert war by diplomacy, also was actively engaged in a "last attempt to save the peace of Europe."

Il Duce continued conferences with army, navy and air chiefs and Fascists pointed to their claims upon France for a greater share of African colonial possessions as another question to be settled along with the German-Polish problem.

Poland, pledging to keep the peace if Germany does, kept her army ready and prayed through a day of drizzling rain for a peaceful solution by the diplomats of London, Berlin, Rome and Paris.

An authoritative British source said there was "no discussion of terms" between Henderson and Hitler and if Poland deems Germany's proposal excessive the situation must remain as critical as ever.

There were growing indications that the British cabinet would be enlarged in event of war to accommodate additional ministries and opposition leaders, among whom Winston Churchill, World war admiralty head, has been most prominently discussed.

Washington officials derived some hope from dispatches from abroad, but did not relax their hour-by-hour study of developments and advanced preparations for the United States in case of war.

President Roosevelt still waited for German replies to his two messages in behalf of peace. The French and Polish ambassadors called at the state department and discussed the situation with Undersecretary Sumner Welles.

Soviet Russia's non-aggression pact with Germany still echoed in the far east. From Tokyo came indications that a reshuffling of the Japanese cabinet would follow the government's decision to turn from the Rome-Berlin axis to "splendid isolation." The army approved the shift.

In Moscow the Soviet war commissar, Klementi E. Voroshiloff, asserted Russia concluded her non-aggression pact with Germany "among other reasons" because the Russian-British-French military staff talks "had reached a deadlock in view of insuperable differences."

Those differences, he said, were over a Russian demand that Soviet troops be permitted to pass through Polish territory in case of war.

GERMANS MUST HAVE ORDERS FOR NECESSITIES

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—(AP)—German citizens were notified today that because of the emergency they must have official certificates to buy a long list of articles in the neighborhood store.

To get necessities such as shoes, soap, household coal, some textiles, eggs and cocoa, they must show the merchant a so-called "bezugsschein" which will be valid for four weeks.

It was announced officially early today that the purpose is a just distribution of necessities.

Germans recalled that during the World war similar rationing schemes were not introduced until the war had been under way about two years.

Now Germany has determined to conserve its admittedly scanty supplies of some materials before the emergency becomes acute.

Until late last night crews with blow torches were going about the city removing old iron fences.

The fence workers were "fighters" in Germany's so-called "battle for the conservation of waste materials"

But not until last night did the need seem so great that work was carried on after dark.
which has been going on for some time.

Also working late in the evening were policemen, in groups of three, going about Berlin pasting up signs indicating the way to the nearest air raid shelters.

Surviving are: Howard Wiggins, husband; Daris, Phillis and Clotilde, daughters, Robert, a son; Robert Little, a brother; Mrs. J. C. King of Winnfield and Mrs. H. F. Doughty, sisters.

LEAVES MONROE

Roy Weinberg, pictured above, for the past two and a half years sales manager of Passman Equipment company and for the past nine years identified with Norge Rollator refrigeration, has resigned his position with Passman, local Norge dealer, and leaves this week for Houston, Tex., where he is entering business for himself.

Mr. Weinberg, during his nine years with Norge, established a unique performance record and four years, 1934, 1935, 1937 and 1938, received the Norge Viking Chieftan honor award. During his stay in Monroe he made many friends.

The Passman Equipment company, largest Norge dealers in the state, is one of the original Norge accounts established by Mr. Weinberg.

M. O. DICKERSON HURT IN 'FREE-FOR-ALL'

M. O. Dickerson, of Eros, was seriously wounded in a "free-for-all" fight late last night at the Willows, a roadhouse about six miles west of here on the Shreveport road, according to reports at St. Francis sanitarium where he was treated for a deep knife wound in his left side and a badly slashed left arm.

Details of the fight were not available, but the battle was said to have ended about 11:20 p.m. when Dickerson was slashed. The identity of the person who stabbed the man was not made known late last night.

It was reported that several men and boys were involved in the fight, that knives and bottles were used as weapons, and that there were several other victims of the fight nursing cuts and bruises who did not seek medical attention.

Lightning War

What happens now to the apparent willingness of Great Britain and [illegible] in the Soviet [illegible] ern Europe and Poland? [illegible] given to Roumania, Greece [illegible] does this leave the prestige of [illegible] as far as concerns the smaller European states, east and west, that have been brought into their protective orbit?

In short: does the German-Russian pact of non-aggression mean war? Does it foreshadow another Czecho-Slovakia, this time with Poland as the victim? Launched at a moment when the European irons are being heated white-hot in the Danzig fire, Hitler's new move can cause nothing but grave apprehension for the fate of Poland.

This because the world has learned that nothing that Hitler does at such a moment is innocent, seldom is it peaceful, and never thus far has it boded good for countries, provinces and peoples that lie in the path of his ambition.

CHEAP AT $22,000,000

It costs about $22,000,000 a year to run congress.

It would be easy to make funny cracks about that item, thoughtless little flip jests about high-priced hot air, and the like.

But such quips somehow aren't quite as funny as they used to be. More and more we can be glad even for congress' faults, for they are the faults of the people.

Are congressmen sometimes verbose and windy? So are a lot of the people. Are congressmen inconstant, shifting often with the tide of today's affairs? So, often, are the people. Are some of them vain, and trivial, and not always too acute? They are human traits, shared by great masses of the people.

Not all the money spent by government today, perhaps, represents dollar's worth for every dollar. But congress? When it speaks, the voice is, for better or worse, the people's voice.

Suppose some dictator succeeded in abolishing this voice of the people. They would be glad to pay 22 times 22 million dollars to get it back.

A LESSON WELL LEARNED

More and more of the products of the farm pass into the channels of consumption through cooperative marketing organizations. More and more does the farmer depend on voluntary cooperation with his fellows as a solution to his economic problems.

That speaks well for the farmer's good sense—he's seen a score or so of so-called government "farm relief" schemes collapse with a dull thud, and he's found out from harsh experience that real and permanent "farm relief" must largely come from within the ranks of agriculture, rather than from without. And the cooperative marketing movement is going ahead accordingly.

Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter refuses to carry an umbrella, even during heavy downpours. He would be very unpopular at a European peace conference.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

[illegible]

Perhaps Hedy Lamarr can [illegible] goose pimples with her [illegible] Gary Cooper [illegible] with [illegible] songs, perhaps [illegible] Mae [illegible] or Bette Davis [illegible] goose pimples with terrific [illegible] forms [illegible] but none of them can take away my Hawaiian memories.

In a sense, I've been [illegible] because no other person from Hollywood has been on my ship [illegible] Consequently, I've lost all track of the film colony. I didn't know Janet Gaynor had married, until four days after the wedding (remember, I called you the day I left to check with Janet for her marriage date?) [illegible] that Norma Talmadge [illegible] for divorce until I left [illegible] No news at all of Hollywood, and I think I've swept my mind clear of cobwebs.

Yes, I admit I'm beginning to feel the urge to work again. After all, I'm a reporter [illegible] easy to get Hawaii out of my system, so don't be surprised if I come to the office the first morning with leis around my neck. Don't laugh if I say "Aloha" instead of "Hello" in answer to phone calls.

Confidential to my secretary: Better get yourself a grass skirt and practice the hula. I'll be homesick for a few hip wriggles as well as those sardonic shoulder shrugs you usually give me. Aloha.

JIMMIE FIDLER

Dear Jimmie: What do you mean you'll be homesick for hip wriggles? Isn't Mae West still in Hollywood and isn't Mae's walk the penultimate in all hip wriggling? Some day, when the scientists get around to tracing the lineage of that art they will class Mae's sidesway as the original or aboriginal hippus wrigglianus and all others as mere derivatives, identified by such tags as H. Wrigglianus Honoluluae, or H. Wrigglianus Bowern. Incidentally, your secretary is just a bit insulted at your insinuation that she has hips.

Here's one of those "It could happen only in Hollywood" items. Operator 13 was strolling about on the back lot at Twentieth Century the other day and stopped to gape at a huge excavation from five to ten feet deep and at least 400 feet long. "What's the idea?" he asked one of the workmen. Hardly glancing up [illegible] replied "Little old New York. We're putting the Hudson river in here."

In spite of the fact that Selznick has not announced definite plans for a second picture with Ingrid Bergman, you can banish any doubts about her return to Hollywood. The evening before she left she was rushed through a series of secret technicolor tests and the results were so good that the Selznick moguls have been grinning like Cheshire cats ever since. Writers have already been assigned the task of scouting for her next vehicle.

An amusing story about beautiful Louise Campbell and her un-beautiful husband, Horace MacMahon, who's currently playing a hard-hearted villain in Republic's "Headline News." The other evening Louise called for him and as he got into her car, was spotted by a teen age autograph hunter. After she had signed, and been thanked, the boy ventured a question. "Why, Miss Campbell," he demanded, with a glance at Horace, "do you need a bodyguard?"

Human Side Of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

[illegible] sometimes it does kick when it is fed up.

It was in Boston, in the early eighteenth century, that dear old Increase Mather, father of Cotton Mather, set the constables on some young people who were playing profane [illegible]. He caught them at an [illegible] blowing pagan [illegible] trumpets and fiddles. He sent for the police and in his sermon next day he [illegible] roasted them right and left on the [illegible] next [illegible] pastered the lads as the devil's hirelings. One of the boys indignantly jumped to Providence. I can find no account of what happened to the others.

Some of our anti-swingsters, notably the New Jersey citizens who wanted to pass a law, seemed to feel the same way about musical heresy. It would seem now that it is just as well that no such drastic action was taken. "Time is a gentle deity," as Elektra had it, and applies his own checks and balances, law or no law.

Are we setting out on the old back road? Swing sinks and ebbs and saddens to a whisper tense as wire. The waltz is steadily, surely coming back. Women's clothes go clear back to the eighties. Not only the bustle but the corset is now figured in by the couturiers as standard equipment.

Reliable word from Hollywood is that a new cult of simplicity in dress and demeanor is spreading to the farthest reaches of the Beverly hills. Somebody might write a new and timely Sartor Resartus. We might pick up the old decorum and the ancient virtues if we dress the part. For such a study there is offered here a true chronicle in proof of the adage that clothes make the man—or rather the woman, in this case.

Once upon a time there was a New York newspaperwoman whose name was Nell—well, the last name doesn't matter. Nell was an all-around good scout, a demon news-getter, a thirty-second degree mixer and a front-trench buddie of the distinguished elbow-benders of the newspapermen and Broadway press agents.

All at once, Nell got a call from Philadelphia to run a magazine column of advice to girls. The ticket

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

[illegible] American Medical [illegible] of Hygeia, the Health [illegible]

Since the great outbreak of infection [illegible] that was associated with a contaminated water supply in two Chicago hotels in 1933 and 1934, large numbers of people have been examined [illegible] to find out the extent to which [illegible] had been infested with intestinal parasites.

One of the leading authorities in the country, Dr. C. F. Craig of the United States army medical corps, has estimated that between 5 and 10 per cent of the people here have amebae of the type associated with amebic dysentery in their intestinal tract. Most people are infected from contact either directly or indirectly with those already infested.

Physicians of Hanover, N. H., the town near which Dartmouth university is located, have made a study of their amebae patient records. Although specimens from 205 people in the rural districts around Hanover, N. H., had been examined in the past six years, the amebae were not found in the intestines of any of them.

During that same period five members of the faculty of Dartmouth who returned from foreign travels were found to have amebae in their intestines. After the Chicago outbreak it was decided to examine every freshman entering Dartmouth. This has been done for the past five years.

In 1934 and in 1936, 1,350 men were examined and 24 of these were found to have amebae. In 1937, 684 were examined and five were found to be positive. In 1938 there were five positive out of 670.

It is interesting to know that only eight out of the 37 students who were found to be infected ever felt bad enough to seek medical attention. In only three of these cases had there been enough dysentery to cause them to seek medical advice about that condition.

There are many excellent remedies with which it is possible, under persistent treatment, to cause the amebae to disappear from the intestinal tract of man. It is remarkable how much better a person will feel when all of the amebae that he has been harboring for sometime are caused to disappear from his system. Even though he has had only an occasional attack of diarrhea or dysentery, the improvement is significant.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

This is where the good teacher comes into her own. She knows all this and she takes hold of the situation as [illegible] would and sets to work to [illegible] each [illegible] personal [illegible] She finds time to [illegible] his shoulder and [illegible] his ear at which [illegible] She [illegible] a word for each one. "I am delighted to know you are in my class in math. I hear you are a star performer there." "So glad to see you. I knew your mother when she was a girl. She told you?" "Well, well, how nice you look, Beulah. I like the eyes and blue dresses." "John Thomas, come over here, will you? I want you to meet John Babcock. He's from the south. You two can swap stories about the pool. He's a swimmer. New to the school, of course, but you'll soon make him feel at home."

Going about from pupil to pupil, taking note of this and of that, tying the young things close to her, making them feel she is their friend from that day forth, the good teacher sets the stage for a term of sound progress and cooperation. This sort is a far cry from the one I met some forty years ago who hit me on the head with the knob of her umbrella because I sat down before she gave the order. I had never been in a school before and did not know there were such things as orders. That cost me a year in school because I did not stop running until I reached my mother.

The success of the first day at school depends upon the teacher. It is worth her earnest attention because on its success the year's work rests.

Is yours an only child? Make his or her school life happier by following the sound advice of Angelo Patri. Send for his booklet "Your Child and Other People," enclosing ten cents in coin. Address Angelo Patri, c/o this newspaper, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By Preston Grover

WASHINGTON—Since the president has started juggling holidays, let's hope he goes all the way and juggles so they all fall on Monday.

You might surmise that we are a supporter of the long week-end. That would be a correct guess. Moreover we have a large following, particularly among city folk who often enough never get daylight off-hours except on week-ends.

The latter is exaggeration, no doubt, but the idea is that given a longer week-end once in a while there would be time for ambitious undertakings, such as visiting the Washington art galleries or going to one of the fairs.

This business of making all holidays fall on Monday has been a long time getting under way. Yet it would not present any insurmountable difficulties. Take Washington's birthday. [illegible] different [illegible] the new calendar [illegible]

SPECIAL arrangements to allow school children to obtain first-day covers of the U. S. three-cent Baseball Centennial stamp for the cost of the stamp have been announced by Postmaster General James A. Farley.

Postmasters have been instructed to accept single addressed envelopes and three cents in cash from children of school age, and to forward all covers, with postmaster's check for postage, to Cooperstown, N. Y. Baseball Centennial stamps will be affixed there, canceled with the June 12, 1939, date, representing first-day sales, and covers returned to the senders by regular mail.

Lightning War

In estimating the chances of war in Europe, experts recognize the Germans have one supreme advantage: the initiative.

No other power wants to start a war; therefore the Germans are able to choose their own moment. The Blitzkrieg—lightning war—would be launched without warning, at the instant most propitious for German chances.

The Blitzkrieg is here. With some 1,800,000 Germans under arms, with East Prussia an armed camp, with large troop concentrations in Pomerania, Silesia and Slovakia, Hitler opens his lightning war without firing a shot. He does it through the simple announcement of the consummation of a non-aggression pact with Soviet Russia.

On its face, it can be argued that a non-aggression pact between the Reich and Soviet Russia is nothing more than a renewal of a similar pact once existing between these countries; that such a pact does not prohibit Russia from opposing Hitler with force of arms if an act of aggression is committed against a third power; and that negotiations with Great Britain and France can be continued to this end.

Perhaps all this is true. Events must tell the fateful tale. What is alarming about the pact between Dictators Hitler and Stalin is the moment of its launching.

It is launched with Hitler's characteristic technique of surprise. It confronts a startled Europe with an accomplished fact. The anti-Communist Hitler sends his foreign minister to Moscow at the precise moment when opinion grows that Hitler will take Danzig very soon and will even make Poland consent to partition.

The European balance of power, which Prime Minister Chamberlain was seeking to reestablish on the 1914 model, although with evident reluctance as regards Soviet Russia, is now thrown into new distortions. Is it not Russia that will hold the balance henceforth, as between the axis powers and the western democracies?

What happens now to the apparent willingness of Great Britain and France for Hitler to find Lebenstraum in the Soviet Ukraine, provided he kept his hands off western Europe and Poland? What happens to the guarantees given to Roumania, Greece, the Turkish republic? Where does this leave the prestige of the democracies as far as concerns the smaller European states, east and west, that have been brought into their protective orbit?

In short: does the German-Russian pact of non-aggression mean war? Does it foreshadow another Czecho-Slovakia, this time with Poland as the victim? Launched at a moment when the European irons are being heated white-hot in the Danzig fire, Hitler's new move can cause nothing but grave apprehension for the fate of Poland.

This, because the world has learned that nothing that Hitler does at such a moment is innocent, seldom is it peaceful, and never thus far has it boded good for countries, provinces and peoples that lie in the path of his ambition.

BRUCE CATTON'S AMERICAN ROUNDUP

This is another of Bruce Catton's "on tour" series.

BOSTON—Native Yankee caution never deserts the New Englander. Conditions that would make a midwesterner glow expansively and predict a year of pretty good business will lead the New Englander to admit only that right now things aren't too bad. Then he'll add that he isn't at all sure about next month.

So you can't say business men here are optimistic. They are freely admitting, however, that right now things aren't too bad—and some of them forget to add the gag line about next month.

Which means more than a mere rise from the low of the current depression; for New England had a private depression of its own long before the big 1929 crash took place, and the fact that that depression is pretty well licked now is good news any way you look at it.

Textile Plants Shut Down

New England industrialized itself ahead of the rest of the country, and as the rest of the country caught up with it, a lot of New England industries migrated away. This has been most notably true of textiles, but to an extent it has been true in other lines also. All through the early twenties New England's business was going steadily downhill.

In the middle twenties New England started a counter attack. The governors of her six states got together and caused the formation of the New England council, an advisory and coordinating body which was to be, and is, supported by subscriptions sold to business men. Its first president was John S. Lawrence, a former textile manufacturer, and under his guidance the organization went to work.

It tried, first, to get all the data it could on what the problem really was, and next to figure out some solution. The symptoms of the problems were all too visible—empty factories in cities and towns all over the area. A part of the solution seemed to be to persuade industrialists that these factories were still perfectly usable and that New England's supply of skilled labor and her transportation facilities were valuable assets.

Somewhere between 1925 and 1930 the long process of migration was stopped, and since then New England has slowly been winning back the lost ground.

Build New Factories

During the last three years, for instance, more than 14,000,000 square feet of idle factory space has been returned to active use. In addition, $38,000,000 worth of new factory construction has taken place. A large amount of idle space remains, to be sure, and in some cases empty factories which might still be used are being torn down simply to save taxes and upkeep; but the trend has been reversed, and although today New England shares in the national depression her own private depression is being conquered.

Charles F. Weed, vice-president of Boston's First National bank, and present head of the New England council, says that the present business outlook would be quite satisfactory if two uncertainties could be removed—uncertainty about the European situation, and uncertainty about what the gentleman in the White House is going to do.

It is the latter uncertainty which he considers the more damaging; and he believes that business's objection to the New Deal is more a matter of the administration's general attitude than of any specific New Deal act. He does not, for instance, share the rather common New England feeling that the reciprocal trade treaties are damaging to this section.

"They may hurt some particular lines and help others," he remarks. "If they result in greater prosperity for the country as a whole, New England will share in it and be better off?"

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

ABOARD THE S. S. LURLINE EN ROUTE HOME, Aug. 26.—Dammit, even the ocean is in cahoots with Hawaii. Today the water is trembling with tiny waves, all whitened at the temples with caps of spray, and every wave—I swear it—is beckoning to this ship to turn about and head back to Honolulu.

Johnny Weissmuller would dive over the rail and swim back, but being no Weissmuller, my holiday is nearly ended. Soon I'll be home with you staff members. Soon I'll be fighting for new editorials, catching previews on the trot, delving for scoops, but you can't stop me from dreaming, and for a long time I shall dream of Honolulu.

Perhaps Hedy Lamarr can make me gasp with her exotic beauty; maybe, Crooner Crosby can tickle my ears with throaty songs; perhaps, Paul Muni or Bette Davis can give me goose pimples with terrific acting performances, but none of them can take away my Hawaiian memories.

In a sense, I've been lucky, because no other person from Hollywood has been on my ship, over or back. Consequently, I've lost all track of the film colony. I didn't know Janet Gaynor had married, until four days after the wedding (remember I cabled you the day I left to check with Janet for her marriage date?). I wasn't aware that Norma Talmadge had sued for divorce until I left ship in Honolulu. No news at all of Hollywood, and I think I've swept my mind clear of cobwebs.

Yes, I admit I'm beginning to feel the urge to work again. After all, I'm a reporter, but it isn't going to be easy to get Hawaii out of my blood, so don't be surprised if I come to the office the first morning with leis around my neck. Don't laugh if I say "Aloha" instead of "Hello" in answer to phone calls.

Confidential to my secretary: Better get yourself a grass skirt and practice the hula. I'll be homesick for a few hip wriggles, as well as those sardonic shoulder shrugs you usually give me. Aloha.

JIMMIE FIDLER.

Dear Jimmie: What do you mean you'll be homesick for hip wriggles? Isn't Mae West still in Hollywood—and isn't Mae's walk the penultimate in all hip wriggling? Some day, when the scientists get around to tracing the lineage of that art, they will class Mae's sideway as the original—or aboriginal—hippus wriggilianus and all others as mere derivatives, identified by such tags as H. Wriggilianus Honoluluae, or H. Wriggilianus Bowerii. Incidentally, your secretary is just a bit insulted at your insinuation that she has hips.

Happiest man in town these days is Clark Gable, who after seven years of fruitless angling finally landed his first Marlin swordfish—it weighed just under 200 pounds and battled more than two hours before coming to gaff. . . . Speaking of fishing, Dick Powell is still at it and this time with amusing results. Seems he was trying to spear fish off the Santa Barbara pier. Taking deadly aim, he let his trusty trident fly, missed the fish and speared an old wallet containing a 50-cent piece and three water-logged one-dollar bills! . . . Joy Hodges is trying to keep it a secret, but she's nearly completed a course of flying lessons at a Glendale airport—add that to the fact that she's that-a-way about Gilbert Dooley, aviator-son of an Omaha publisher, and draw your own conclusions. . . . Carole Lombard, at home for more than a week, reports that she is "feeling swell," but it will be at least five more days before she can receive visitors. . . . Claire Trevor is nursing a badly bruised shoulder—which is what she got for firing one of those old-time muzzle loading muskets used in "Alleghaney Frontier."

Here's one of those "It could happen only in Hollywood" items. Operator 13 was strolling about on the back lot at Twentieth Century the other day and stopped to gape at a huge excavation job—a ditch from five to ten feet deep and at least 400 feet long. "What's the idea?" he asked one of the workmen. Hardly glancing up, the shovel-wielder replied, "Little old New York—we're putting the Hudson river in here."

In spite of the fact that Selznick has not announced definite plans for a second picture with Ingrid Bergman, you can banish any doubts about her return to Hollywood. The evening before she left, she was rushed through a series of secret technicolor tests and the results were so good that the Selznick moguls have been grinning like Cheshire cats ever since. Writers have already been assigned the task of scouting for her next vehicle.

An amusing story about beautiful Louise Campbell and her un-beautiful husband, Horace MacMahon, who's currently playing a hard-hearted villain in Republic's "Headline News." The other evening Louise called for him and, as he got into her car, was spotted by a teen age autograph hunter. After she had signed, and been thanked, the boy ventured a question. "Why, Miss Campbell," he demanded, with a glance at Horace, "do you need a bodyguard?"

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

A DESTROYER OF DOGS—Sultan El Hakim Biamr Illah of Egypt, founder of the Druse religions (985-1021), forbade the barking of dogs under pain of extermination. When one dog barked at him at Cairo, he ordered the destruction of all dogs in Egypt. He also forbade women to show their faces outdoors or at windows under pain of death, and he also forbade shoemakers in his kingdom to make shoes for women under pain of death. He was assassinated by his own sister, but history has immortalized him as "El Hakim," "The Wise One."

Human Side Of The News

(Copyright, 1939, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Rudy Slifer, an old settler on the Main Stem, hands me this one. Two limber and undulating young jitterbugs were listening intently in front of a mid-town music shop, whence came a symphony radio rendition of Tschaikowsky. Then one of them cracked: "Cripes! What a punk arrangement of 'Moon Love'!" "They hadn' otta mess up a good piece like that," said the other, as they passed on.

Naturally, the judicious grieve as irreverent youth raids the classics, but, from all I can gather, they may again take heart. There is increasing hope and authentic signs that the jitterbug mania is on the way out, ebbing to a minor madness, soon to be forgotten. Swing will perhaps remain as an interesting and stimulating variation of musical form, but the main disturbance is over and the knee and ankle reflexes of youth are again under control.

The critical camp-followers of swing have been caught out on a limb. The most learned and diligent among them haven't been able to winnow out of it anything more than hopping up the beat. Owlish elaborations of the musical theory involved have boiled down to a few fundamentals which musicians always have known and frequently employed. Youth will be served, but sometimes it does know when it is fed up.

It was in Boston, in the early eighteenth century, that dour old Increase Mather, father of Cotton Mather, set the constables on some young people who were playing "profane music." He caught them at an alley's end, on a moonlight night, improvising pagan strains on their horns, trumpets and fiddles. He yelled for the police, and in his sermon next day blistered them, routed them right into hell on the very next train, plastered the lads as the devil's hirelings. One of the boys indignantly jumped to Providence. I can find no account of what happened to the others.

Some of our anti-swingsters, notably the New Jersey citizens who wanted to pass a law, seemed to feel the same way about musical heresy. It would seem now that it is just as well that no such drastic action was taken. "Time is a gentle deity," as Elektra had it, and applies his own checks and balances, law or no law.

Are we setting out on the old back road? Swing "sinks and ebbs and saddens, to a whisper tense as wire." The waltz is steadily, surely coming back. Women's clothes go clear back to the eighties. Not only the bustle but the corset is now figured in by the couturiers as standard equipment.

Reliable word from Hollywood is that a new cult of simplicity in dress and demeanor is spreading to the farthest reaches of the Beverly hills. Somebody might write a new and timely Sartor Resartus. We might pick up the old decorum and the ancient virtues if we dress the part. For such a study there is offered here a true chronicle in proof of the adage that clothes make the man—or rather the woman, in this case.

Once upon a time there was a New York newspaperwoman whose name was Nell—well, the last name doesn't matter. Nell was an all-around good scout, a demon news-getter, a thirty-second degree mixer and a front-trench buddie of the distinguished elbow-benders of the newspapermen and Broadway press agents.

All at once, Nell got a call from Philadelphia to run a magazine column of advice to girls. The ticket called for a pious, motherly and monitory person, frowning on unseemly speech and conduct, pointing a stern finger at all of the perils of indiscretion. Nell's column qualified on all counts. She became a national symbol of youthful propriety.

After several years had passed there was a sensational play tryout which took the old Broadway crowd to Philadelphia. The boys set up a big party for Nell and barged into her office with a whoop, to drag her away.

There she was in a severe black dress, with white collar and cuffs, her hair done up in a tight knot surveying them coldly through gold-rimmed pince-nez. In precise, grammatical Philadelphia English, she made it clear that she considered the invasion an outrageous intrusion. The boys staggered out, crushed and bewildered. Dressing, writing and speaking the part of Aunt So-and-So, she had become just that.

Will the bustles, the bonnets, the flounces and the crinoline do that to our girls?

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

(Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health

Since the great outbreak of infection with amebae that was associated with a contaminated water supply in two Chicago hotels in 1933 and 1934, large numbers of people have been examined frequently to find out the extent to which they had been infested wtih intestinal parasites.

One of the leading authorities in the country, Dr. C. F. Craig of the United States army medical corps, has estimated that between 5 and 10 per cent of the people here have amebae of the type associated with amebic dysentery in their intestinal tract. Most people are infected from contact either directly or indirectly with those already infested.

Physicians of Hanover, N. H., the town near which Dartmouth university is located, have made a study of their amebae patient records. Although specimens from 205 people in the rural districts around Hanover, N. H., had been examined in the past six years, the amebae were not found in the intestines of any of them.

During that same period five members of the faculty of Dartmouth who returned from foreign travels were found to have amebae in their intestines. After the Chicago outbreak it was decided to examine every freshman entering Dartmouth. This has been done for the past five years.

In 1934 and in 1936, 1,350 men were examined and 24 of these were found to have amebae. In 1937, 684 were examined and five were found to be positive. In 1938 there were five positive out of 670.

It is interesting to know that only eight out of the 37 students who were found to be infected ever felt bad enough to seek medical attention. In only three of these cases had there been enough dysentery to cause them to seek medical advice about that condition.

There are many excellent remedies with which it is possible, under persistent treatment, to cause the amebae to disappear from the intestinal tract of man. It is remarkable how much better a person will feel when all of the amebae that he has been harboring for sometime are caused to disappear from his system. Even though he has had only an occasional attack of diarrhea or dysentery, the improvement is significant.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

This week many children will be attending school for the first time in their lives. Many others will be entering strange schools and facing strange conditions amid strangers. This is an ordeal for any child, and for some it is sheer terror. Most of us fear the unfamiliar and all children find it difficult if not fearful. Unless the teachers are more than careful fears that will last for life and weight the souls of these children forever, will be born this week.

Careful mothers prepare their children for this first day by taking them to visit the school before there is any thought of official entrance for the child. He is allowed to see the school in action, the children at play and at work. He gets an idea of the routine, learns where to go for a drink, and locates the bathroom. He meets the teachers and learns their names, he takes off the first edge of his fear by looking things over at leisure and in freedom. This gives the beginner a tremendous head-start and removes the possibility of school shock from which many beginners suffer.

But older children suffer on their first introduction into a new school. They are timid and fearful about making mistakes. They hope that the teacher will like them and that they will find a place in this school as satisfying as in the old one. But they can't do anything about it, yet. They must sit still and wait for the strangeness to unfold and offer them something familiar and comforting.

This is where the good teacher comes into her own. She knows all this and she takes hold of the situation as any fine hostess would do and sets to work to make each, individual pupil feel that she is glad he, personally, is in her class. She finds time to smile confidentially at the shy child, lay her hand on his shoulder and whisper something into his ear at which he will smile. She will find a word for each one. "I am delighted to know you are in my class in math. I hear you are a star performer there." "So glad to see you. I knew your mother when she was a girl. She told you?" "Well, well, how nice you look, Beulah. I like blue eyes and blue dresses." "John Thomas, come over here, will you? I want you to meet John Babcock. He's from the south. You two can swap stories about the pool. He's a swimmer. New to the school, of course, but you'll soon make him feel at home."

Going about from pupil to pupil, taking note of this and of that, tying the young things close to her, making them feel she is their friend from that day forth, the good teacher sets the stage for a term of sound progress and cooperation. This sort is a far cry from the one I met some forty years ago who hit me on the head with the knob of her umbrella because I sat down before she gave the order. I had never been in a school before and did not know there were such things as orders. That cost me a year in school because I did not stop running until I reached my mother.

The success of the first day at school depends upon the teacher. It is worth her earnest attention because on its success the year's work rests.

Is yours an only child? Make his or her school life happier by following the sound advice of Angelo Patri. Send for his booklet "Your Child and Other People," enclosing ten cents in coin. Address Angelo Patri, c/o this newspaper, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By Preston Grover

WASHINGTON—Since the president has started juggling holidays, let's hope he goes all the way and juggles so they all fall on Monday.

You might surmise that we are a supporter of the long week-end. That would be a correct guess. Moreover we have a large following, particularly among city folk who often enough never get daylight off-hours except on week-ends.

The latter is exaggeration, no doubt, but the idea is that given a longer week-end once in a while there would be time for ambitious undertakings, such as visiting the Washington art galleries or going to one of the fairs.

This business of making all holidays fall on Monday has been a long time getting under way. Yet it would not present any insurmountable difficulties. Take Washington's birthday. The date means practically nothing at all, from a historical standpoint. Some time after Washington's birth the occidental world began monkeying with the calendar and threw his birthday out of place. The old calendar says he was born on a different day from the one the new calendar credits.

Columbus Day A Loss

Columbus day this year comes on Friday and is a dead loss. Usually it is anyway, because almost no states and few businesses think the discovery of America is anything to go mad about. They don't observe a holiday for it. But if they did, this year it could be shifted over to the next Monday, and something could be done about it. With Saturday afternoon, Sunday and Monday off, a fair amount of home work could be done. There might be time for the letter to Aunt Rebekah that you put off writing just after the 1929 crash for fear she might make a touch.

Republicans already are gleefully claiming that the president will lose the football vote for shifting Thanksgiving from November 30 to November 23. Many small colleges hope to take in enough on the big Thanksgiving day game to even up for all the losses on the bad days in between. And now that their schedules are all made out and ironbound with contracts, along comes the president and changes the nature of the contracts.

To Supreme Court?

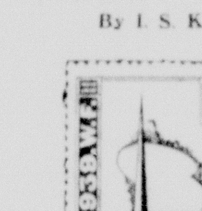
Some irate Republican football fan might get just mad enough to take it to the supreme court. After all, the president has voided the contract that called for Jenkins Teachers college to play old Kiowa on Thanksgiving day. It's worse than the gold clause. The big game won't be on a holiday at all, but is merely another of those post-season games that attract nobody but the faithful, particularly if it has to come in the middle of the week—on a Thursday that isn't Thanksgiving any more.

And the supreme court might get irate and throw the president for a loss, even after these months of court-New Deal agreement. Thanksgiving day games concern the high court as well as the lowly alumni. There is nothing to prevent them exercising their "personal academic predilections" just as one of their members, Justice Stone, accused them years ago of exercising their "personal economic predilections."

And then where would he be? Thanksgiving would be unconstitutional.

STAMP NEWS

By I. S. Klein



SPECIAL arrangements to allow school children to obtain first-day covers of the U. S. three-cent Baseball Centennial stamp for the cost of the stamp have been announced by Postmaster General James A. Farley.

Postmasters have been instructed to accept single addressed envelopes and three cents in cash from children of school age, and to forward all covers, with postmaster's check for postage, to Cooperstown, N. Y. Baseball Centennial stamps will be affixed there, canceled with the June 12, 1939, date, representing first-day sales, and covers returned to the senders by regular mail.

Although the inauguration of trans-Atlantic airmail service completes the round-the-world chain of airmail routes, a provision of the international postal agreement prevents dispatch of covers on a globe-circling flight. Covers divided to secure successive addresses are not admitted to the mails.

An arrangement with Great Britain, with the approval of other countries which signed the original agreement, may make round-the-world covers possible.

Interesting new issues: Italian overprints, upon the annexation of Albania, 11 values; Soviet World's Fair commemoratives, two values; Bulgaria, 50th anniversary of Bulgarian railways, four values.

POSTOFFICES ARE SLOW IN COMING

Actual Construction Usually Shortest Phase Of Long Process

WASHINGTON, Aug 26.—(AP)—What ever happened to those new postoffices for Louisiana and Mississippi?

Two years ago congress authorized their construction, and little or nothing has been heard of most of them since. Why has the government taken so long to get started? It hasn't, really. Actual construction is merely the last, and usually the shortest, phase of a long process.

Here's what happens.

An old postoffice, still sound and sturdy, is no longer adequate because postal business has increased or a growing number of federal agencies need office space, or congress has ordered the federal district court to hold some sessions there. So a new building is projected and added to a list of hundreds which congress is asked to approve.

Congress approved such a list in 1937, and in August of that year and June of the next authorized total expenditures of $[illegible] to build some of them. Lacking funds to build all, the joint treasury-post office building committee, [illegible] the president's reorganization [illegible] the federal works agency, has [illegible] the program, selected [illegible] needed and alloted [illegible] of the 803 just 83 costing $[illegible] had been completed August 1.

The first step, however, is selecting a site. The committee advertises for a [illegible] experts to examine each one offered and [illegible] reports on each [illegible].

New Orleans [illegible] $[illegible]; Poplarville, Miss., agriculture offices and postoffice $[illegible]; Quitman, Miss., agriculture and postoffice $70,000.

Selecting the site, the committee tries to come to terms with the owners on a price. Sometimes this is accomplished easily; sometimes the committee [illegible] the property [illegible] condemned, resulting in further delay. Once acquired, the site is surveyed carefully before the building is planned.

Louisiana has a project in this second stage: site selected, survey ordered, or survey completed: Coushatta, La., $75,000.

Then comes the third step, the "drawing" stage. Architects—employes of the government or architects practicing in the city where the building is to be erected, armed with complete information about the size and shape of the site, the cost limit, the office space requirements and other details, prepare careful plans for the new building.

In the drawing stage are these Mississippi and Louisiana projects:

Tylertown, Miss., $75,000; Crystal Springs, Miss., $7[illegible]; Eupora, Miss., $70,000; Lake Charles, La., postoffice and courthouse, $360,000; Pineville, La., $70,000; Carville, La. (Marine hospital), $2,600,000; Batesville, Miss., $70,000.

Next comes the advertisement for bids on the construction, each prospective bidder being supplied with the plans and the specifications of material to be used in each part of the building. All bids on a given project are opened at the same time, compared, and the low bidder determined.

Louisiana and Mississippi projects in this [illegible] on the market and [illegible] stage are:

Lafayette, La., $230,000; New Orleans Marine hospital, $130,000; [illegible], La., $[illegible]; [illegible], Miss., $70,000; Ferriday, La., $70,000; Jeanerette, La., $70,000; [illegible], Miss., $[illegible].

The contract is signed next, the contractor being given a specified number of days to complete the construction. Projects under contract on August 1 included these in Louisiana and Mississippi:

Houston, Miss., $75,200; Lake Providence, La., $75,000; Vivian, La., $70,600; Waynesboro, Miss., $75,000; Booneville, Miss., $51,819; Carthage, Miss. (agriculture and postoffice) $74,400; New Orleans (federal office building—part of cost provided under previous act) $[illegible].

When the building is completed, it is inspected. If the work is satisfactory and specifications have been met, the government accepts the building, pays the contractor, and after a dedication ceremony, moves in. These projects have been completed in Mississippi and Louisiana:

Charleston, Miss., $743,000; Eunice, La., $70,000; Leland, Miss., $70,000.

WILL OUTLINE PLAN OF FARM SECURITY

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug 26.—(AP)—Outlines for the 1939-40 program of the Farm Security administration in Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi will be presented at district conferences during the next four weeks, Regional Director T. Roy Reid announced today.

Dates for the conference include:

Mississippi: Northwest district, September [illegible] at Grenada; Southwest, September 6-8 at Jackson; southeast, September 7-9 at Laurel; northeast, September 25-27 at Tupelo.

Louisiana: Southeast district, September [illegible] at Baton Rouge; southwest, September [illegible] at Lafayette; western, September [illegible] at Alexandria; [illegible] September 20-22 at Monroe.

TRUCK GROWERS WELL PLEASED

Chatham Association Able To Pay Expenses And Buy Tomato Grader

CHATHAM, La., Aug 26.—(Special)—The Chatham Truck Growers' association, which was organized for the first time the past season, experienced a "highly successful" year, according to a report by the association's secretary, A. L. Spillers, at a meeting of the organization here Thursday.

In addition to having paid all expenses incurred during organization, the new association was able to pay in full for a tomato grading machine which cost more than $700, and still has close to $600 left in a fund to begin 1940 operations.

Election of officers for the next year was also conducted with G. P. Martin, chairman the past season, being re-elected by acclamation. All committeemen of the past year were also re-elected. They were E. M. Rhodes, J. Q. Rivals, Henry Banks, J. O. Smith, H. L. Young and A. L. Spillers.

A vote was taken on a motion to divide the past season's fund among the members but the motion was defeated by a large majority. It was explained by several committeemen that by having a cash fund on hand at the beginning of next season a great savings could be realized and that there be more profits for the members.

Chairman Martin also discussed a plan for the establishment of a cannery at Chatham for unmarketable tomatoes, and it was decided to study the possibilities of such a project.

A project for growing watermelons is to be discussed at the next meeting of the association, it was stated.

Chairman Martin has announced that the organization will accept for membership any farmers of the surrounding area who are interested in growing watermelons and tomatoes for shipping purposes.

GOVERNMENT COST IN STATE SOARS

Nearly Doubles From 1932 To 1937, According To Census Bureau Figures

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—While the total cost of operating and maintaining the general functions of the 48 governments increased 67.6 per cent from 1932 to 1937, the increase in Mississippi was considerably less, but in Louisiana it nearly doubled.

A survey just completed by the bureau of the census said the cost of state government in Mississippi increased from $12,364,000 to $16,500,000.

The Louisiana cost, however, climbed from $27,023,000 to $47,000,000, the census bureau reported.

The state functions covered by this cost report included the legislative, executive and judicial branches; protection, including police, fire, militia and highway patrols; highways, development and conservation of natural resources; health and sanitation; hospitals and institutions; charities, corrections, schools, libraries and recreation.

The cost of general government (legislative, executive and judicial branches, staff administrative offices of finance and law, elections and general government) declined from $1,573,000 to $1,356,000 in Mississippi and increased from $1,722,000 to $3,975,000 in Louisiana, the bureau reported.

State government costs of the two governments under various functions follow:

Protection: (Fire, police, highway patrol, etc.) Mississippi: $231,000 in 1932, $392,000 in 1937. Louisiana; $1,434,000 and $1,941,000.

Highways:

Mississippi, $2,273,000 in 1932 to $2,517,000 in 1937. Louisiana, $6,441,000 in 1932, decreased to $3,997,000 five years later.

Development and conservation natural resources:

Mississippi: $698,000, 1932, to $811,000, 1937. Louisiana $1,145,000 and $1,964,000.

Health and sanitation:

Mississippi, $261,000 to $546,000. Louisiana, $638,000 to $1,320,000.

Both states reported heavy increases in costs of schools, Louisiana's cost leaping from $9,007,000 to $18,641,000, while Mississippi's increased from $4,882,000 to $7,599,000.

Miscellaneous payments in Louisiana increased from $62,000 in 1932 to $5,257,000 five years later.

Miscellaneous payments, the bureau explained, included pensions and gratuities to former employes or their dependents, unemployment compensation administration and benefits, unemployment services, administration of public trust funds and investments, judgments for personal injury and losses and unclassified and undistributed costs.

Mississippi's miscellaneous costs increased from $5,000 to $189,000.

Other costs included:

Hospitals and institutions for the handicapped, 1932 costs, Mississippi, $1,088,000, 1937, $1,348,000; Louisiana, $2,826,000 and $3,870,000.

Charities, Mississippi, $1,005,000 and $1,367,000; Louisiana, $2,449,000 and $4,922,000. Correction (institutions, pardons and parole boards) Mississippi $317,000 and $408,000; Louisiana $1,223,000 and $947,000.

POSTOFFICES ARE SLOW IN COMING

Actual Construction Usually Shortest Phase Of Long Process

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—What ever happened to those new postoffices for Louisiana and Mississippi?

Two years ago congress authorized their construction, and little or nothing has been heard of most of them since. Why has the government taken so long to get started? It hasn't, really. Actual construction is merely the last, and usually the shortest, phase of a long process.

Here's what happens:

An old postoffice, still sound and sturdy, is no longer adequate—because postal business has increased, or a growing number of federal agencies need office space, or congress has ordered the federal district court to hold some sessions there. So a new building is projected, and added to a list of hundreds which congress is asked to approve.

Congress approved such a list in 1937, and in August of that year and June of the next authorized total expenditures of $130,000,000 to build some of them. Lacking funds to build all, the joint treasury-postoffice building committee, (since the president's reorganization order, the federal works agency has charge of the program), selected 803 most urgently needed and alloted money to them. Of the 803, just 88, costing $8,358,686, had been completed August 1.

The first step, however, is selecting a site. The committee advertises for a lot, sends experts to examine each one offered, and studies the reports on each carefully.

In Louisiana and Mississippi projects—sites advertised for, examined and awaiting selection—with the cost limit of each, are:

New Orleans (appraisers' stores) $300,000; Poplarville, Miss., (agriculture offices and postoffice) $75,000; Quitman, Miss., (agriculture and postoffice) $70,000.

Selecting the site, the committee tries to come to terms with the owners on a price. Sometimes this is accomplished easily, sometimes the committee decides the property should be condemned, resulting in further delay. Once acquired, the site is surveyed carefully before the building is planned.

Louisiana has a project in this second stage—site selected, surey ordered, or survey completed: Coushatta, La., $75,000.

Then comes the third step, the "drawing" stage. Architects—employes of the government or architects practicing in the city where the building is to be erected—armed with complete information about the size and shape of the site, the cost limit, the office space requirements and other details, prepare careful plans for the new building.

In the drawing stage are these Mississippi and Louisiana projects:

Tylertown, Miss., $75,000; Crystal Springs, Miss., $70,000; Eupora, Miss., $70,000; Lake Charles, La., (postoffice and courthouse) $360,000; Pineville, La., $70,000; Carville, La., (Marine hospital) $2,600,000; Batesville, Miss, $70,000.

Next comes the advertisement for bids on the construction, each prospective bidder being supplied with the plans and the specifications of material to be used in each part of the building. All bids on a given project are opened at the same time, compared, and the low bidder determined.

Louisiana and Mississippi projects in this "bids in, on the market, and specification" stage are:

Lafayette, La., $230,000; New Orleans (Marine hospital) $130,000; Many, La., $75,000; Durant, Miss, $70,000; Ferriday, La., $70,000; Jeanerette, La., $70,000; Macon, Miss., $75,000.

The contract is signed next, the contractor being given a specified number of days to complete the construction. Projects under contract on August 1 included these in Louisiana and Mississippi:

Houston, Miss., $75,200; Lake Providence, La., $75,000; Vivian, La., $70,000; Waynesboro, Miss., $75,000; Booneville, Miss., $81,819; Carthage, Miss., (agriculture and postoffice) $74,400; New Orleans (federal office building—part of cost provided under previous act) $350,000.

When the building is completed, it is inspected. If the work is satisfactory, and specifications have been met, the government accepts the building, pays the contractor, and after a dedication ceremony, moves in. These projects have been completed in Mississippi and Louisiana:

Charleston, Miss., $743,000; Eunice, La., $70,000; Leland, Miss., $70,000.

THE END OF THE TRAIL

When day is done it is back to camp for this cavalry unit of the 16th field artillery. Currently engaged in fighting a mythical invasion of Virginia, this cavalry group played a large part recently in driving the "enemy" back.

WILL OUTLINE PLAN OF FARM SECURITY

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Outlines for the 1939-40 program of the Farm Security administration in Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi will be presented at district conferences during the next four weeks, Regional Director T. Roy Reid announced today.

Dates for the conference include:

Mississippi—Northwest district, September 5-7 at Grenada; Southwest, September 6-8 at Jackson; southeast, September 7-9 at Laurel; northeast, September 25-27 at Tupelo.

Louisiana—Southeast district, September 11-13 at Baton Rouge; southwest, September 13-15 at Lafayette; western, September 18-20 at Alexandria; eastern, September 20-22 at Monroe.

TRUCK GROWERS WELL PLEASED

Chatham Association Able To Pay Expenses And Buy Tomato Grader

CHATHAM, La., Aug. 26.—(Special)—The Chatham Truck Growers' association, which was organized for the first time the past season, experienced a "highly successful" year, according to a report by the association's secretary, A. L. Spillers, at a meeting of the organization here Thursday.

In addition to having paid all expenses incurred during organization, the new association was able to pay in full for a tomato grading machine which cost more than $700, and still has close to $600 left in a fund to begin 1940 operations.

Election of officers for the next year was also conducted with G. P. Martin, chairman the past season, being reelected by acclamation. All committeemen of the past year were also reelected. They were E. M. Rhodes, J. Q Ryals, Henry Banks, J. O. Smith, H. L. Young and A. L. Spillers.

A vote was taken on a motion to divide the past season's fund among the members, but the motion was defeated by a large majority. It was explained by several committeemen that by having a cash fund on hand at the beginning of next season a great savings would be realized and that there be more profits for the members.

Chairman Martin also discussed a plan for the establishment of a cannery at Chatham for unmarketable tomatoes, and it was decided to study the possibilities of such a project.

A project for growing watermelons is to be discussed at the next meeting of the association, it was stated.

Chairman Martin has announced that the organization will accept for membership any farmers of the surrounding area who are interested in growing watermelons and tomatoes for shipping purposes.

GOVERNMENT COST IN STATE SOARS

Nearly Doubles From 1932 To 1937, According To Census Bureau Figures

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—While the total cost of operating and maintaining the general functions of the 48 governments increased 67.6 per cent from 1932 to 1937, the increase in Mississippi was considerably less, but in Louisiana it nearly doubled.

A survey just completed by the bureau of the census said the cost of state government in Mississippi increased from $12,364,000 to $16,500,000.

The Louisiana cost, however, climbed from $27,023,000 to $47,000,000, the census bureau reported.

The state functions covered by this cost report included the legislative, executive and judicial branches; protection, including police, fire, militia and highway patrols; highways, development and conservation of natural resources; health and sanitation; hospitals and institutions; charities, corrections, schools, libraries and recreation.

The cost of general government (legislative, executive and judicial branches, staff administrative offices of finance and law, elections and general government) declined from $1,573,000 to $1,356,000 in Mississippi and increased from $1,722,000 to $3,975,000 in Louisiana, the bureau reported.

State government costs of the two governments under various functions follow:

Protection: (Fire, police, highway patrol, etc.) Mississippi: $231,000 in 1932, $392,000 in 1937. Louisiana; $1,434,000 and $1,941,000.

Highways:

Mississippi. $2,273,000 in 1932 to $2,517,000 in 1937. Louisiana, $6,441,000 in 1932, decreased to $3,997,000 five years later.

Development and conservation natural resources:

Mississippi: $698,000, 1932, to $811,000, 1937. Louisiana $1,145,000 and $1,964,000.

Health and sanitation:

Mississippi, $261,000 to $546,000. Louisiana, $638,000 to $1,320,000.

Both states reported heavy increases in costs of schools, Louisiana's cost leaping from $9,007,000 to $18,641,000, while Mississippi's increased from $4,882,000 to $7,599,000.

Miscellaneous payments in Louisiana increased from $62,000 in 1932 to $5,257,000 five years later.

Miscellaneous payments, the bureau explained, included pensions and gratuities to former employes or their dependents, unemployment compensation administration and benefits, unemployment services, administration of public trust funds and investments, judgments for personal injury and losses and unclassified and undistributed costs.

Mississippi's miscellaneous costs increased from $5,000 to $189,000.

Other costs included:

Hospitals and institutions for the handicapped, 1932 costs, Mississippi, $1,088,000, 1937, $1,348,000; Louisiana, $2,826,000 and $3,870,000.

Charities, Mississippi, $1,005,000 and $1,367,000; Louisiana, $2,449,000 and $4,922,000. Correction (institutions, pardons and parole boards) Mississippi $317,000 and $408,000; Louisiana $1,223,000 and $947,000.

Kallio To Referee Yaqui Joe-Schultz Return Mat Battle

Promoter Gus Kallio announced last night that he would, in response to unanimous requests of fans, referee a return bout between Yaqui Joe, Sonora, Mexico, Indian, and Carl (Dutch) Schultz, of Milwaukee, Wis., next Thursday night at the Monroe Wrestling arena.

The two grapplers appeared in the main event of last Thursday night's program, and when the Indian, with his famed legs, was on the verge of winning, the Dutchman resorted to illegal tactics on the blind side of Referee Dizzy Davis, and won the third and deciding fall.

A near riot resulted, and when the clamor quieted down, Kallio asked the fans from the ringside whether or not they wanted a return bout, and who they desired as referee.

The unanimous choice of the fans was that Kallio should referee a return bout.

Kallio announced that he had booked a newcomer, Al Berry, of Texas, to wrestle Jack Curtis, of Vicksburg, Miss., in the semi-final bout of next Thursday night's program.

Farmerville at Ansley.

The Big Six baseball league is scheduled to close its 1939 schedule in games today at Marion, Bernice and Ansley.

The Marion club leads in the race for the second half championship, but the Farmerville Farmers stand a chance to overcome the league leaders. All other teams have been eliminated as far as the second half race is concerned.

Should Marion trim the Chatham Red Birds today, the present leaders will get the second half title and the chance to meet the Bernice Arcadian Nitraters, first half champs, in a championship series for the Big Six title.

When overheated there may be danger in drinking too much water. Athletes, especially, never drink much while hot. People who work hard and play hard turn to 7-Up for a safe "fresh up." When you are hot and thirsty, have a bottle of 7-Up just chilled, not too cold. Sip it slowly . . . taste each sip. You can feel the "fresh up" action in your mouth and throat. That's how a small bottle of 7-Up stops a big thirst.

THE END

The final game of the regular Cotton States league schedule will be played at Casino park and officials of the Monroe club have dubbed it "Appreciation Day."

Usually baseball clubs in the small minors stage "Appreciation Day" in an effort to raise a little extra cash for the always-depleted treasury and the price of admission is hiked materially. Not so with Monroe's "Appreciation Day." Instead of a boost in the ante, local club officials have set a flat price of 15 cents admission for men, women and children. That, as you know, is a reduction of exactly two bits on a grandstand ducat.

Thus a capacity crowd should turn out to ring down the curtain on the 1939 schedule. The club deserves plenty of "appreciation" but with a ridiculously low admission price, the lads who've kept Monroe on top of the standings for almost the entire season should close out their regular schedule before a packed house.

THE PLAYOFF PRICES

Speaking of admission prices, it is well and timely to explain the increase for the playoff series.

Whenever prices are hiked the home club comes in for a varying amount of criticism. In many instances it isn't the club's fault. During the entire season the Monroe club has not staged any special "days" with admission prices above those ordinarily charged. The same can be said for some other clubs in the league.

During the playoff, the prices for admission to the grandstand will be 55 cents and 40 cents for bleachers. That's a league rule—written into the constitution—and nothing could be done about it even if the Monroe club owners wanted to change it.

The increased admission price for playoff games was a compromise reached at last winter's league meeting. Some club owners wanted to hike the prices for all league games. One or two others, including the Monroe club, wanted to retain the current scale. To forestall a general increase, the local officials agreed to the advanced scale for the playoff series.

After all, 55 cents isn't to much for a championship game. Bleacherites will be admitted for 40 cents, colored patrons will get in for 35 and the price for children will be 25 cents. We believe that's fair enough.

THE COACHES GATHER

It's anything but football weather, but nevertheless the pigskin brigade is beginning to stir into action in anticipation of another big season this fall.

One of the big pre-season events in this section each year is the gathering of members of the North Louisiana Coaches association. High school coaches of the entire area gather before the practice sessions get into full swing to discuss rules changes and other important phases of the jobs.

This year the meeting will be held, appropriately enough, at Louisiana Tech, where the association was organized some three or four years ago. Athletic Director Eddie McLane was one of the chief instigators of the association and Eddie will play host to the gathering this year. He's arranged a big program for the master minds of high school football of north Louisiana.

Chief on the program next Saturday at Ruston will be a talk by Harry Viner, a leading football official of the Southwest conference. Viner will come from Houston to confer with the boys. Top feature of the entertainment program will be a big barbecue. Other interesting items have been included on the program.

It's to the interest of every high school coach in north Louisiana to attend the meeting, if for nothing else than the fellowship to be enjoyed by such a gathering. It may be the last time this fall that football coaches can meet without trying to out-smart each other.

Cotton States League Playoff Series To Start Tuesday

L. S. U. TIGERS TO START FOOTBALL PRACTICE FRIDAY

Bernie Moore Expects 56 Players, 27 Of Them Sophomores, To Report

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 26—(Special)—Louisiana State university's football Tigers, missing from the ranks of Southeastern conference title favorites for the first time in years, begin practice for the 1939 football season next Friday morning, September 1.

Coach Bernie Moore, starting his fifth season as director of the Tigers' football destinies, expects 56 players, 27 of them sophomores, to report for the opening workout.

Eddie Gatto, all-Southeastern tackle for two straight seasons head the list of graduates. Others are Dick Gormley, regular center; Blythe Clark and John Hugh Smith, guards; Ben Friend and Herman "Red" Farmer, tackles; Jack Gormley, end; Barrett Booth, quarterback, and Guy "Cotton" Milner, hero of L. S. U.'s 3-0 victory over Rice, halfback. All save Smith and Farmer were starters last fall.

Ken Kavanaugh and J. W. Goree, all-Southeastern end and guard, respectively, and both outstanding candidates for the 1939 All-America, head a list of 17 returning lettermen. However, only seven of the lettermen played as much as one-third of the time during the ten-game 1939 schedule.

The 1939 eleven faces one of the most difficult schedules of any southern football team. Opening September 30 with Ole Miss, the team that gave the Tigers a bad start by upsetting them 20-7 last season, L. S. U. must play Holy Cross at Worcester, Mass., and Rice at Baton Rouge the next two Saturdays.

The remainder of the schedule includes, in order, Loyola of the South, Vanderbilt, Tennessee, Mississippi State, Auburn and Tulane.

Ten seniors, 19 juniors (most of whom have seen little varsity service), and 27 sophomores will compose the squad. The team that must take L. S. U. through a grueling, nine-game schedule will be lighter—but faster—than last season's eleven.

Players expected to report for the opening practice (* indicates lettermen):

Ends: Ken Kavanaugh*, Ogden Baur*, Charles Johnson*, Wade Stonecipher, Woodrow Barrett, Aswell Stell, and Dudley Pillow.

Tackles: Ralph Whitman*, Irving Campbell*, Paul Pittman*, Dan Eastman, Dave Bernstein, Peg Kendrick, George Cox, Travis Rhodes, Bill Davis and Grady Pyron.

Quarterbacks: Young Bussey*, Jimmy Cajoleas*, Bill Reinschmidt, Jeff Oser, Joe Giesemann, Jim McKinney and Amos Brewer.

Clarksdale Club To Take On Greenwood Crackers On Red Sox Diamond

GREENVILLE, Miss., Aug. 26—(AP)—The Shaughnessy playoff series in the Cotton States league will open next Tuesday at Clarksdale, Miss., and Monroe, La., with the first-place Monroe White Sox battling the fourth-place Hot Springs Bathers and second-place Clarksdale Red Sox taking on the Greenwood Crackers.

Judge Emmet Harty of Greenville, president of the three states circuit, will be in Monroe Tuesday night, at Clarksdale Wednesday night, Greenwood Thursday night and at Hot Springs Friday night.

Umpires Welsh and Thomason will officiate the series opening at Clarksdale and Umpires Rowe, Gribbon and Newman will be at Monroe.

The opening series of games will be for the best three out of five games. Two games will be played at Monroe and Clarksdale and the teams then will move to Hot Springs and Greenwood.

The winning two teams in the first round will play it off in a seven-game series for the championship of the league. The team winning four games will be declared champions.

President Harty and presidents of the seventh and eighth-place clubs will decide the opening game location and rules governing the final playoff series.

WHITE SOX CRIPPLED

The Monroe White Sox, league leaders since early in the campaign, will go into the Shaughnessy playoff for the league championship in a crippled condition as a result of the injury to Frank Hackney, stellar second baseman, who was "beaned" at Greenville last week. Hackney is still in the Kings Daughters hospital at Greenville but his condition is reported as improved.

The Sox were refused permission to obtain another second sacker in a poll of the other three clubs in the playoff. Last year when Catcher Bobby Schang was hurt similarly Monroe was allowed to obtain another catcher, Bobby Salveson, to fill in. Greenwood and Hot Springs refused to allow the locals to get a substitute for Hackney.

The exact lineup as far as the infield is concerned is problematical. Manager Doug Taitt said yesterday that he had not decided on the setup but added that he probably would play third base, with Guy Pruitt moving to second base. Pruitt has been playing second since Hackney was hurt and his work has been acceptable, Taitt said. Hank Taylor, a catcher and outfielder, has been filling in at third.

Bob Hill, an outfielder who has been suspended because of a leg injury and an attack of malaria, is reported to

League-Leading White Sox Bag 5 Out Of 12 Positions On Season's All-Star Team

Taitt Named Manager, Jones, Pruitt, Conway, Maxfield Players Of Loop's Mythical Club Of Luminaries

The 1939 all-star team of the Cotton States league supports the old bromide about the spoils belonging to the victor. The pace-setting Monroe White Sox bagged five of the 12 positions on this year's edition. Two each went to Clarksdale and Hot Springs, while Helena, El Dorado and Greenwood came up with one each.

Doug Taitt

At first base, the palm went to Murrell Jones of the White Sox without any room for argument, although Mel Hicks of Helena made a good candidate.

Joe Wessing of Hot Springs had an easier time of it, landing the second base assignment with lots of room to spare.

But at third base, Guy Pruitt of Monroe was crowded closely by Fred Yazzell of Clarksdale and Leo Ostenberg of El Dorado, it being necessary to count the second-choice votes to determine a winner, Pruitt drawing the edge.

Kelton Maxfield

There were no unanimous selections on the team but John Conway of Monroe came close to it, missing only one vote as the team's shortstop, that one going to Stan Pintarell of Clarksdale.

Steve Carter of Hot Springs was another who came within one of getting the full vote, and was placed in the left field slot. Likewise, Andy Gilbert of Clarksdale missed only one first-choice ballot and won handily as the all-star center fielder.

In right field, the victory was not so pronounced, but there was no doubt as to the superiority of Johnny Rowe of Helena.

Frank Krole of Clarksdale was named to do the catching, but not

INTER-CITY MEET WILL BE PLAYED ON MUNY COURSE

Morehouse Golfers To Engage Locals; Labor Day Tourney Qualifying Begun

The Municipal Golf club of Monroe and members of the Morehouse Country club of Bastrop will meet in an inter-city tournament here this afternoon over the Muny links, beginning at 1 o'clock, according to an announcement by Gene Shirah, Municipal pro.

In addition to the inter-city meet, golfers of the surrounding area are expected to begin coming in today to play their qualifying rounds for the annual Labor day tournament which will be held here September 2, 3 and 4 at Municipal club.

Ten qualifying scores have already been posted for the last big tournament of the season here. C. R. Tidwell, Jr., and I. F. Bennett, both of Monroe, hold the low qualifying scores at the present, each having posted 82s.

Other qualifying scores already posted are: J. B. King, 87; W. O. Webb, 90; C. C. Hightower, 92; C. L. Dill, 95; Eddie Shaughnessy, 98; J. C. Liner, Sr., 98; L. M. Craft, 94; and Ed C. Apperson, 105.

The Muny course will be open to golfers qualifying for the Labor day event through next Saturday. The pro-amateur event of the tourney will be held Saturday, the amateur event, the Labor day meet, gets underway Sunday and lasts through Monday, September 4.

The Labor day tournament has annually drew a large entry of golfers throughtout Louisiana and was the principal meet of the year sponsored by the old Lakeside Country club of Monroe. With the liquidation of the Lakeside club, the Municipal club will continue to keep the Labor day meet an annual affair.

IMPROVED TEAM SEEN FOR GENTS

Curtis Parker Calls Centenary Squad To Start Training Next Friday

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 23—(Special)—Faced with the toughest schedule tackled by Centenary college in years, Coach Curtis Parker's Gentlemen will open fall practice next Friday with a much more experienced and improved team than that of last year.

Twenty-three experienced lettermen, one squad man, three junior college transfers and 13 first year candidates will report for duty in preparation for a 12-game schedule that includes T. C. U., Texas Tech, Rice, Baylor, Ole Miss, Texas A. and M., University of Arizona, University of Tulsa, Hardin-Simmons, Louisiana State Normal, Southwestern of Memphis, and Louisiana Tech.

Lack of reserve strength will be Coach Parker's chief concern. The backfield will be somewhat heavier and much more experienced than usual. The line will be about the same weight, but the guard positions will be especially weakened because of a shortage of reserves.

DAVIS CALLS 35 TECH GRIDSTERS TO START WORK

Will Have Only 12 Practice Days To Get In Shape For Arkansas A. & M.

RUSTON, La., Aug. 26.—(Special)—Thirty-five varsity football candidates of Louisiana Tech, the best that remained after the squad had been culled by Head Coach Ray E. Davis in practice sessions last spring, are expected to report at the college here Friday, September 1, at 9 a.m.

The Bulldogs will have but 12 practices days in which to prepare for their opener with Arkansas A. and M. college here on Friday night, September 15.

Though the 1939 squad is slightly smaller in number than previous Tech grid aggregations that have totaled around 40 members, Coach Davis says he believes he has selected the makings that can "go places" this fall.

"If the boys continue to have the good attitude that they showed last spring, we'll get along all right," the coach opined.

All positions in the backfield are well covered, he said, but the customary possibilities of weakness in a part of the line may require some attention. For example, it will be necessary to adapt a center to replace T. R. (Round Man) Willett, who is playing baseball with Marshall in the East Texas league, and a problem confronts the staff in grooming a reserve tackle or two to alternate with Bob Phillips and Pat Meeks, experienced varsity men.

Coach Davis reiterated his preference for making individual substitutions rather than using the "two-team" system whereby whole squad combinations are employed in replacements.

Because of the nearness of the first game, Coach Davis stated that the Techsters would start "bearing down" early and added that they would probably scrimmage on Wednesday following the opening of drill rehearsals.

Two practice periods will be conducted daily, one at 9 a.m. and the other at 3:30 p.m. Skull drills will be held daily at 2:30 p.m., rather than at night, as formerly.

"By holding skull practice early in the afternoon," Davis pointed out, "we can got out on the field and practice what we preach. Furthermore, that plan will give the boys a chance to study and sleep at night."

Coach Davis is making his debut as chief mentor at Tech, having come here from Howard college in Birmingham last February. He has already made himself known in this section, however, by turning out a winning baseball team following his football instructing here last spring.

Plans call for Davis to coach the varsity backs in particular and to oversee the rest of the squad in general. He will be assisted by Herb Duggins as mentor of the ends and by Mike Wells, line coach.

George (Blue) Hogg, who has produced successful freshman teams at Tech for the past several years, again will be at the helm of the yearling department.

TECH BOOKS 1940 GAME WITH LOYOLA

RUSTON, La., Aug. 26.—(Special)—Athletic Director Eddie McLane of Louisiana Tech has announced that a contract has been signed for a football game with Loyola university of New Orleans to be played in New Orleans on October 4, 1940.

It is understood that home-and-home arrangements between those two schools will be made in the near future. That would bring Loyola to Ruston in 1941 and Tech would go to New Orleans again to play Loyola in 1942.

MONROE GETS TO TWO MOUNDSMEN FOR 13 SAFETIES

Locals Play Their Season Finale Against Arkansas Team Here Today

Scoring in all innings except the second and third, the Monroe White Sox defeated the El Dorado Lions, 7 to 4, in the first game of a two-game series here last night.

The Sox hammered two El Dorado hurlers, John Grega and Leo Ostenberg, for 13 hits, including one home run and four doubles, while Kelton Maxfield and Ray Hoffman, local flingers, were limiting the invaders to eight hits.

Frank Hargrove, Sox outfielder, led the hitting with a double and two singles in four times at bat and knocked in three runs, just enough tallies to give the locals the edge. The hitting of Dale Englehorn, Johnny Conway and Guy "Red" Pruitt was also outstanding for the Monroe club, Englehorn getting three singles in four times at bat, Conway collecting a double and a single in four times at bat, and Pruitt smashing out a home run and a single in four trips to bat.

Woody Tone, rightfielder, was the Lions' top hitter, getting a double and a single in three times at bat. Eddie Dancisak got the most extra base

SEASON FINAL TODAY

The season's final regularly scheduled game in the Cotton States league will be played here this afternoon between the El Dorado Lions and the Monroe White Sox at Casino park, beginning at 3 o'clock.

"Appreciation day" will be celebrated by the Sox in connection with the game, club officials announced. The game will be dedicated to White Sox fans, in appreciation for their support during the season, and the usual prices for admission are being slashed to 15 cents for every person attending the game.

One of the largest crowds of the season is expected to invade the park due to the bargain price on ducats.

"Lefty" Hinton or Floyd Speer will probably hurl today's game. Earl Harrist is expected to pitch for the Lions.

When overheated, there may be danger in drinking too much water. Athletes, especially, never drink much while hot. People who work hard and play hard turn to 7-Up for a safe "fresh up." When you are hot and thirsty, have a bottle of 7-Up just chilled, not too cold. Sip it slowly . . . taste each sip. You can feel the "fresh up" action in your mouth and throat. That's how a small bottle of 7-Up stops a big thirst.

CARDS WIN DOUBLE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—(AP)—By winning both ends of a double header with the Phillies today while the Reds split a twin bill in Brooklyn, the St. Louis Cardinals cut the Cincinnati lead to 4 1-2 games. The scores were 5-0 and 11-4.

Curt Davis won his 18th victory of the season in the opener and was never in danger although he permitted 10 hits.

In the second game the Red Birds took an early lead in the second inning off Ike Pearson and coasted on behind the pitching of Bob Bowman although Clyde Shoun was called to Bowman's rescue in the 8th.

Junior College Candidates To Get Equipment Monday

44 Hopefuls Will Report To Malone; Banquet To Honor L. S. U. President

Forty-four candidates for the Northeast Junior college of L. S. U.'s football team have been summoned to report for work tomorrow, Coach James L. Malone said yesterday.

Players will report at 1 p.m. and Coach Malone and team managers will spend most of the afternoon issuing equipment. A light drill will be conducted late in the afternoon.

The squad will attend a banquet, honoring Dr. Paul Hebert, president of L. S. U., Monday night, and then swing into routine work Tuesday morning.

Morning sessions will begin at 6 o'clock and afternoon drills will begin at 5 o'clock.

Every position on the team is wide open to all candidates, Coach Malone announced, since almost all regulars from the 1938 team have been lost.

The two-team system is still to be favored at the local junior college, however.

Coach Malone is faced with the task of rebuilding his entire line, having only two linemen of known ability returning. The veterans back in the [illegible] will be George Perry, [illegible] and John "[illegible]" Porter, [illegible].

Two Monroe boys who are expected to make the grade with the Indians this season are Tommy Younse and Alvin Fleming. Younse, a center, and Fleming, a back, were members of Coach "Lefty" Haynes' stellar 1938 Ouachita Parish High school team. Fleming was an all-state halfback last season.

Coach Malone, who is beginning his sixth season with the Tribe, expects to have another strong eleven on the gridiron here. During his past five seasons, the Malone-coached teams have won 31 games, lost [illegible] and tied [illegible]. In 1935 and 1937 the Indians produced undefeated elevens. The Tribesmen have scored a total of [illegible] points in the 45 games already played under Coach Malone and opponents in those games have scored only 239 points.

INDIANS SCALP A'S

CLEVELAND, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Indians chalked up their fourth victory in three days over Philadelphia by a score of 7 to 5 today, the Athletics donating three runs on two eighth inning errors.

The Mackmen held a 5 to 4 margin entering that inning. Hal Trosky singled and Jeff Heath walked, then Pitcher Nelson Potter was replaced by Henry Pippen. Ken Keltner bunted to Pippen, who threw wild to third, allowing Trosky and Heath to score.

Keltner was thrown out at third on Ray Mack's bounder. Hemsley singled, then Al Milnar hit to Siebert, whose throw to second hit Hemsley in the back, and Mack romped home. Both Lou Boudreau and Bruce Campbell fied out.

The Athletics were held to four scattered hits by Pitcher Johnny Allen until the fourth inning, when a sizzling liner from Sam Chapman's bat struck Allen's left leg. Allen was forced out of action.

Philadelphia scored three runs in the seventh, when they reached Johnny Broaca and Joe Dobson for four hits.

TIGERS SWEEP SERIES

DETROIT, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers bunched their hits today to beat the Washington Senators 6 to 3 and sweep the three-game series. Southpaw Arch McKain allowed the Nats only six hits, and struck out four.

Joe Krakauskas started on the mound for Washington and retired the first twelve batters to face him. The Tigers slammed out four hits, including doubles by McKain and Birdie Tebbetts, in the fifth inning for enough runs to win.

CHISOX SQUELCH RED SOX

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The surprising Chicago White Sox squelched Boston's dangerous ninth inning rally just in time today, retiring the side with the tying and winning Red Sox runs on base for a 5 to 4 victory.

It was the White Sox third straight over Boston and their 10th decision in their last 13 games, cutting the margin between the two teams to seven and a half games.

CLASS B PLAYING SCHEDULES ASKED BY AREA OFFICIAL

WISNER, La., Aug. 26.—(Special)—T. L. Owen, principal of Wisner High school and chairman of the northeast Louisiana district Class B football conference, this week requested all Class B schools of this area to forward to him copies of their 1939 football schedules.

Chairman Owen will check the schedules and aid in filling open dates where possible within the conference. It was pointed out by Chairman Owen that a Class B eleven must play at least four other Class B teams and win those games in order to apply for a place in the title games at the close of the season.

Chairman Owen is also seeking to organize a six-man football conference for the smaller high schools of northeast Louisiana. He said a meeting of interested officials from smaller schools would be called soon for the purpose of discussing the organization of such a conference.

TECH TO GROUP VARSITY ATHLETES IN ONE BLOCK

RUSTON, La., Aug. 26.—(Special)—"Putting all your eggs in one basket" isn't such a bad policy after all, especially if they're athletes who want to flock together.

With that thought in mind, Louisiana Tech officials are making additional arrangements to house in one block all of their sports participants except the freshman gridders, who will reside in a campus dormitory.

Housing accommodations are being made ready for the varsity football boys, basketball players and baseball men on "Varsity Square" in the Beasley division across College street from the southeast corner of the campus.

Head Coach Ray E. Davis has been designated as potentate of the kingdom. He moved this week with his family into a house in that block, vacated by Athletics Director Eddie McLane and family. McLane is occupying a new home he built on Nelson street in the southwest part of town. An apartment in that square formerly occupied by Coach Herb Duggins and family is being remodeled for use by varsity men and will supplement quarters in the Varsity house in that block. Behind the Davis home is an apartment occupied by Trainer Eddie Wojecki and wife.

CHISOX SLUGGERS ELBOW WAY INTO LOOP'S FIRST TEN

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Popping up like spring flowers after a shower, three Chicago White Sox sluggers elbowed their way into ranks of the American league hitting leaders this week with a shower of base hits.

There wasn't a single Chicagoan in the first ten a week ago, but Mike Kreevich, Luke Appling and Eric McNair hurdled the pitfalls of a lot of good pitching in the last seven days to take their humble position among pursuers of Joe DiMaggio, Yankee clouter who built his pace-making percentage back up to .402.

One of the week's most spectacular sprints was staged by Rookie Charley Keller of the Yankees, who elevated his average 14 points to .350 to take third place in the American league race.

Johnny Mize of the St. Louis Cardinals continued to lead the National league, boosting his mark three points to .356. The only change among the senior circuit leaders saw the injured and tiring Mel Ott of the New York Giants slump out of the first ten, with Tony Cuccinello of Boston taking his place.

CINCINNATI REDS DIVIDE PAIR WITH DODGERS

WALTERS PITCHES TWO-HIT CONTEST TO TAKE OPENER

Cards Whip Phillies In Double To Cut Leaders' Margin To 4½ Games

BROOKLYN, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A two-hit pitching performance by Bucky Walters helped the Cincinnati Reds establish a partial quarantine today against the plague of the Dodgers, but they dropped the second game of a double header and a full game of their National league lead.

Bucky Walters

The scores were 5 to 2 and 6 to 1.

With a capacity crowd of 33,535 fans forming a noisy background, Walters and Luke Hamlin, the Dodger ace, engaged in a fancy hurling duel in the opener.

Hamlin gave only two hits until the eighth. Then an error by Babe Phelps, a walk and a single by Walters filled the bases and set the stage for a five-run rally that won the game.

It was Walters' 21st victory.

John Niggeling, who had won two starts and lost none since joining the Reds two weeks ago, started the second game and was shelled out in the third inning.

CARDS WIN DOUBLE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—(AP)—By winning both ends of a double header with the Phillies today while the Reds split a twin bill in Brooklyn, the St. Louis Cardinals cut the Cincinnati lead to 4 1-2 games. The scores were 5-0 and 11-4.

Curt Davis won his 18th victory of the season in the opener and was never in danger although he permitted 10 hits.

In the second game the Red Birds took an early lead in the second inning off Ike Pearson and coasted on behind the pitching of Bob Bowman although Claude Shoun was called to Bowman's rescue in the 8th.

GIANTS WIN TWO GAMES

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Giants swept a double header from the Pittsburgh Pirates 6 and 2 and 8 to 0 today with Mel Ott and Clift Melton furnishing most of the impetus.

Ott, who has been suffering from a charley horse, hit his 25th and 26th home runs of the year in the first game to help Hal Schumacher get credit for his fourth triumph of the season over Pittsburgh.

Lefty Cliff Melton obtained his shutout in the nightcap by holding Pittsburgh to three singles—two of them in the first inning.

CUBS TAKE PAIR

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs continued their late season surge today by sweeping a double

May to Hughes to Suhr, J. Martin to S. Martin to Mize, Lary to Mize, C. Davis to header from the Boston Bees by identical scores of 8 to 1. The double victory gave the Cubs 13 triumphs in their last seventeen games.

Larry French southpawed the Bees into submission with eight hits in the first contest. Vance Page went French one better in the nightcap allowing only seven hits.

Junior College Candidates To Get Equipment Monday

44 Hopefuls Will Report To Malone; Banquet To Honor L. S. U. President

Forty-four candidates for the Northeast Junior college of L. S. U.'s football team have been summoned to report for work tomorrow, Coach James L. Malone said yesterday.

Players will report at 1 p.m. and Coach Malone and team managers will spend most of the afternoon issuing equipment. A light drill will be conducted late in the afternoon.

The squad will attend a banquet, honoring Dr. Paul Hebert, president of L. S. U., Monday night, and then swing into routine work Tuesday morning.

Morning sessions will begin at 6 o'clock and afternoon drills will begin at 5 o'clock.

Every position on the team is wide open to all candidates, Coach Malone announced, since almost all regulars from the 1938 team have been lost.

Coach Malone is faced with the task of rebuilding his entire line, having only two linemen of known ability returning. The veterans back in the forward wall will be George Perry, star tackle, and John "Butch" Porter, rugged guard.

Two Monroe boys who are expected to make the grade with the Indians this season are Tommy Younse and Alvin Fleming. Younse, a center, and Fleming, a back, were members of Coach "Lefty" Haynes' stellar 1938 Ouachita Parish High school team. Fleming was an all-state halfback last season.

Coach Malone, who is beginning his sixth season with the Tribe, expects to have another strong eleven on the gridiron here. During his past five seasons, the Malone-coached teams have won 31 games, tied four and lost ten. In 1935 and 1937 the Indians produced undefeated elevens. The Tribesmen have scored a total of 859 points in the 45 games already played under Coach Malone, and opponents in those games have scored only 239 points.

HIGH SCHOOL MENTORS WILL GATHER AT TECH

RUSTON, La., Aug. 26.—(Special)—Louisiana Tech will be host to the North Louisiana High School Coaches association on Saturday, September 2, Athletic Director Eddie McLane has announced.

The Tech president, Dr. E. S. Richardson, will welcome members of the association at 10 a.m., after which the association's president, Coach "Cracker" Brown, will preside. Harry Viner, one of the leading officials of the Southwest conference, will discuss football rules and changes for 1939.

At noon the visiting coaches will be guests of the Tech athletic department at a barbecue at Woodland park. The meeting will reconvene at 1:30 p.m., with Mr. Viner continuing his discussions.

Hadley Hurls Three-Hit Game As Yankees Beat Browns

LEADERS' MARGIN IS INCREASED TO 111-2 CONTESTS

Triumph Gives Champions Sweep Of 11 Games In St. Louis This Year

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Bulky Bump Hadley stuffed a three-hitter down the St. Louis Browns today for a 6 to 1 victory and another step toward the New York Yankees' fourth consecutive American league pennant.

Bump Hadley

The triumph gave the Yankees a sweep of all their 11 games in St. Louis this season, their eighth straight victory and increased their lead over the Boston Red Sox to 11 1-2 games.

INDIANS SCALP A'S

CLEVELAND, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Indians chalked up their fourth victory in three days over Philadelphia by a score of 7 to 5 today, the Athletics donating three runs on two eighth inning errors.

The Mackmen held a 5 to 4 margin entering that inning. Hal Trosky doubled and Jeff Heath walked, then Pitcher Nelson Potter was replaced by Henry Pippen. Ken Keltner bunted to Pippen, who threw wild to third, allowing Trosky and Heath to score.

Keltner was thrown out at third on Ray Mack's bounder. Hemsley singled, then Al Milnar hit to Siebert, whose throw to second hit Hemsley in the back, and Mack romped home. Both Lou Boudreau and Bruce Campbell flied out.

The Athletics were held to four scattered hits by Pitcher Johnny Allen until the fourth inning, when a sizzling liner from Sam Chapman's bat struck Allen's left leg. Allen was forced out of action.

Philadelphia scored three runs in the seventh, when they reached Johnny Broaca and Joe Dobson for four hits.

TIGERS SWEEP SERIES

DETROIT, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers bunched their hits today to beat the Washington Senators 6 to 3 and sweep the three-game series. Southpaw Arch McKain allowed the Nats only six hits, and struck out four.

Joe Krakauskas started on the mound for Washington and retired the first twelve batters to face him. The Tigers slammed out four hits, including doubles by McKain and Birdie Tebbetts, in the fifth inning for enough runs to win.

CLASS B PLAYING SCHEDULES ASKED BY AREA OFFICIAL

WISNER, La., Aug. 26.—(Special)—T. L. Owen, principal of Wisner High school and chairman of the northeast Louisiana district Class B football conference, this week requested all Class B schools of this area to forward to him copies of their 1939 football schedules.

Chairman Owen will check the schedules and aid in filling open dates where possible within the conference. It was pointed out by Chairman Owen that a Class B eleven must play at least four other Class B teams and win those games in order to apply for a place in the title games at the close of the season.

Chairman Owen is also seeking to organize a six-man football conference for the smaller high schools of northeast Louisiana. He said a meeting of interested officials from smaller schools would be called soon for the purpose of discussing the organization of such a conference.

TECH TO GROUP VARSITY ATHLETES IN ONE BLOCK

RUSTON, La., Aug. 26.—(Special)—"Putting all your eggs in one basket" isn't such a bad policy after all, especially if they're athletes who want to flock together.

With that thought in mind, Louisiana Tech officials are making additional arrangements to house in one block all of their sports participants except the freshman gridders, who will reside in a campus dormitory.

Housing accommodations are being made ready for the varsity football boys, basketball players and baseball men on "Varsity Square" in the Beasley division across College street from the southeast corner of the campus.

Head Coach Ray E. Davis has been designated as potentate of the kingdom. He moved this week with his family into a house in that block, vacated by Athletics Director Eddie McLane and family. McLane is occupying a new home he built on Nelson street in the southwest part of town. An apartment in that square formerly occupied by Coach Herb Duggins and family is being remodeled for use by varsity men and will supplement quarters in the Varsity house in that block. Behind the Davis home is an apartment occupied by Trainer Eddie Wojecki and wife.

CHISOX SLUGGERS ELBOW WAY INTO LOOP'S FIRST TEN

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Popping up like spring flowers after a shower, three Chicago White Sox sluggers elbowed their way into ranks of the American league hitting leaders this week with a shower of base hits.

There wasn't a single Chicagoan in the first ten a week ago, but Mike Kreevich, Luke Appling and Eric McNair hurdled the pitfalls of a lot of good pitching in the last seven days to take their humble position among pursuers of Joe DiMaggio, Yankee clouter who built his pace-making percentage back up to .402.

One of the week's most spectacular sprints was staged by Rookie Charley Keller of the Yankees, who elevated his average 14 points to .350 to take third place in the American league race.

Johnny Mize of the St. Louis Cardinals continued to lead the National league, boosting his mark three points to .356. The only change among the senior circuit leaders saw the injured and tiring Mel Ott of the New York Giants slump out of the first ten, with Tony Cuccinello of Boston taking his place.

The ten leaders in each league:

1ST ROUND PLAY IN CUP TOURNEY WILL END TODAY

M'Guire Links Contestants Will Swing Into Second Round Monday

Twelve first round matches of the annual President's cup tournament at McGuire Park golf club were played last week, but four other matches remain to be played today before the contestants swing into the second round of play tomorrow.

Results of first round matches already played were announced by Jim McKenzie, club professional, as follows:

Ray Alleman defeated R. D. Kellogg, 3 and 2; Vance Rhodes beat C. E. Wilds, 1 up; E. E. Eaves beat W. D. Moore, 3 and 2; H. K. Touchstone defeated Ed Apperson, 1 up; H. A. McDonald won from S. M. McReynolds, 1 up; Ed Watkins trimmed M. C. McDonald, 1 up; Joe Washburn beat J. C. Liner, Sr., 5 and 4; E. S. Girault beat T. John, 2 and 1; K. E. Holt defeated R. B. Henry, 3 and 2; D. A. Strickland defeated Floyd Allison, 2 and 1; Fred Bennett won by default from Bunn Beasley; and Ivey McDonald trimmed Sam Humphries, 4 and 2.

First round matches remaining to be played today are Wesley Shafto vs. F. Johnson; John Jordan vs. W. W. Kellogg, Ford Hines vs. Scott Spencer; and H. L. Woods vs. Albert Marx.

A week will be allowed for the playing of each round. The President's cup will be awarded the winner at the close of the tournament by Bunn Beasley, McGuire club president.

AUSTRALIAN NET TEAM WINS OVER YUGOSLAVS

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 26.—(AP)—The threat of a brilliant Australian doubles team hung heavy over America's Davis cup holders again tonight as Jack Bromwich and Adrian Quist from "down under" reeled off a straight set victory over Yugoslavia and took a 2-1 lead in the final interzone cup tie.

Decisively outplaying Ferenc Puncec and Frankjo Kukuljevic, the Aussies won almost as they pleased, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3. Only a tennis miracle now can save the Yugoslavs, for the first of tomorrow's singles matches will pit the world-ranking Bromwich against Drago Mitic, a comparatively inexperienced youngster.

Puncec, who upset Bromwich on Thursday, was fully as brilliant as either of the Australians today, but his final match with Quist tomorrow will be only an exhibition unless Mitic can win.

BETTY JAMESON WINS GOLF TITLE

Texas Girl Defeats Dorothy Kirby In National Women's Golf Final

By Bill Boni

[illegible]

It was the first she'd canned of more than 10 feet, but there was another to follow. Miss Kirby, putting all her 120 pounds into her shots, was 30 yards short of the 31st green in two while Miss Jameson, with some 25 pounds more behind her drives, was almost home in two on this 427-yarder.

Then the Atlantan loafed a pitch that might have disheartened any opponent. Her ball hit the cup and rolled around the back edge to stop only inches away for a sure birdie 4. Miss Jameson took out her chipper, laid one to the green 15 feet away, and then knocked in the putt to hold her margin safe.

Miss Kirby won the 32nd when Betty was trapped on her second, but on the 33rd, after Miss Kirby's shot had fallen short, Miss Jameson banged a beauty that stopped only 2 feet from the flag, 204 yards away. That gave her a conceded deuce, put her dormie 3, and the match was over when they halved the 34th.

Frankie [illegible] or St. Louis it's all the same to me."

The Reds kept five persons working all night for two nights returning more than $30,000 in World's Series reservations. . . . Betty Jameson, the Texas girl golfer, is a Pittsburgh grad and learned to play on the Tenison park course at Dallas, where such headliners as Ralph Guldahl and Harry Cooper did their prepping. . . . Washington leads the league in one respect, anyway—the Griffith stadium fences carry the most commercial ads in either major—31. . . . Frankie Frisch will help broadcast the World's Series.

Today's guest star: Lloyd Lewis, Chicago Daily News: "Henry Armstrong and Lou Ambers split each other's lips and eyes for 15 rounds, but Arthur Donovan, the referee, split hairs and Arthur won."

Johnny Vander Meer has gone to Chattanooga to consult a specialist about his flipper. . . . Coast operatives report the Jim Londos act drew only $57 at Redondo Beach, Calif., the other night—a new low. . . . Scouts saw plenty of potential big league talent in the American Legion tournament recently unreeled at Gastonia, N. C. . . . Tom Packs, the wrestling promoter, is trying to put St. Louis back on the big time fight circuit. . . . Harry Markson, publicity chief for Mike Jacobs, is off to Pittsburgh to get the Conn-Bettina steam-up going.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Alice Marble won as expected and the American doubles team won with comparative ease, so it was up to Kay Stammers to save the English team from a shutout in the first day's play of the Wightman cup tennis series today. This she did, with a hard-earned triumph over Helen Jacobs, 6-2, 1-6, 6-3, and tonight the Americans held a lead of only two matches to one.

Three thousand fans banked on the steep slopes of the Forest Hills stadium saw Miss Marble, playing her tennis only when she had to play, turn back Mary Hardwick, No. 2 on the English team, 6-3, 6-4, before Miss Stammers, No. 1 Briton, went on the court to oppose Miss Jacobs.

The left-handed Miss Stammers, driving beautifully and taking full advantage of Miss Jacobs' errors, took the first set at 6-2, only to have the Californian come back with sharp placements, usually to Miss Stammers' backhand, to win the second, 6-1. The third set saw the British girl come with a rush after trailing three games to two to run out the set and match in four straight games.

With the series deadlocked at one-all, Dorothy Bundy and Mary Arnold paired together to defeat the English doubles team of Betty Nuthall and Nina Brown, 6-3, 6-1, and keep the Americans in front in their quest for a ninth straight Wightman cup triumph.

Miss Marble was brilliant and erratic by turns today. Her serving was below par, and in the first set she lost 12 points on net balls.

VETERANS LEAD HAGEN TOURNEY

Ed Dudley And Billie Burke Come From Behind With Sub-Par Golf

By Earl Hilligan

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Coming from far back in the field with a magnificent display of sub-par golf, two 37-year-old veterans of the game, Ed Dudley of Philadelphia and Billie Burke of Cleveland, took over the leadership of the Walter Hagen Invitational tournament at Midlothian Country club today.

At the end of 90 holes of play—five rounds—Dudley and Burke held a plus 10 rating, picking up eight points during the day's 36-hole program. But they were only one point in front of two of the game's younger and extremely "hot" stars, Dick Metz and National Open Champion Byron Nelson, and a thrill-packed stretch fight appeared in prospect for tomorrow's 36-hole windup of a tournament decided on the most plus holes won.

Dudley, one of the game's stylists, and the ruddy-faced Burke picked up two holes this morning at the expense of Hagen and Gene Sarazen. This afternoon the Dudley-Burke team, firing eight birdies, routed Paul Runyan and Horton Smith, 6 up.

Runyan and Smith, who started today's round tied for first place, hit the toboggan to skid into a tie for the cellar spot with Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta.

Nelson, and Metz, who between them have won eight championships this year, scored a smashing six up victory in today's first round over Runyan and Smith. This afternoon, however, those two colorful old timers, Hagen and Sarazen, slowed them down, the match ending with Hagen and Sarazen victorious by one hole.

In third place was the combination of big Ralph Guldahl and Harold (Jug) McSpaden, newly crowned Canadian Open titleholder. They lost two points to Ernie Harrison and Denny Shute this morning as the Harrison-Shute team fired the first of its two best ball rounds of 62 during the day. In the afternoon Guldahl and McSpaden won two holes from Picard-Revolta.

Tommy Armour and Jimmy Thomson had a minus two rating, breaking even with Picard and Revolta this morning and then losing four holes to Shute and Harrison during the afternoon.

without plenty of competition from Hank Taylor of Monroe and Ernie Spence of El Dorado.

Earl Harrist of El Dorado was the prime favorite as right-handed pitcher, with John Yelovic of Monroe and Stan Klopp of Pine Bluff getting only a fair look-in.

There was a warm battle before Kelton Maxfield of Monroe was picked as the team southpaw. He was pushed closely by Jack Kraus of Helena, but won his place on a margin of second-choice votes.

Doug Taitt, commander of the leading Monroe White Sox, was honored with the all-star management in a close duel with L. L. Jones of Clarksdale. One vote separated the two pilots.

All new faces appeared on this year's team, with no repeaters from the 1938 aggregation placing on the current nine. The team was named through a vote of the league's writers, collected and tabulated by the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues press bureau. It is listed below, honorable mention being given to all who received votes but did not place.

AUSTRALIAN NET TEAM WINS OVER YUGOSLAVS

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 26.—(AP)—The threat of a brilliant Australian doubles team hung heavy over America's Davis cup holders again tonight as Jack Bromwich and Adrian Quist from "down under" reeled off a straight set victory over Yugoslavia and took a 2-1 lead in the final interzone cup tie.

Decisively outplaying Ferenc Puncec and Frankjo Kukuljevic, the Aussies won almost as they pleased, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3. Only a tennis miracle now can save the Yugoslavs, for the first of tomorrow's singles matches will pit the world-ranking Bromwich against Drago Mitic, a comparatively inexperienced youngster.

Puncec, who upset Bromwich on Thursday, was fully as brilliant as either of the Australians today, but his final match with Quist tomorrow will be only an exhibition unless Mitic can win.

BETTY JAMESON WINS GOLF TITLE

By Bill Boni

DARIEN, Conn., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Sturdy Betty Jameson, who insists she can't putt, rapped in a 28-footer for a vital half in birdie 4's at the 31st, and thereby became the first Texan ever to win the National Women's golf championship.

The 20-year-old star from San Antonio had to go three more holes to defeat Dorothy Kirby, of Atlanta, 3 and 2, in their 36-hole final of the 43rd title tourney at the Wee Burn club. But for Betty and the gallery of 1,200 that trailed this brilliant match, she had sealed the Slim Georgian's doom with those two putts.

Miss Jameson had been 4 up at the end of the morning 18 holes, when she shot a sparkling 78 and took the lead, never to lose it again, on the fourth hole. She looked an easy winner then, but when she needed 41 strokes to play the outgoing nine in the afternoon, and lost half her margin, there were many who felt the courageous, 19-year-old southerner might haul the match out of the fire.

In the face of this final threat, Miss Jamesson never wavered. Having won the 27th by belting two beautiful wood shots to the green, she played for her pars and got halves on the 28th and 29th. Came the 30th, and Miss Jameson slapped an iron up 28 feet from the cup. Miss Kirby went her six feet better. But it was Betty, who studies every putt as if it were going to be her last one, who rolled the ball into the hole, and she was back to 3 up.

It was the first she'd canned of more than 10 feet, but there was another to follow. Miss Kirby, putting all her 120 pounds into her shots, was 30 yards short of the 31st green in two, while Miss Jameson, with some 25 pounds more behind her drives, was almost home in two on this 427-yarder.

Then the Atlantan loafed a pitch that might have disheartened any opponent. Her ball hit the cup and rolled around the back edge to stop only inches away for a sure birdie 4. Miss Jameson took out her chipper, laid one to the green 15 feet away, and then knocked in the putt to hold her margin safe.

Miss Kirby won the 32nd when Betty was trapped on her second, but on the 33rd, after Miss Kirby's shot had fallen short, Miss Jameson banged a beauty that stopped only 2 feet from the flag, 204 yards away. That gave her a conceded deuce, put her dormie 3, and the match was over when they halved the 34th.

ORLEANS YOUTH REACHES MEN'S, JUNIORS' FINALS

EL DORADO, Ark., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Hard stroking Louis Schopfer, 17-year-old New Orleans youth, became the sensation of the Tri-State Tennis tournament today by brushing aside determined opposition to reach both the men's and junior singles finals.

The eighth seeded Schopfer hurdled Smith Dodson of Dallas in the men's semi-finals, 4-6, 6-0, 8-6, the match being played on a two out of three set basis by agreement.

Third seeded George Dunklin, Pine Bluff, will meet the Louisianan in tomorrow's championship competition. The Arkansan defeated Tom McSpadden of Muskogee, 6-2, 1-6, 6-1, 6-2.

W. E. Hester, Jr., Jackson, Miss., 1938 champ, did not enter this year's play.

Women's singles finals will bring together Margie Murray of Galveston, Tex., and Mildred Crowe Walford of Shreveport, La. The former put out Mildred Reddick of Dallas, 6-3, 6-2, and the latter Lucy Mouledous, New Orleans, 6-0, 6-3.

be ready to return to the lineup but it is doubtful if he will be used in the infield, if at all. Hill earlier this season filled in at second.

Thus the lineup for the playoff, with exception of the pitcher, probably will be Bobby Schang behind the bat; Murrell Jones at first base; Pruitt at second; Johnny Conway at shortstop; Doug Taitt at third base; and Frank Hargrove, Dale Englehorn and Hank Taylor in left, center and right fields, respectively.

The first game of the playoff between Monroe and Hot Springs will be played at Casino park Tuesday night, with the second game scheduled here Wednesday night. Both games will start at 8:15 o'clock. The teams then will move to Hot Springs to finish the series.

Greenwood, Clarksdale and Hot Springs are reported in good condition for the series. Pitcher Hickey, of Hot Springs, who has been on the suspended list because of illness, was reinstated Thursday, thus bringing the Bathers up to full strength.

blows for the visitors with a triple and a single in five times at bat.

The Lions took a two run lead in the first inning with the help of errors, and the Sox scored once in their half of the first. El Dorado lead was stretched with one more run in the fourth, but the locals knotted the score in their half of the fourth and forged ahead with another tally in the fifth and maintained their lead through the rest of the game.

The initial El Dorado runs in the first inning were unearned. Ray Bagrosky was safe when Hargrove dropped his fly into left field and he scored on Eddie Dancisak's double as Schang let the throw in to the plate get past him. Dancisak went on to third on the play at the plate and scored when Manager Frank O'Rourke grounded out.

With one out in the fourth inning, Woody Tone doubled into right field and added another Lion tally as he scored on a single by John Cleks into center field.

The Sox tied the score in the same inning, however. Conway led off with a double. Hargrove grounded to Oleks and was safe at first as Oleks elected to stop Conway at third. Conway beat the throw to third, however. Both Conway and Hargrove scored on Murrell Jones' double against the left field fence.

After two were out in the fifth frame the Sox went ahead with one run. Bob Hill, back in the Monroe lineup for the first time since his injury in a game here August 6, doubled into left field and scored on Hargrove's single into center field.

The Sox scored once more in the seventh when Englehorn singled, went to third on Conway's single and scored on Hargrove's third hit of the game. The final Monroe run crossed the plate in the eighth. Hank Taylor beat out an infield hit, went to second on Pruitt's single into center field, and scored on Englehorn's single into center field.

ENGLISH NET TEAM SHUTOUT THWARTED BY KAY STAMMERS

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Alice Marble won as expected and the American doubles team won with comparative ease, so it was up to Kay Stammers to save the English team from a shutout in the first day's play of the Wightman cup tennis series today. This she did, with a hard-earned triumph over Helen Jacobs, 6-2, 1-6, 6-3, and tonight the Americans held a lead of only two matches to one.

Three thousand fans banked on the steep slopes of the Forest Hills stadium saw Miss Marble, playing her tennis only when she had to play, turn back Mary Hardwick, No. 2 on the English team, 6-3, 6-4, before Miss Stammers, No. 1 Briton, went on the court to oppose Miss Jacobs.

The left-handed Miss Stammers, driving beautifully and taking full advantage of Miss Jacobs' errors, took the first set at 6-2, only to have the Californian come back with sharp placements, usually to Miss Stammers' backhand, to win the second, 6-1. The third set saw the British girl come with a rush after trailing three games to two to run out the set and match in four straight games.

With the series deadlocked at one-all, Dorothy Bundy and Mary Arnold paired together to defeat the English doubles team of Betty Nuthall and Nina Brown, 6-3, 6-1, and keep the Americans in front in their quest for a ninth straight Wightman cup triumph.

Miss Marble was brilliant and erratic by turns today. Her serving was below par, and in the first set she lost 12 points on net balls.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Wall Street generally guessed "no war" today and an early buying rush in the stock market pushed leaders up one to more than three points.

While the overseas picture seemed a trifle brighter, traders inclined to cash profits on the upswing in view of the fact a week-end is intervening during which the long-dreaded explosion could occur.

The result was that activity slackened somewhat after the opening but final prices in most cases were not far from the best. Transfers for the two hours were around 500,000 shares.

There was a further mild revival of the optimism which touched off yesterday's rally as Hitler's terms for peace with Poland, supposedly given British Ambassador Henderson at the lengthy Friday conference, were delivered to the government at London and Prime Minister Chamberlain summoned an emergency cabinet meeting for later in the day.

Although actual details of the fuehrer's proposals were not forthcoming during the market session, unofficial word from Rome indicated they were much less drastic than had been expected and might possibly lead to a compromise that would avert another world conflagration. In addition, the second Roosevelt message to Hitler was seen as a constructive move to alleviate international tension.

At the same time there were still doubters in boardrooms that "der tag" was not imminent and some speculative forces remained in neutral territory notwithstanding the opinion of a number of analysts that, war or no war, American industry would maintain its forward stride. In the meantime the French called up more troops and all frontiers bristled with huge military preparations.

Prominent stocks on the forward tilt were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, American Water Works, General Electric, Loft, Great Northern, Union Pacific, Anaconda, American Telephone, United States Rubber, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, International Harvester, Standard Oil of New Jersey and Texas Corporation.

Bid up fractions to more than a point in the curb were Electric Bond and Share, Lockheed, American Cyanamid "B" and Standard Steel Spring.

Wheat, usually up as war threatens, dipped further at Chicago and Winnipeg. Bonds improved all around, led by United States governments, corporation issues and a number of recently sick foreign dollar loans.

With the support of the British exchange control withdrawn from sterling, the pound again fluctuated erratically, mostly at lower levels. The London bar gold rate was boosted to another record high.

SQUALUS MAY BE BROUGHT UP TODAY

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Salvagers seeking to raise the $4,000,000 submarine Squalus and her 26 dead closed the craft's high induction valve today and predicted she might be brought to the surface late tomorrow or Monday.

Leaks around torpedo tubes were discovered when air was pumped into the hull after the valve was closed and a pump was set up immediately on the deck of the salvage ship Falcon to draw out tons of water remaining in the craft.

Salvagers planned to submerge two pontoons early tomorrow, attaching one to the bow of the Squalus and the other to the stern to assist in the lift. Plans call for the Squalus to rise bow first of her own buoyancy once sufficient air is blown into the hull.

2 NEWSPAPERS IN CHICAGO MERGING

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Chicago Herald and Examiner carried an announcement tonight that, effective Monday, it would be merged with the Evening American under the title of the Chicago Herald-American, an afternoon and Sunday newspaper.

The Herald and Examiner, one of Chicago's two morning newspapers, and the American are members of the William Randolph Hearst newspaper chain.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Mrs. [illegible] Abney Short, 42, of Avondale, wife of Sam B. Short, assistant traffic manager of the Standard Oil company, died at Baptist hospital today of burns received at her home last Sunday.

The coroner reported a cigarette set Mrs. Short's bedclothes afire, and that she died of second and third-degree burns of the body and extremities. Avondale is across the Mississippi river near here.

Survivors are her husband, a son, Jimmie, a brother, I. G. Abney of Shreveport, and two sisters, Mrs. [illegible] of Baton Rouge and Mrs. J. H. Baxter of Emerson, Ark.

JACQUELINE COCHRAN SETS AIR SPEED MARK

BURBANK, Calif., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Jacqueline Cochran set a new national air record for 1,000 kilometers today, flying from Burbank to San Francisco and return at an average speed of 214.95 miles an hour.

The former record, which she established two years ago, was 203.895 m.p.h.

Elapsed time over the 621-mile course was two hours, 53 minutes and 30 seconds.

She flew most of the way at 14,000 feet.

FIVE INJURED AS TWO AUTOS CRASH

Four Employes Of Monroe Hardware Company Hurt In Winnsboro Road Mishap

Five persons were injured in an automobile accident late last night about three miles southeast of here on the Winnsboro road.

They were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Taylor, C. C. Kleinschmidt and Miss Lucille Nettleship, all employes of the Monroe Hardware company, and W. B. Watson who lives at Spanish City near the Monroe city limits.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor suffered lacerations and bruises about the body and head; Kleinschmidt received a fractured right arm and lacerations about the head; Miss Nettleship was treated for lacerations and bruises; and Watson suffered a deep laceration on his forehead and minor cuts about the body.

The hardware company employes were all treated at Vaughan-Wright-Bendel clinic, and only Mrs. Taylor and Kleinschmidt remained there last night. Watson was a patient at St. Francis sanitarium.

The accident, details of which were not available, occurred about 11 p.m. near Ticheli's store. Watson was in an automobile coming toward Monroe, it was stated, and the other party was traveling away from the city when the machines crashed.

COMMUNISTS CAUSE SAN ANTONIO RIOT

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Bull-shouldered Mayor Maury Maverick, former liberal congressman, remained silent today under threats of recall following rioting which broke up a Communist rally, demolished Municipal auditorium furnishings and injured possibly two score persons.

The mayor, who had pledged safety for a handful of Communists in their attempted meeting last night and backed up his promise of free speech and assembly for the party unit with 200 police and firemen who used tear gas and fire hoses in a futile effort to halt the mob, brushed aside questions with a terse "No comment."

Except for News Photographer George Bartholomew of San Antonio, struck on the head by a flying brick, none of the disabled received serious injuries.

Hurtling rocks, mudballs and flying glass from shattered windows in the Communists' meeting room dispersed the assembly of 100, including a dozen negroes, whose leaders repeatedly were howled down.

QUEZON OBJECTS TO GOLDWYN FILM

U. S. PEACE URGED AT V. F. W. MEETING

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Sounding what may be the keynote of the national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars opening here tomorrow, Commander Eugene I. Van Antwerp told arriving delegates today "we must insist that our nation avoid any entangling alliance which will involve our people in a war which does not directly concern our position as a world power."

Commander Van Antwerp asserted "we are not afraid to fight, and we believe our records will uphold this statement, but we are vigorously opposed to the useless sacrifices of American manhood in wars between other nations motivated by a spirit of avarice and greed."

In a similar vein, Mrs. Anna Mae Lockner, of St. Petersburg, Fla., the national president of the women's auxiliary of the V. F. W., declared the convention "should serve to dramatize our prayers for peace, not peace at any price but peace that will guarantee our every security both as individuals and as a nation."

PROPAGANDA IS 'FLOODING U. S.'

Dies Committee Asserts Hundreds Of Agents Of Other Nations Busy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Dies committee charged today that "hundreds" of agents of foreign governments were flooding this country with propaganda "through every medium of communication of ideas" in an effort to shape American foreign policy.

In a special report, the committee asserted it had "substantial evidence" of well-financed activities by many agents in violation of the statute requiring them to register with the state department.

(Under an act of congress, all agents of foreign governments, companies or individuals are required to register with the state department and give full information as to their activities and remuneration. The report said only 351 such agents had registered as of July 12, 1939.)

Asserting that American resources "may well become the decisive factor in any war wager in the world today," the committee said there appeared to be two major groupings of nations attempting to win this country to their side.

"The first of these is the London-Paris entente; the second, the Berlin-Rome axis; and in addition to these, Russia is in a special category," the report continued.

"All of the propagandistic slogans to the contrary notwithstanding, both of the principal combinations and Russia have certain vital interests to protect, interests which appeal to the American people only when they are shrewdly concealed under false slogans.

"When all of the war slogans have been stripped away from the underlying interests which they conceal, it is plain on the one hand that certain nations have empires and want to keep them and on the other hand that other nations do not have empires (not imposing ones at least) but want to acquire them. Moscow's special interest—clearly established by its own propaganda over many years—is that these opposing combinations shall destroy each other, and that proletarian revolution and dictatorship shall be extended on that destruction. These are the issues reduced to their simplest terms."

RECORD SPEED MADE IN SENDING PICTURE

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A new speed record in transmitting pictures from Europe to newspapers in the United States was established today when an Associated Press picture of Sir Nevile Henderson's arrival in London was delivered by transatlantic cable and wire photo.

The top "spot" picture of the day was filed for transatlantic transmission ahead of all others—showing the ambassador alighting from his plane as he brought to London Hitler's latest demands.

Transmission from London started just after 8 a.m., eastern standard time. It was received directly in the Associated Press office in New York, in negative form, so fast that by 8:38 a.m. retransmission over the vast wire photo network began.

SQUALUS MAY BE BROUGHT UP TODAY

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Salvagers seeking to raise the $4,000,000 submarine Squalus and her 26 dead closed the craft's high induction valve today and predicted she might be brought to the surface late tomorrow or Monday.

Leaks around torpedo tubes were discovered when air was pumped into the hull after the valve was closed, and a pump was set up immediately on the deck of the salvage ship Falcon to draw out tons of water remaining in the craft.

Salvagers planned to submerge two pontoons early tomorrow, attaching one to the bow of the Squalus and the other to the stern to assist in the lift. Plans call for the Squalus to rise bow first of her own buoyancy once sufficient air is blown into the hull.

ANNENBERGS POST BOND IN TAX CASE

WOUNDED WOMAN PICKET SUCCUMBS

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A woman picket, shot and wounded Wednesday during a labor controversy at a seafood packing plant at Violet, La., died today in Charity hospital here.

The woman, Mrs. John B. Treadaway, 52, was shot through the abdomen during an exchange of pistol fire between men sympathizers with the women's picket line and occupants of an automobile which attempted to drive through the line.

After her death District Attorney Leander H. Perez of St. Bernard parish, adjacent to New Orleans, said he would call a meeting of the grand jury for Tuesday to lay before them evidence he had obtained from a number of witnesses.

Members of the Violet Seaford Workers' association, of which the victim of the shooting was a member, were picketing the plant of the Dunbar-Dukate company, Inc., in a controversy over wages.

BLAST BLOWS FIVE PERSONS TO BITS

HOLDEN, Me., Aug. 26.—(AP)—A man, a woman and three children were blown to bits and four other persons severely injured tonight when a quantity of dynamite aboard a truck exploded here, littering the countryside with debris.

The five victims, all occupants of the light delivery truck, were the driver, Joseph Moffett, 38; Mrs. Chester Grindle, 37, and her three children, Margaret, 15, Stella, 9 and Marion, 7, all of Ellsworth.

Two automobiles traveling in opposite directions were blown from the highway by the force of the blast, which aroused this northeastern Maine town of 543 inhabitants.

Joseph J. Muir of Bangor, an occupant of one of the machines, was not expected to live. He and two companions, Mrs. Annie Harlow and her 12-year-old son, Lawrence, of Bangor, were taken to a Bangor hospital.

BURNS FATAL TO AVONDALE WOMAN

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Lorene Abney Short, 42, of Avondale, wife of Sam B. Short, assistant traffic manager of the Standard Oil company, died at Baptist hospital today of burns received at her home last Sunday.

The coroner reported a cigarette set Mrs. Short's bedclothes afire, and that she died of second and third-degree burns of the body and extremities. Avondale is across the Mississippi river near here.

Survivors are her husband, a son, Jimmie; a brother, I. G. Abney of Shreveport, and two sisters, Mrs. Lois Hunt of Baton Rouge, and Mrs. J. H. Butler of Emerson, Ark.

JACQUELINE COCHRAN SETS AIR SPEED MARK

BURBANK, Calif., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Jacqueline Cochran set a new national air record for 1,000 kilometers today, flying from Burbank to San Francisco and return at an average speed of 214.95 miles an hour.

The former record, which she established two years ago, was 203.895 m.p.h.

Elapsed time over the 621-mile course was two hours, 53 minutes and 30 seconds.

She flew most of the way at 14,000 feet.

The international record for 1,000 kilometers is 325 m.p.h., established by Furio Niclot in 1937.

The flight, Miss Cochran said, served as a tune-up for her new Seversky military pursuit plane for the Bendix trans-continental air race early in September.

Martha Files Of Oak Ridge Becomes Bride Of Harry St. John, Jr., Of Monroe

Young Couple United In Church Ceremony

Bride Is Attended By Sister, Mrs. Tilden Austin; Father Of Bridegroom Best Man

Prominent among the weddings of the past week was the marriage of Miss Martha Files, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Files of Oak Ridge, to Mr. Harry A. St. John, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. St. John, Sr., of Shreveport. The wedding was solemnized Wednesday morning, August 23, at the Church of the Redeemer in Oak Ridge, with Rev. Leslie K. Young, officiating.

Snowy waxen tapers, in white graduated standards, were placed in the foreground of the chancel, which was banked with summer flowers, pink and white, intermingled with trailing fern.

Preceding the nuptial ceremony a program of music was rendered by Miss Dorothy Hathcox, pianist, who played Kreisler's "Old Refrain," Rubinstein's "Romance," "Love Dreams" and the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin.

The bridal party entered with the introductory notes of the wedding march and the bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a navy ensemble with accessories of periwinkle blue. Her frock, an advanced fall model, was fashioned with skirt of navy sheer with bodice of frosted blue. She carried an arm bouquet of pink radiance roses, caught with a bow and loops of pink satin ribbon.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. J. Tilden Austin, of Monroe, who wore a dress fashioned on similar lines, with bodice of frosted pink. Her hat and accessories were of dusky pink. She also carried on arm bouquet of radiance roses.

The groom was attended by his father, Mr. Harry St. John, Sr., and the ushers were Mr. William Barham and Mr. Steven Gibson.

Immediately after the wedding ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the reception suite was banked with ferns and summer flowers. Urns and floor baskets, filled with vari-colored blossoms, afforded a lovely setting for the members of the receiving line, who were the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Harry St. John, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Files, Sr., Mrs. J. Tilden Austin and Mrs. L. G. Robinson of Bastrop.

Mrs. St. John, mother of the groom, wore a becoming model of navy sheer. Mrs. Files, mother of the bride, was lovely in navy and white chiffon, while Mrs. Robinson was dressed in a frock of white sheer.

In the dining room the lace-covered table was centered with a bouquet of white bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The wedding cake, a heart-shaped confection, was outlined with a fluted ruffle of Chentilly lace and decorated with calla lilies and pastel morning glories.

The bride's traveling costume was a smart model of black sheer with harmonizing accessories. The couple will spend their honeymoon on the gulf coast, and upon their return will be at home to their friends in Monroe.

The bride attended the Louisiana State Normal, where she graduated, and has for the past two years taught school in Bastrop. She is a member of the Phi Kappa Sigma sorority. Mr. St. John attended Northeast Junior college. He is a member of the Delta Sigma fraternity and is connected with the United Gas company.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Gertrude Carey, Kilgore, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Files, Houma, La.; Mrs. E. B. Folse, Miss Elizabeth Folse, Miss Winifred Folse, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson, Mr. John H. A study of the folk songs and operas of many nations will be included in the course of study planned by the year book committee of the Fine Arts club for the club year beginning October 9th and ending May 13, 1940.

The October, January and April meetings will be devoted to a study of the operas Tanhauser, Il Trovatore and Carmeren, while folk songs of England and Ireland will be the subject for study during November and March. Songs of the American Indians will be studied at the February meeting. The December meeting will be given to the celebration of the holiday season with a banquet and appropriate program. Winding up the year's activities will be a musicale and art exhibit which will be in charge of artist members of the club.

The year book committee includes Mrs. E. Everett Lawson, Mrs. Paul Newman, Mrs. Morgan Simonton and Mr. Leon Hammonds.

Officers for the new club year are Mrs. Fred Thatcher, president; Miss Juanita Porter, vice-president; Mr. Joe Craig, recording secretary; Mrs. Paul Newman, corresponding secretary; Mr. Bernie Wilenzick, treasurer; Miss Elizabeth Guthrell, parliamentarian; Mrs. W. J. Veazey, historian and Mrs. C. C. Carroll, librarian.

Girl Scouts Enjoying Outing On Gulf Coast

The following clipping from the Biloxi Daily Herald reports the activities of a group of Girl Scouts who went down to the coast last week:

"A group of 21 Girl Scouts from troop 1 of Monroe, La., under the direction of Mrs. E. F. Kenny, chairman, and Mrs. F. L. Whittington, scout captain, assisted by Mrs. Kenny's husband, E. F. Kenny, and George Vallery, are spending a week at the scout camp, Bayou Bernard. The troop, organized in December, gave several special events during the year to finance the trip to the coast. The trip was made in a school bus driven by Joe Brantley. They also have with them a colored maid as cook.

"The party made a trip to Biloxi Tuesday, where they inspected a canning factory; Wednesday was spent at Henderson Point, where they swam and played, Thursday evening they were entertained with a wiener roast, and they are spending today on Ship island. This is the first trip to the coast for many in the troop and they are well pleased with the section. They will leave for Monroe Monday.

"Mr and Mrs Kenny will visit Mrs. Kenny's relatives in Clairmont Harbor before returning to Monroe."

Katheryn Gerlach Weds Alvin Roberts

Miss Katheryn Gerlach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Gerlach of Clarks, became the bride of T. Alvin Roberts, son of Mrs. Ethel Duke Roberts of Alexandria and the late W. R. Roberts, on Sunday morning August 20, at nine o'clock.

The vows were exchanged before the altar in the Baptist church at Clarks. The sacred edifice was decordated with ferns and asters. Simplicity characterized the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Paul Jones, pastor.

The maid of honor, Miss Carmon Gerlach, a sister of the bride, was attired in a dress of moss green tropical wool with accessories of rust. Her corsage was of Peruvian lillies.

The bride was lovely in a costume suit fashioned of cognac rust sheer wool. The dress was finished with a touch of gold at the neck, and a wide shirred silk girdle. The collarless waist-length coat hung in straight lines and was trimmed in a self material braid. Her accessories were marine green, and her corsage of talisman roses and valley lillies. For something old she wore her mother's old fashioned yellow gold bracelet.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for the wedding party, relatives and intimate friends. The bride's table was covered with an exquisite Irish lace cloth, a family heirloom made by her paternal grandmother. The tiered bridal cake, resting on a large reflector encircled with roses and clematis, formed the table center. Crystal salvers of mints were at the sides. The silver coffee service, at the table's end, was presided over by Mrs. A. W. Johnson. Mrs. S. H. Allbritton assisted the bride in serving the wedding cake.

Mrs. Roberts is a graduate of the Clarks High school and of S. L. I. at Lafayette. She is employed as bookkeeper in the Louisiana Central lumber company's store at Clarks.

After his graduation from the Pollock High school, Mr. Roberts was associated with his father, the late W. R. Roberts, as a contractor. He is now employed in this capacity by the Louisiana Central Lumber company at Clarks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Birdsong and children, Jane and Buddy, have returned from a most enjoyable four weeks' trip in the east, where they visited Mrs. Birdsong's sister in New York City and attended the world's fair. En route Mr. Birdsong attended the world's poultry conference in Cleveland, O., where he participated in the program. On their return trip they visited relatives in Greenville, Pa., and Knoxville and Pulaski, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Ormby of Chilicotchie, Tex., have returned home, accompanied by Mrs. D. L. Frost, who was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Russell during her visit in Monroe, as far as Shreveport.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest J. Linquist and daughters, Alma Jean and Maurine, have returned from a most enjoyable vacation spent in Colorado and New Mexico.

Miss Morin, To Wed August 31, Is Feted

Delightful Affairs Given In Her Honor Include Showers, Luncheon And Barbecue

Miss Alice Morin, whose marriage to Mr. Francis Barnett, will take place August 31 at the First Methodist church, has been the honoree at several delightful affairs during the past week, including a miscellaneous shower with Miss Elizabeth Benton and Miss Winifred Johnson co-hostesses, a luncheon given by Miss Beatrice Burgoyne and Mrs. Alyne Newsom, a shower by Mrs. Clyde Hart and Mrs. Earl Hitt, and a barbecue by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Spence.

Miss Burgoyne and Mrs. Newsom entertained with a beautifully appointed luncheon at the Virginia hotel last week for Miss Morin. The table, centered with a bouquet of pink asters and a bridal motif, seated the following guests: Mrs. S. E. Burgoyne, Miss Virginia Scheen, Miss Elizabetth Benton, Mrs. H. C. Aehle, Mrs. Sybil Cooper, Mrs. Alyne Newsom and the guest of honor.

On Tuesday evening, Mrs. Hart and Mrs. Hitt were charming hostesses at a surprise kitchen shower for Miss Morin. The living room was attractively decorated with a profusion of early autumn flowers and a wedding bell hung suspended from the ceiling. The table was centered with an oval mirror on which was placed a miniature bride and groom standing under an arch, from which was suspended a wedding bell. Rose of Montana was entwined about the arch and trailed along the table. Pink and white mints, ice cream and individual cakes, iced in white and embossed with pink rose buds, were served to the guests during the evening. Miss Morin was the recipient of many beautiful as well as useful gifts at this time.

Guests enjoying this affair were: Miss Morin, Mrs. Doris Speight, Mrs. Alyne Newsom, Mrs. Clyde Warner, Miss Elizabeth Benton, Mrs. Dick Berry, Miss Virginia Scheen, Mrs. H. C. Aehle, Mrs. J. D. Mayes, Miss Beatrice Burgoyne, Mrs. W. C. Bridges, Mrs. M. E. Bell, Mrs. Tom Davis, Mrs. Raymond Spence, Mrs. W. H. Burgoyne, Miss Jackie Gulley and Miss Dot Lively.

Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Spence were hosts at an enjoyable steak barbecue at their home in West Monroe, complimentary to Miss Morin and her fiance, Mr. Barnett. Enjoying this occasion were Miss Morin, Mr. Barnett, Miss Beatrice Burgoyne, Miss Ann Elizabeth Benton, Miss Virginia Scheen, Mr. Frank Looney, Mr. Jesse Heard, Mr. William Hooker, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Aehle, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Berry and Mrs. L. D. Mayes.

On Saturday, Miss Virginia Scheen and Mrs. W. T. Davis entertained for Miss Morin with a luncheon at the Virginia hotel and Miss Dorothy Lively was hostess this morning at a breakfast at the Virginia hotel.

Wednesday evening, Mrs. W. H. Burgoyne will entertain the members of the bridal party after rehearsal.

Deaf Students Are Entertained

An interesting affair was given last week, when a group of deaf pupils, who will leave September 13 for school in Baton Rouge, were entertained with a picnic by friends and relatives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hinton in the Hedron community near Jonesboro. The picnic, which is an annual affair, was held last Sunday and was featured by a sumptuous dinner spread on long tables on the lawn of the Hinton home.

Present on this occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Jones and sons Jerry, Lee and Harold, Jonesboro; L. O. May, Max Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wherland, Margaret Wherland, Hodge; Miss Jewell Nash, Quitman; Archie Narred, Dodson; Nathan Hester, Mrs. Thelma Hester, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Receiving the guests were Mrs. Weaks, Mrs. H. D. Helm, Miss Bower Weaks, Mrs. Barringer, Mrs. Rowland and Mrs. Fudickar.

Mrs. Weaks, the honoree, wore on this occasion a becoming frock of sheer blue and a corsage of pink rose buds. Mrs. Helm, mother of the bride, also wore a becoming model of blue sheer. Mrs. Barringer wore a frock of blue lace. Mrs. Rowland wore turquoise blue and Miss Weaks was lovely in a crisp summer frock of white swiss. Mrs. Fudickar wore pink lace.

Assisting in extending courtesies to the guests were Mrs. George Trousdale and Mrs. James Trousdale, who received the guests at the door, Mrs. Harvey Trousdale, Mrs. Bruce Frizell, Mrs. Frances Barringer, Mrs. Gordon Wright, Mrs. Allan Sholars, Mrs. Maude Stubbs, Mrs. Henry Bernstein, Mrs. Ruby Stewart.

An effective color scheme of pink and blue was reflected in the flowers and decorative motif employed in the dining room. The long banquet table, an heirloom, inherited from Mrs. Fudickar's grandmother, was covered with Venetian lace over pink taffeta. Low bowls filled with pink roses centered the table and pink tapers in silver holders were placed at intervals along the board. Punch bowls were placed at the ends of the table and Mrs. L. D. Mobley and Mrs. Percy Sandel served punch. Assisting in the dining room were Miss Ann Johnson, Miss Eileen McKinnon, Miss Thyra Holt and Miss Ellen Hale.

Mrs. Ed Seymour presided at the beautifully appointed coffee table in the back hall, where she poured coffee from the silver service for the guests.

More than two hundred called during the morning.

The Monroe Art association met at the home of Mrs. J. A. Winkler, Jr., 205 Lazarre avenue, West Monroe, on Tuesday, August 22, at 9:30 a.m., to plan the coming year's work.

The members voted to have the association meet every first and third Thursday at 4:30 p.m. at some member's home, instead of every first and third Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at the Y. W. C. A.

An exhibition of paintings by Monroe and West Monroe artists of parish scenes will be held during the district Kiwanis convention on the Cherokee terrace of Hotel Frances September 2-4. The public is invited to view these paintings.

A number of exhibitions will be held this year at Miss Mary Bergevin's art studio, sponsored by the members of the art association.

After a most interesting meeting iced drinks were served to the following members: Mrs. H. M. James, Mrs. Childress Armstrong of Delhi, Mrs. Rene McCord, Mrs. D. F. Dennis, Miss Mary Bergevin, Mrs. S. Pipes, Miss Cecile Smith and guest, Mrs. Fred Thatcher, Mrs. H. R. Saenger and Mrs. J. A. Winkler, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wilkins and sons, A. W. and Danforth, have returned from a pleasant visit to Memphis, Tenn.

Katheryn Gerlach Weds Alvin Roberts

Miss Katheryn Gerlach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Gerlach of Clarks, became the bride of T. Alvin Roberts, son of Mrs. Ethel Duke Roberts of Alexandria and the late W. R. Roberts, on Sunday morning August 20, at nine o'clock.

The vows were exchanged before the altar in the Baptist church at Clarks. The sacred edifice was decordated with ferns and asters. Simplicity characterized the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Paul Jones, pastor.

The maid of honor, Miss Carmon Gerlach, a sister of the bride, was attired in a dress of moss green tropical wool with accessories of rust. Her corsage was of Peruvian lillies.

The bride was lovely in a costume suit fashioned of cognac rust sheer wool. The dress was finished with a touch of gold at the neck, and a wide shirred silk girdle. The collarless waist-length coat hung in straight lines and was trimmed in a self material braid. Her accessories were marine green, and her corsage of talisman roses and valley lillies. For something old she wore her mother's old fashioned yellow gold bracelet.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for the wedding party, relatives and intimate friends. The bride's table was covered with an exquisite Irish lace cloth, a family heirloom made by her paternal grandmother. The tiered bridal cake, resting on a large reflector encircled with roses and clematis, formed the table center. Crystal salvers of mints were at the sides. The silver coffee service, at the table's end, was presided over by Mrs. A. W. Johnson. Mrs. S. H. Allbritton assisted the bride in serving the wedding cake.

Mrs. Roberts is a graduate of the Clarks High school and of S. L. I. at Lafayette. She is employed as bookkeeper in the Louisiana Central lumber company's store at Clarks.

After his graduation from the Pollock High school, Mr. Roberts was associated with his father, the late W. R. Roberts, as a contractor. He is now employed in this capacity by the Louisiana Central Lumber company at Clarks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Huhner and interesting little family have just returned from a delightful vacation spent in New Orleans, Biloxi, Gulfport and other points along the coast.

Marjorie and Carver Wikins are enjoying a visit with relatives in Baton Rouge and Eunice, La.

Miss Elsie Henry and Miss Octave Register are spending the week-end in Shreveport, where they are the guests of Miss Dorotthy Layne.

Miss Mildred Keller has returned from a trip to New Orleans and the gulf coast, where she has been visiting friends and relatives. She was accompanuied home by Miss Marie Poelman of New Orleans, who was a classmate of Miss Betty Keller at Uruline academy, where Miss Keller graduated in June.

Miss Linda Rae Erick is leaving Sunday morning for Enid, Okla., for a two weeks' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Erick. Before returning she will spend a few days with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gray Lamb, in Tulsa, Okla.

Miss June Legendre of New Iberia, is the charming guest of Miss Margaret Butler this week.

Friends are welcoming Miss Irene Ivey, formerly of Bastrop, who will make her home with Miss Belle Newhall and Miss Irene Newhall on Arkansas avenue.

Rev. and Mrs. James R. Cain of Shreveport are guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Pankey this week.

Friends of Mrs. J. O. Pilcher, 702 Stubbs avenue, will regret to learn that she recently had the misfortune to break her arm.

Mrs. J. G. Wiley is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Fluker this week at their home on North Fourth street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Birdsong and children, Jane and Buddy, have returned from a most enjoyable four weeks' trip in the east, where they visited Mrs. Birdsong's sister in New York City and attended the world's fair. En route Mr. Birdsong attended the world's poultry conference in Cleveland, O., where he participated in the program. On their return trip they visited relatives in Greenville, Pa., and Knoxville and Pulaski, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Ormby of Chilicotchie, Tex., have returned home, accompanied by Mrs. D. L. Frost, who was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Russell during her visit in Monroe, as far as Shreveport.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest J. Linquist and daughters, Alma Jean and Maurine, have returned from a most enjoyable vacation spent in Colorado and New Mexico.

Miss Morin, To Wed August 31, Is Feted

Delightful Affairs Given In Her Honor Include Showers, Luncheon And Barbecue

Miss Alice Morin, whose marriage to Mr. Francis Barnett, will take place August 31 at the First Methodist church, has been the honoree at several delightful affairs during the past week, including a miscellaneous shower with Miss Elizabeth Benton and Miss Winifred Johnson co-hostesses, a luncheon given by Miss Beatrice Burgoyne and Mrs. Alyne Newsom, a shower by Mrs. Clyde Hart and Mrs. Earl Hitt, and a barbecue by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Spence.

Miss Burgoyne and Mrs. Newsom entertained with a beautifully appointed luncheon at the Virginia hotel last week for Miss Morin. The table, centered with a bouquet of pink asters and a bridal motif, seated the following guests: Mrs. S. E. Burgoyne, Miss Virginia Scheen, Miss Elizabetth Benton, Mrs. H. C. Aehle, Mrs. Sybil Cooper, Mrs. Alyne Newsom and the guest of honor.

On Tuesday evening, Mrs. Hart and Mrs. Hitt were charming hostesses at a surprise kitchen shower for Miss Morin. The living room was attractively decorated with a profusion of early autumn flowers and a wedding bell hung suspended from the ceiling. The table was centered with an oval mirror on which was placed a miniature bride and groom standing under an arch, from which was suspended a wedding bell. Rose of Montana was entwined about the arch and trailed along the table. Pink and white mints, ice cream and individual cakes, iced in white and embossed with pink rose buds, were served to the guests during the evening. Miss Morin was the recipient of many beautiful as well as useful gifts at this time.

Guests enjoying this affair were: Miss Morin, Mrs. Doris Speight, Mrs. Alyne Newsom, Mrs. Clyde Warner, Miss Elizabeth Benton, Mrs. Dick Berry, Miss Virginia Scheen, Mrs. H. C. Aehle, Mrs. J. D. Mayes, Miss Beatrice Burgoyne, Mrs. W. C. Bridges, Mrs. M. E. Bell, Mrs. Tom Davis, Mrs. Raymond Spence, Mrs. W. H. Burgoyne, Miss Jackie Gulley and Miss Dot Lively.

Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Spence were hosts at an enjoyable steak barbecue at their home in West Monrce, complimentary to Miss Morin and her fiance, Mr. Barnett. Enjoying this occasion were Miss Morin, Mr. Barnett, Miss Beatrice Burgoyne, Miss Ann Elizabeth Benton, Miss Virginia Scheen, Mr. Frank Looney, Mr. Jesse Heard, Mr. William Hooker, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Aehle, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Berry and Mrs. L. D. Mayes.

On Saturday, Miss Virginia Scheen and Mrs. W. T. Davis entertained for Miss Morin with a luncheon at the Virginia hotel and Miss Dorothy Lively was hostess this morning at a breakfast at the Virginia hotel.

Wednesday evening, Mrs. W. H. Burgoyne will entertain the members of the bridal party after rehearsal.

Deaf Students Are Entertained

An interesting affair was given last week, when a group of deaf pupils, who will leave September 13 for school in Baton Rouge, were entertained with a picnic by friends and relatives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hinton in the Hedron community near Jonesboro. The picnic, which is an annual affair, was held last Sunday and was featured by a sumptuous dinner spread on long tables on the lawn of the Hinton home.

Present on this occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Jones and sons Jerry, Lee and Harold, Jonesboro; L. O. May, Max Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wherland, Margaret Wherland, Hodge; Miss Jewell Nash, Quitman; Archie Narred, Dodson; Nathan Hester, Mrs. Thelma Hester, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Gardner, Aurelia Gardner, Thomas E. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Ferguson, Ludie Ferguson, Emma Ferguson, Ann Ferguson, Elsie Ferguson, Laverne Walters, Mrs. S. L. Taylor, M. W. Hatter, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Johnston, Mary E. Hinton, Lottie Lee Hinton, Mr. and Mrs. Quincey Vickers, Tracy Vickers, Cedric Vickers, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Black, Johnnie Sue and Travis Black, Mrs. Ruby Meredith, Mrs. Vera Martin, Oscar Martin, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Thigpen, Bernice, Maxine, Ruth Elaine and Earline Thigpen, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Herring, Short Hatten, Mrs. J. W. Hatten, Sikes; John W. Adams, Thomas Eubanks, Columbia; Floy Beaver, Monroe; Ethel Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hinton, Elizabeth Hinton, Olla; Lillian W. Slabado, San Antonio, Tex.

The next annual picnic will be held on the third Sunday in August, 1940, and will take place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Ferguson, about four miles east of Grayson.

Members of the Monroe Poetry society met Wednesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. L. V. Tarver. Plans for the program to be carried out during the coming club year were discussed and a discussion of a chapter in their text book, by Ann Hamilton, was held. Members of the club who took part in the meeting were Mrs. George Wesley Smith, Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. Warren Gregory, Mrs. H. J. Fernandez and Mrs. Tarver.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Yawn announce the arrival of a son, Charles Larry, Wednesday, August 23, at the St. Francis sanitarium. Mrs. Yawn was, before her marriage, Miss Flora Carlock, and is a graduate of the St. Francis school of nursing. Mr. Yawn is connected with the Vicksburg branch of the Cudahy Packing company.

Mrs. Dorothy Younse is enjoying a vacation spent in Mobile, Ala.

Miss Elizabeth Vaughan of Mer Rouge and Miss Doris Johnston of Shreveport are guests of Miss Alma Jean Linquist this week.

She leant forward and touched the [illegible] hand. "Nothing's wrong, Daddy. Really."

"I [illegible] you to be happy," he persisted. "If you've found that George can't make you happy, that's all right. I [illegible] as much as you think, my dear." He patted her hand affectionately. "Sometimes I thought it was my influence that was the only cause for your ever having become interested in George. I used to wonder if it was wise. Because you're so young and alive, the way your mother was."

Her mother. She had died when Linda was a baby. Daddy seldom mentioned her. His grief and loss had gone too deep.

"George is a fine man, Linda. You know what I think of him as a scientist and teacher. But when I saw you two together, sometimes, I had my doubts. I refused to face them." He smiled in a wry way. "I told myself that your youth and beauty were not as vulnerable as they seemed to me. I told myself you were enough my daughter to value George's mind, his scholarly achievements. I was an old fool, my dear. You are your mother's daughter. She married me for no reason in the world except that we loved each other."

Linda was weeping helplessly before he finished speaking. How correctly he had read her heart! She ached with love for him. But there was more to it than this. Much more. There were still those bombers, black against the sky; still Marcia, with her trusting brown eyes.

"I didn't want to lie to you, Daddy," she sobbed. "But I couldn't bear to hurt you."

"Darling, it will always hurt me [illegible] justed the bed lamp. She straightened and tidied the room for the night, feeling a new and sweet peace pervade her. After Daddy was settled with his precious manuscript, and miles away from her, she sat down herself and picked up the evening paper.

Bad news. Bad news. She glanced at headlines impatiently, wanting not to connect them with the Navy or with Jimmy.

Suddenly a line of black type jumped up at her. Linda stiffened, her fingers crumbling the edges of the newspaper. She must be dreaming! But she had certainly read Jimmy's name.

Swiftly, her eyes were skimming over the column heads again. There it was. "Two Naval Officers Killed In Crash." And under that: "Lieutenants James Cooper and T. D. R[illegible] and Injured As Crack Naval Bomber Burns."

Plans Being Perfected For Marriage, Which Will Be Solemnized In Forest, Miss.

Plans for the wedding of Miss Betty Ormond of Forest, Miss., whose engagement to Dr. Coutralnd Prentice Gray, Jr., of Monroe, was announced last month by her mother, Mrs. Robert Fletcher Ormond, are being perfected, and announcement is made that the wedding will be solemnized Saturday, September 9, in Forest, Miss. The ceremony will take place at the Methodist church, with Rev. Charles S. Liles, rector of the Grenada Episcopal church, officiating. Miss Ormond will be given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Robert Ormond, of Doddsville, Miss.

Miss Betty Cole of New Orleans, cousin of the bride, will serve as maid of honor, and Mrs. R. M. Simonton of Monroe as matron of honor. Bridesmaids will be Miss Maybeth Mitchell, Miss Barbara Harrison of Forest, Miss Jane Renfroe of Shreveport, cousin of the bride, Miss Louise Gray of Monroe, sister of the groom, Miss Dorothy Nungesser of New Orleans, and Mrs. Douglas Kelly of Carrolton, Ga. Little Elizabeth Ormond, a niece of the bride, and Nell Eastland, a cousin, both of Doddsville, will be junior bridesmaids. The ringbearer will be James Trousdale III, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Trousdale, Jr., of Monroe.

Miss Elizabeth Noblin of Forest will be pianist and Mrs. Allen Cassity, also of Forest, will offer violin accompaniment. Vocal selections will be rendered by Miss Imogene Durrett of Greenwood.

Dr. Gray will have as his best man Dr. Charles Barrett Kennedy of New Orleans. Ushers will be Mr. Oliver Ormond of Forest, brother of the bride; Mr. William King Stubbs, Mr. Victor N. Davis, Mr. McVea Oliver, Dr. A. Scott Hamilton, Dr. R. Morgan Simonton, Mr. Lyn McCarley of Monroe; Dr. Eugene H. Countiss, New Orleans.

After the wedding trip, the young couple will be at home at 310 Forsythe avenue, in this city, where Dr. Gray is engaged in practice with his father, Dr. C. P. Gray.

Martha Bassett's Engagement Announced

An announcement of interest was made last week at a beautifully appointed dinner party given by Mrs. J. S. Bassett, when she announced the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Martha to Mr. Arthur Grant, Jr., the wedding to take place October 14.

The dining table, covered with a lace banquet cloth, was centered with pink radiance roses flanked by pink tapers in crystal holders. Crystal bowls of pink roses, also adorned the lace covered buffet and a delectable four course dinner was served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Gene Demmary, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Gill, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Masur, Mr. and Mrs. Baily Grant, Mr. and Mrs. John Eby, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Duffy, Jr., of Little Rock, Ark., Mrs. James Harper and Miss Doris Chase.

Miss Carmen DeLaureal of Broussard, is the charming guest of her sister, Mrs. Warren Taylor at her home on Fairview avenue. Miss DeLaureal is being extensively entertained during her visit in Monroe.

Miss Marie Mouser Weds Clyde Stallcup

A wedding of interest was solemnized Tuesday, August 22, when Miss Marie Mouser, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Mouser of Calhoun, was married to Mr. Clyde Stallcup, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stallcup of Olla, at the home of the bride, with Rev. Mouser, pastor of the Calhoun Methodist church and father of the bride, officiating.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Frank Robinson of Downsville. Mr. Stallcup's best man was Mr. J. K. Reed of Jena.

The vows were spoken in the presence of relatives and close friends and immediately after the ceremony, the couple left on a short wedding trip. After September 1 they will be at home in Greenwood, La., where Mr. Stallcup is athletic director of the high school.

Miss Teresa Turk and Miss Mary Turk have returned from New York City, where they have spent the past summer, studying new developments in dancing under some of America's fermost dancing instructors.

Mrs. Mosely Honored At Orleans Luncheon

Mrs. Robert Calvert of New Orleans and Miss Helen Morgan of Rayville were hostesses to a beautifully appointed luncheon in the Fountain room of the Roosevelt hotel in New Orleans on Saturday, August 19, in honor of Mrs. Charles Mosely, who was formerly Miss Florence Jane Morley, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. John Summerlin of Rayville.

Covers were laid for eight and a delicious five course luncheon was served, the piece de resistance being crab meat Ravigotte, for which the chefs of the Roosevelt are famous.

The decorations, in pastel shades, were carried out in detail even to the dainty brides' slipper and bouquets which adorned the individual cakes and mints. At each plate a corsage matching the costume of the guest was most effective.

Mrs. Mosely was outstanding in a modish costume of white, with which she wore a small turban with long scarf of white which enhanced her extraordinary blond loveliness. Her accessories were white and her corsage, of dainty Rubrum lilies.

Mrs. Calvert and Miss Morgan also wore becoming costumes in white with contrasting accessories.

During the luncheon hour the orchestra played "I Love You Truly" wihch they dedicated to Mrs. Mosely.

The hostesses presented Mrs. Mosely with a set of eight cordial goblets in Sterling silver.

The guests attending this delightful affair were the honoree, Mrs. Charles Mosely, Mrs. Robert Soule, Mrs. Willis Banker, Missas Thelma Sherban, Martha Elmer and Mercedes Perez, all of New Orleans.

Mrs. Bob Alford entertained Friday afternoon in honor of the birthday anniversary of Bobbie Fae Alford. Games and contests were enjoyed on the lawn and prizes were awarded Georgia Alford, Bobby Jean Touchstone and Patricia Simmons.

Assisting Mrs. Alford were Miss Sue Worthy and Miss Edith Venable. Present were Eunice Marie Clark, Helen Marie Cranford, Loretta Joyce Cranford, Norma Jean Wood, Mary Jo Worthy, Gaylord Stuckey, Patricia Simmons, Rose Ann Canal, Barbara Kahn, Bobbie Jean Touchstone, Louise Brothers, Lois Slocum, Gladys Alford, Thelma Ann Alford, Sue Worthey, Edith Venable, Mrs. Andrew Cranford.

WAR AND A WOMAN

CHAPTER XIII

"Linda!" Startled out of his calm, George Cameron was grabbing at her. "Linda, you can't do this!"

She eluded him, ran up the steps and yanked at the door. Behind her, she heard a tiny metallic sound as the platinum and diamond engagement ring fell to the stone walk. Then she was stumbling inside, closing the door against him. She stood with her back against it, her breath coming fast, for a long minute before she went upstairs. George would not ring the bell, nor hammer on the door. He'd go away, quietly. She knew him that well.

She did not realize until much later that her subconscious mind had acted against the will she had imposed on herself. "Break the engagement," Jimmy had pleaded. She'd replied that she couldn't. And yet, almost before his airliner had time to take off from the airport, that blind impulse to tear George's ring off her finger had egged her on.

With a sinking heart, she remembered Daddy. If she didn't placate George quickly, Daddy would hear of this. He must not hear of it.

"No shocks," Dr. Logan had ordered. What a monster she was becoming! What a selfish, insane fool!

But on Monday, she could not force herself to telephone George. It was better over. No matter what happened, this much was finished. If only she could hide it from Daddy a little while, until he was stronger.

She dreaded the time when Daddy would ask, "Where's George? He hasn't come to see me."

Yet when the day came—only three days after that fatal Sunday—she managed to answer, lightly enough, "He's been busy at the laboratory, I suppose."

Her father looked at her. "Linda, you're keeping something from me. I've tried to get it out of Rourke, but she's like a clam when she wants to be."

The palms of her hands were wet, and her mouth was dry. No shocks, Dr. Logan had ordered. No shocks. "How funny of you, Daddy, to think I'm hiding a deep, dark secret," she managed to say. "What could I possibly be hiding?"

"You've quarreled with George, haven't you?" The quiet voice was implacable. "You never used to lie to me, Linda. But now, behind your smiling, you're not the same girl. Can't you confide in me? Tell me what's wrong."

She bent forward and touched the frail, veined hand. "Nothing's wrong, Daddy. Really."

"I want you to be happy," he persisted. "If you've found that George can't make you happy, that's all right. I—I don't mind as much as you think, my dear." He patted her hand affectionately. "Sometimes I thought it was my influence that was the only cause for your ever having become interested in George. I used to wonder if it was wise. Because you're so young and alive—the way your mother was—"

Her mother. She had died when Linda was a baby. Daddy seldom mentioned her, his grief and loss had gone too deep.

"George is a fine man, Linda. You know what I think of him as a scientist and teacher. But when I saw you two together, sometimes, I had my doubts. I refused to face them." He smiled in a wry way. "I told myself that your youth and beauty were not as vulnerable as they seemed to me. I told myself you were enough my daughter to value George's mind, his scholarly achievements. I was an old fool, my dear. You are your mother's daughter. She married me for no reason in the world except that we loved each other."

Linda was weeping helplessly before he finished speaking. How correctly he had read her heart! She ached with love for him. But there was more to it than this. Much more. There were still those bombers, black against the sky; still Marcia, with her trusting brown eyes.

"I didn't want to lie to you, Daddy," she sobbed. "But I couldn't bear to hurt you."

"Darling, it will always hurt me more cruelly to have you keep the truth from me. I'm your father. Surely I can understand anything that you feel is right. . . ."

She didn't feel that those planes were right. She hated them. This other problem was one she must face and fight alone.

Daddy didn't ask her what had precipitated her quarrel with George. All he said was, "Come here, Linda." He kissed her forehead. Then he was holding her in his arms as he had held her on those long ago days when she had skinned a knee or stubbed a toe. "My little girl. My dear, dear little girl."

Rourke found them like that when she came in with the tray. "A fine mess!" she grunted. "Get off that bed, girl." Grudgingly, she added, "Go on, stay here if you want to. I'll be glad of a few minutes away from this room. He's been grumpy as an old bear!"

"I won't be now, Miss Rourke," Daddy promised humbly. "I'm very happy again. Happy and relieved."

"Get along with ye! What'd you think the child had done, robbed a bank?"

"Bring up the manuscript from Milan, too," Daddy told her. "I haven't looked at it since I've been in bed."

The evening paper was lying on the hall table. Linda took that, too, on her way back upstairs. But Daddy waved it aside. "Give me the manuscript."

Rourke threatened to stay out half the night, seeing a movie over twice. "I always see them twice, so I can remember better."

"I'll be right here till you get back," Linda said.

She fixed her father's pillows, adjusted the bed lamp. She straightened and tidied the room for the night, feeling a new and sweet peace pervade her. After Daddy was settled with his precious manuscript, and miles away from her, she sat down herself and picked up the evening paper.

Bad news. Bad news. She glanced at headlines impatiently, wanting not to connect them with the Navy or with Jimmy.

Suddenly a line of black type jumped up at her. Linda stiffened, her fingers crumbling the edges of the newspaper. She must be dreaming! But she had certainly read Jimmy's name.

Swiftly, her eyes were skimming over the column heads again. There it was. "Two Naval Officers Killed In Crash." And under that, "Lieutenants James Cooper and T. D. Ryland Injured As Crack Naval Bomber Burns."

Jonesboro

The Ever Ready circle of the Jonesboro Methodist church met with Mrs. T. L. Walker for Bible study, with seven members and one visitor present. At the close of the afternoon's study the hostess served refreshments to Mesdames J. E. Cox, W. H. Buford, J. A. Thurman, Fred Calloway, J. C. Barnes, Lynn Hall, and Mrs. Spencer, who was guest of the circle.

The Ella K. Hooper circle of the Jonesboro Methodist church met in the home of Mrs. Paul Stinson. Mrs. A. D. George presented the Bible lesson, using as the theme, "Bible Story of Sin." After a short business session the hostess served refreshments to the following members: Mrs. J. F. Sneed, Mrs. A. D. George, Mrs. Howard Hearne, Mrs. M. M. Hearne, Mrs. W. T. Holloway, Mrs. H. W. Ayres, Mrs. W. S. McDonald and Miss Elizabeth Stinson.

Circle five of the Jonesboro Baptist W. M. U. met with Mrs. B. P. Zuber. The following program was given: Opening prayer, Mrs. L. L. Vallery. Devotional, Proverbs 14, by Mrs. Ward Hays. "The Stewardship of Calling," taught by Mrs. W. S. Sutton.

Refreshments were served to: Mesdames L. L. Vallery, Ward Hays, W. S. Sutton, J. B. Fain, Lloyd Parker, W. R. Irvin, T. C. Burks, H. P. Melton, J. E. Temple, W. L. Perkins and the hostess.

The members of the Study guild formed a congenial group when they met with their husbands on the lawn of Mrs. H. W. Ayres' home for a chicken barbecue.

The supper was served buffet style from a long table heavily laden with delicious barbecue chicken with barbecue sauce, potato salad, sliced tomatoes, pickles, onion rings, iced tea and sherbet. The guests were then seated at tables placed in attractive arrangement on the lawn.

Those participating in the pleasant occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. R. Bloch, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hearne, Miss Louise Gray, Mr. Tim Bloch, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Patterson, Mrs. Henry F. Stovall, Mrs. Brayn Walsworth, Dr. A. A. Meredith, Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Stinson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dufresne and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ayres.

At the conclusion of an enjoyable social hour, Mrs. Hearne served a delicious salad course to the following members: Mrs. Wilfred K. Scroggins, Mrs. W. T. Holloway, Mrs. Stanley Lewis, Mrs. George Littlefield, Mrs. Durwood McDonald and Mrs. Paul F. Stinson.

Mrs. Wayne Stovall and daughter, Beverly Wayne, left for a visit with relatives in Laurel, Miss.

The Ruth Brown circle of the Methodist W. M. S. met in the home of Mrs. W. W. McDonald, with Mrs. McDonald in charge. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. P. M. Dunn.

Mrs. McDonald gave the introduction of the new Bible Study, "Songs of Zion," after which refreshments were served to Mrs. P. M. Dunn, Mrs. J. J. Briehn, Mrs. V. L. Brumfield, Mrs. J. A. Gaar, Mrs. W. W. McDonald and Mrs. R. A. Crowson.

Miss Kaplan Is Wed To Howard L. Abrams

Marriage Solemnized In Reno, Nev.; Couple Will Make Home In San Francisco

Interest is centered this week in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Patricia Kaplan and Mr. Howard L. Abrams of San Francisco, Calif. The wedding, which was solemnized Wednesday, August 16, took place in Reno, Nev. Mr. and Mrs. Julian Levy of San Francisco were the only attendants.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Abrams left on a honeymoon trip to Lake Tahoe in California.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. Samuel Kaplan of this city, is a graduate of the department of law of the University of Chicago. A young woman of unusual charm, she has been prominently identified with both the social and cultural life of Monroe and has traveled extensively in European countries.

Mr. Abrams is the son of Mrs. Lillie Abrams of San Francisco, and is a prominent manufacturer of that city. The couple will make their home in San Francisco, 1870 Pacific avenue.

Miss Carmel E. Martin, daughter of Mrs. Pauline Martin, has recently received word that her poem, "Twilight's a Sweet Token," has been recently accepted by the editors of the World's Fair Anthology and will be included in the volume, which will be published in the near future.

Mrs. H. F. Cann, Miss Eloise Cann, Mrs. L. S. Smith and Miss Annie Laurie Smith have returned from a most enjoyable trip to Hollister, Brinson and other beautiful villages and beaches on Taneycomo lake in Missouri. They also motored to Springfield and Joplin, Mo. Miss Smith will return to Tallulah Monday morning.

Accomplishments Of Junior Cosmopolitan And Welcome Branch Book Groups Outlined

As September marks the opening date for most of the federated clubs in the Fifth district, this question is being constantly asked by conscientious club presidents, "What worthwhile service can a federated service and study club render to its community?"

In order that this question might be answered in a small way, a few worthwhile accomplishments from the two outstanding clubs in the Fifth district this year are listed as follows.

The Junior Cosmopolitan club of Oak Grove, with Mrs Maidie Gaddis Everett as president, began with the fine arts in their community. Last May they sponsored a musical by artists from Centenary college, Shreveport, and another from Northeast Junior college, Monroe. One of the chief aims of the Junior Cosmopolitan club is the development of a true appreciation of music. Community music has been stressed by opening the club programs with the singing of folk songs. Another outstanding project of this club has been the beautification of the local cemetery, and in connection with this work they have planted a large rose garden. This club also took care of a needy family during the Christmas holidays bringing joy to several [illegible].

Their score for the federation was 115 points. Many other worthwhile projects [illegible] be [illegible] as accomplishments of this splendid junior club.

The Welcome Branch Book club of Monroe is the other outstanding club in the Fifth district, with Mrs. J. R. White president. One of the important accomplishments of this club last year was the musical tea, at which time each guest brought a book to be donated to the library at Pine Top. This library is being entirely furnished by the Welcome Branch Book club. This club also placed $25 in the bank as a separate fund to be used as an initial payment on a club house.

The members have also participated in several community projects in Monroe. One of the outstanding meetings of the club was held when they sponsored a local attorney, who spoke on "Property and Inheritance Laws in the State of Louisiana." The total score for this club in the federation was 154 points. To be a perfect club the score must be 165 points.

Mrs A D Tisdale is president of the Fifth district of the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs.

Last May they sponsored a musical by artists from Centenary college, Shreveport, and another from Northeast Junior college, Monroe. One of the chief aims of the Junior Cosmoplitan club is the development of a true appreciation of music. Community music has been stressed by opening the club programs with the singing of folk songs. Another outstanding project of this club has been the beautification of the local cemetery, and in connection with this work they have planted a large rose garden. This club also took care of a needy family during the Christmas holidays, bringing joy to several children.

Their score for all the federation was 115 points. Many other worthwhile projects could be named as accomplishments of this splendid junior club.

The Welcome Branch Book club of Monroe is the other outstanding club in the Fifth district, with Mrs. J. R. White president. One of the important accomplishments of this club last year was the musical tea, at which time each guest brought a book to be donated to the library at Pine Top. This library is being entirely furnished by the Welcome Branch Book club. This club also placed $25 in the bank as a separate fund to be used as an initial payment on a club house.

The members have also participated in several community projects in Monroe. One of the outstanding meetings of the club was held when they sponsored a local attorney, who spoke on "Property and Inheritance Laws in the State of Louisiana." The total score for this club in the federation was 154 points. To be a perfect club the score must be 165 points.

Mrs. A. D. Tisdale is president of the Fifth district of the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs.

Rev. W. O. Byrd, pastor of the Methodist church of Bonita, will be guest preacher at the morning service. Rev. Byrd is one of our own young men and one of the promising young ministers of the Louisiana conference. He has chosen for his sermon theme, "Toiling in the Dark," based on the scripture found in St. John 6:16-21.

There will be no evening services. Beginning on the first Sunday in September, when our minister will be with us again, evening services and all other activities will be resumed and as the vacation weeks fade into the past the church offers its invitation — the call to Christian service — to all its members. Great programs of service are waiting and dependent on your interest and support.

Tuesday being the fifth Tuesday of the month, there will be no meeting of the Women's Missionary society, but members will go to Bastrop for a zone meeting at 2:30 in the afternoon.

Grayson

Among the pre-nuptial affairs honoring Miss Marie Mouser, whose marriage to Mr. Clyde Stallcup took place August 22, was a miscellaneous shower given in the home economics department of the Grayson high school. Mesdames L. E. Mathis, Willie Johnston, Helen Humphries, Lucille Wooldridge and DeEtte McKeithen were the hostesses at this affair, which was attended by more than fifty guests.

The rainbow theme was employed in every detail of the social and reflected in the manner of presenting the gifts. Miss Mouser was seated under a large rainbow at the end of which was a large "pot of gold" filled with gifts of silver and crystal in her selected patterns, china and household linens.

The entertainment features included games and contests which carried out the bridal theme.

DeEtte and JanEtte McKeithen, Mary Elizabeth Johnston and Mary Alice Fore assisted the hostesses in passing the refreshment plates to the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Eglin and Bill Eglin visited relatives in Shreveport. Bill Eglin went from there to Van Horn, Tex., for a visit with his brother, Milton Eglin.

Mr. and Mrs. Chaillie Valentine and small daughter of Houston, Tex., are visiting Mr. Valentine's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Valentine.

Miss Ruth Womack of Chatham has been visiting Miss Nelma Crain.

Miss Willie Jeannette Fore has returned from a visit with relatives in Snyder, Tex.

Misses Margaret and Marjorie Funderburk of Winnsboro were guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Howell.

PARIS CREATES FASHIONS WITH A SENSE OF HUMOR

TOOTHACHE—This little hat—is guaranteed to startle the most jaded male. It is called "the toothache" because of the band under the chin. By Talbot.

INJUNS—Prowling around is okay in this hat because an arrow quill and the title "Indian Blood" is enough to overawe any transgressor. Erik is proud of it.

BEARDED LADY—This hat is "amusing and casual." Schiaparelli says so. A string of ermine tails, attached to the little black velvet hat, give the model a "beard".

Dr. A. E. Prince, Pastor
Prof. Dallas Goss, Music Director
Miss Beulah Doerr, Educational Director

In these fateful days of world-wide anxiety, we need the church and her message as never before. Every citizen in our country ought to be in church today and join with other worshippers in prayer that God may guide the nations of the earth once more to the pathways of peace. It is time for much prayer. This church and pastor urges every citizen of the Twin Cities to worship somewhere tomorrow. Those who are not worshipping elsewhere are invited to this church. The Sunday school meets at 9:45 a.m. The B. T. U. leaders' meeting is at 6:30 p.m. B. T. U. and Brotherhood at 7 p.m. The pastor will preach at 10:50 a.m. and 8 p.m.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH
3400 Lee Avenue
D. D. Cantrell, Pastor
Dale C. Cobb, Choir Director

The Sunday school beginning promptly at 9:45 a.m. A class for all who come, graded according to age. All teachers and officers are expected to be present at 9:30 a.m. The Baptist Training union meeting at 6:45 p.m., a fine program is arranged for these assembly meetings and all the membership should be present.

The pastor will preach at the morning worship service and one of our fine young men, J. B. Wetzel, will preach for us at the evening worship service. Mr. Wetzel was reared in Monroe, and has proven his worth as a Christian in a great way for many months while active in our church activity. His plans are to enter Louisiana college to prepare for the ministry.

The church will observe the ordinance of baptism at the close of the preaching service on Sunday night. Those who are awaiting baptism are requested to be prepared for baptism at this time. All friends are especially invited to worship with us at all the services of the day.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
Corner Of Auburn And North Second Streets

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, August 27, 1939.

The golden text is: "The Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the father,) full of grace and truth" (John 1:14).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name Jesus" (Matt. 1:21).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus was born of Mary. Christ is the true idea voicing good, the divine message from God to men speaking to the human consciousness" (p. 332).

GRACE CHURCH
Fourth And Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

There will be but two services on Sunday—one at 7:30 a.m. and the other at 9:30 a.m. Sunday is the 12th Sunday after Trinity, and the only service during the week is on Wednesday at 9 a.m., at which time the Holy Eucharist will be celebrated.

Meditation. A returned missionary from Africa relates that in a certain area the trunks of all the trees incline noticeably in a certain direction, the direction, strange to say, from which the severe winds and storms come. The missionary discovered, however, that though the storms come from the east, the steady, constant, gentle breezes come from the west. The gentle winds determine the direction of the trees; occasional storms cannot change it. As with trees so with us. If our hearts are constantly exposed to the gentle winds of God's love and truth, they will inevitably incline Godward, and will be able to withstand adversity when it comes. (Homilope) The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
Jackson At Wood Street
'The Church With The Lighted Steeple'
Walter C. Scott, Minister

Rev. W. O. Byrd, pastor of the Methodist church of Bonita, will be guest preacher at the morning service. Rev. Byrd is one of our own young men and one of the promising young ministers of the Louisiana conference. He has chosen for his sermon theme, "Toiling in the Dark," based on the scripture found in St. John 6:16-21. There will be no evening services. Beginning on the first Sunday in September, when our minister will be with us again, evening services and all other activities will be resumed and as the vacation weeks fade into the past the church offers its invitation—the call to Christian service—to all its members. Great programs of service are waiting and dependent on your interest and support.

Tuesday being the fifth Tuesday of the month, there will be no meeting of the Women's Missionary society, but members will go to Bastrop for a zone meeting at 2:30 in the afternoon.

On Wednesday evening there will be a meeting of the workers' council. Supper will be served at 6:30, followed by an inspirational program. All officers and teachers of every department of the church school are urged to attend.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
West Monroe
C. Karlos Smith, Pastor

While the great powers of Europe are turning to the impliments of war and a progressive civilization is threatened with utter destruction, every Christian American should be turning toward the church and Christ Jesus the head of the church. One has to be only the possessor of a very ordinary mind to observe the calamity which comes to those who forget God as is the case in so many nations at this time. Let all our people turn to Christ and the church in this great crisis in world history. Our church will welcome you to every service. Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. every Sunday. Preaching service at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. If you will attend one service we know that you will come back again. Fine inspirational music at every service under the direction of G. C. Williams, assisted by Miss Maida McClendon and Mrs. Charles Myers together with a well trained choir. Prayer meeting Wednesday night at 7:30.

"Come to the church with a welcome to everybody."

STONE AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH
Stone Avenue And South Third Street
I. L. Yeager, Pastor

The builder who first bridged Niagara's gorge,
Before he swung his cable, shore to shore,
Sent out across the gulf his venturing kite
Bearing a slender cord for unseen hands
To grasp upon the further cliff and draw
A greater cord and then a greater yet;
Till at last across the chasm swung
The cable—then the mighty bridge in air!

So we may send our little timid thought
Across the void, out to God's reaching hands—
Send out our love and faith to thread the deep—
Thought after thought until the little cord
Has greatened to a chain no chance can break,
And we are anchored to the Infinite!

—Edwin Markham.

You are invited to attend the following services: Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Morning worship at 11 o'clock. Christian Endeavor at 7 p.m. Evangelistic service at 7:45 p.m. Circle meetings Tuesday afternoon as usual. In view of the revival beginning September 3, Monday, the 28th, through Saturday the 2nd, is designated prayer week, with cottage prayer meetings the first three days concluding with prayer services at the church the last three evenings. We invite our friends everywhere to join us in this season of intercessory prayer.

GORDON AVENUE METHODIST
J. M. Alford, Pastor

Our Sunday school was the best last Sunday since last Easter with 125 present. Let's exceed that number today. The two worship services were well attended last Sunday with six additions at the evening service. Three will be added at the morning service today and probably some at the opening of the church school exercises at 9:45 a.m. and remain for the eleven o'clock service when the pastor will deliver a message on: "Perfection, The Goal of the Christian Life." At 6:45 the two Epworth leagues will meet for their usual programs of work. After this we will have the evening services beginning at 7:45 p.m. At this time the subject will be: "My Obligation As a Christian." There will be no missionary meeting Tuesday as the Zone No. 1 will be held in Bastrop at this time.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE
Thomas Avenue And Richmond Street
G. M. And Mrs. Akin, Pastors

We desire to maintain the good attendance we have had through the summer months. To do this we urge all members to be present Sunday at Sunday school, which begins at 9:45. S. P. Quigley, superintendent.

The pastor, G. M. Akin, will bring the morning message at 11 o'clock. Mrs. G. M. Akin will bring the evening evangelistic message at 7:45 p.m.

Young people's meetings will be held at 6:45. N. Y. P. S., O. L. Hoskins, president; Hi N. Y., Mrs. E. L. Hoskins, supervisor, and Miss Marie Venable will have charge of the juniors. Women's missionary society will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 with Mrs. T. A. Hendry, 210 Egan street.

Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 7:45. All who attend will find a welcome.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Ernest Holloway, Minister

Church school 9:30 a.m.

"Hast thou not bid us love thee, God and King?
All, all thine own, soul, heart, strength, and mind;
I see thy cross—there teach my heart to cling:
O let me seek thee, and O let me find."

You are most cordially invited to attend our church school classes and study the Word with us. The teachers will be glad to see you.

Morning worship 11:00 a.m.

The Rev. Mr. Alwin Stokes, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Winnfield, La., will fill our pulpit. You are most cordially invited to hear this man of God speak. Rev. Ernest Holloway will be in his pulpit on September 3 after spending his vacation in Missouri.

Young people 7:00 p.m. The young people of this congregation most cordially invite you to attend their program this evening. You will receive much good from the program they have planned.

EDUCATORS WILL BE GIVEN HONOR

President Hebert And Others From L. S. U. To Be Banquet Guests

Plans were completed Saturday by Dean C. C. Colvert for the holding of a banquet to honor Dr. Paul Hebert, president of Louisiana State university; Troy H. Middleton, vice-president of the university; Dean F. C. Frey of the agricultural department; Dr. B. F. Mitchell, dean of the lower division, and Dr. Daniel Borth, auditor of the university, in the Northeast Junior college cafeteria Monday at 7:30 p.m.

All civic clubs of Monroe and West Monroe are invited to attend and a large representation is expected, the indications being that as many as 150 will be present.

Dean Colvert will act as master of ceremonies, and short talks will be made by each out-of-town guest of honor.

The purpose of the affair is to give opportunity for a get-together in which the future plans and program of the state university will be explained, Dean Colvert said.

SHELL OIL COMPANY WILL BOOST PRICES

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 26—(AP)—The Shell Oil company announced here today it will pay new and higher prices for crude oil in Texas, New Mexico, Louisiana and Arkansas September 1.

J. W. Hershey, assistant manager of the crude oil purchasing company, released a statement here on the price announcement.

Shell cut the price it offered for crude 20 cents a barrel August 11, joining other companies in reducing prices.

The statement of the Shell company:

"Shell Oil company, Inc., announces today effective at 7 a.m. September 1, it will pay new and higher prices for crude oil purchased by it in Texas, New Mexico, Louisiana and Arkansas. Shell's new postings will reestablish in effect the prices paid by that firm prior to August 11, 1939.

"In making this announcement, Shell officials stated that the statistical position of the industry has already approved and is expected to improve sufficiently by the end of the shutdown period to justify the higher prices."

LOCAL WOMEN ATTEND UNION LABEL GATHERING

Members of local 570 of the Woman's Union Label league, composed of Monroe and West Monroe residents, were guests Friday of the Shreveport chapter of the organization.

The gathering, which was attended by 20 members of the local chapter, including all officers, was held at the Carpenters' hall in Shreveport and featured by talks, a luncheon and a sight-seeing tour of Shreveport.

The speakers included Mrs. J. C. Hamilton, president of local 570, and Mrs. Jennie Call, oldest charter member of the Shreveport chapter. Mrs. Hamilton expressed the appreciation of the Monroe and West Monroe women for the hospitalities extended. Mrs. Call spoke on organized labor.

REVIVAL MEETING BEGINS

WINNSBORO, La., Aug. 26.—(Special)—Revival services at the Wayside Holiness church, three and a half miles east of here, got under way this week with Rev. Eugene Smith, of Texas, conducting the services. Divine healing services will be held on Sundays and Wednesdays, it was announced, and the revival is expected to last about a month.

AUTO MECHANICS TO BE INSTRUCTED

State Department Of Education To Start Night Classes Here Soon

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 26.—(Special)—Night classes for auto mechanics already employed in industry, organized throughout the state at the request of mechanics and automobile dealers, will begin in Monroe on September 18 under the sponsorship of the Monroe Automobile Dealers' association and wholesale parts jobbers, S. B. Mallet, chief instructor in auto mechanics for the state department of education, announced today.

All mechanics in Monroe and vicinity are invited by Mr. Mallet to attend the organization meeting of the class, to be held September 13 at the Lennon Motor company. The class will be divided into six sections, with each section to meet one night each week for three months.

The Monroe class will study principles and problems in automobile carburetion, under the direction of A. F. Leggett, state department of education instructor. Should response from the mechanics prove great enough, the course will be extended to include a study of motor tune-up, front-end alignment, and other phases of auto mechanics work.

To date such classes have been organized in Baton Rouge, Alexandria and Lafayette, and new classes will begin September 18 in Thibodaux and Crowley, Mr. Mallet announced.

Instruction to auto mechanics is part of a program of extension instruction given by the trade and industrial education of the state department of education to persons already employed in industry. Classes are also held throughout the state in distributive occupations, barber science and firemanship.

BARBERS TO HOLD SHREVEPORT MEET

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Several hundred delegates expected to attend the Louisiana Barbers convention here will begin registering Sunday afternoon.

The first business meeting will not be held until Monday morning. Delegates will be welcomed by Mayor Sam Caldwell.

Many shops throughout the state will be closed Monday in order that their barbers may attend the session. The state association of journeymen and beauticians unions will hold a joint session with associated master barbers.

Approximately 100 barbers are expected from New Orleans alone, officials said.

DISTRICT ODD FELLOWS TO MEET HERE IN FALL

A district meet of Odd Fellows has been arranged for Monroe late in October or early in November, according to an announcement made Saturday.

Details of the program are to be worked out but it is assured that there will be delegations of Odd Fellows here from Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, Texas and Oklahoma and the expectation is that there will be a total attendance of fully 500 people.

'Frontier Marshal' At Capitol

Randolph Scott And Nancy Kelly Starred In Story Of Old West

BLOOD-TINGLING action will be the order of the day when "Frontier Marshal," blows into the Capitol theater today, with Randolph Scott and Nancy Kelly in the leading roles.

This stirring 20th Century-Fox production tells the vivid story of the wickedest, wildest town of the dangerous old west, where life wasn't worth a lead nickel—until a gunfighting marshal brought in the law at the shooting end of a sixgun.

Scott is seen in the title role as Wyatt Earp, whose fabulous exploits tamed Tombstone and who stayed alive because nobody ever beat him to the draw, while Nancy Kelly is cast as a beautiful, brave, unflinching girl who followed the man she loved to this wide-open town in the hope of saving him from himself.

Romero has the colorful role of Doc Holliday, elegant gambler and deadly killer, a man who, for reasons best known to himself, has given up a useful life in the east to come to this wild borderland town to wait for death. Loved by two women, he was feared by every man—until Wyatt Earp walked in.

Allan Dwan directed the production from a screen play by Sam Hellman, based on a book by Stuart N Lake. Sol M. Wurtzel gets the executive producer's credit.

Hedy Lamarr's New Film Comes To Paramount Thursday

Lola, Rosemary and Priscilla Lane, and Gale Page, four daughters in "Daughters Courageous," with a dynamic supporting cast, shows today, Monday and Tuesday at the Paramount theater.

Teamed with Robert Taylor in a sensuous tale of the exoitic east, Hedy Lamarr, most glamorous and most talked-about motion picture personality since the inception of the talkies, comes to the Paramount theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday in "Lady of the Tropics.

Taylor Cast In Leading Male Role

'Lady Of The Tropics' Tells Love Story Of South Sea Islands

THE widely-awaited appearance of Robert Taylor and the sensational Hedy Lamarr in "Lady of the Tropics," a languorous drama of smouldering passions laid against an exotic background of Indo-China, occurs Thursday at the Paramount theater in what is heralded as the most fascinating romance of the year.

Three years in preparation, "Lady of the Tropics" brings to the screen for the first time a panorama of background scenes of little-known places of Indo-China and Cambodia which were filmed by a photographic expedition exclusively for the picture.

The love story has its beginning in the harbor of Saigon, with its teeming oriental traffic of ocean liners offshore, quaint native craft at the docks, natives babbling in the colorful, narrow market places and caparisoned elephants and oxen lumbering through the streets.

A riverfront a quarter of mile in length was dredged from California soil, landings were built, native huts were erected on piles and a large section of the famed and ancient Angkor Wat temple was recreated for a climatic love scene between Taylor and Miss Lamarr.

Taylor, as Bill Carey, arrives in Saigon and falls in love with Manon, the Eurasian portrayed by Miss Lamarr. A half-caste, she is bound to Indo-China by racial distinctions. Failing to escape through the influence of Delaroch, a rich and powerful admirer, she has planned to marry a native prince when she is dissuaded by Taylor, whom she marries instead. Although married to an American, Manon is prevented from fleeing from Indo-China. To release her husband, whom she loves devotedly, she slays the man who has thwarted her happiness, then ends her own life.

RAIL EMPLOYE'S DEATH OCCURS

Homer H. Howell Dies In St. Louis Hospital; Body To Arrive Today

Homer H. Howell, 48, of 1812 Jackson street, died in the Missouri Pacific hospital in St. Louis, Mo., Saturday at 9:30 p.m., following a long illness which required an operation. Mr. Howell had been employed for 17 years by the Missouri Pacific railroad in Monroe, being motor car foreman.

The body will reach Monroe over the Missouri Pacific this morning at 6:40 a.m., and will be accompanied by his son, H. H. Howell, Jr., who was with his father when he died. No arrangements for the funeral had been made Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Howell received word late Friday that her husband was critically ill and she left on a morning train Saturday for St. Louis. When she reached Little Rock, she received word that her husband had died, so she changed her plans and returned to Monroe last night.

Mr. Howell is survived by his wife and son.

Swayze's Dairy Noted For High Grade Products

Swayze's dairy, located on the Milhaven road, is recognized throughout Monroe and West Monroe as the home of high grade milk, buttermilk, cream and butter.

The richness of Swayze's dairy products has established a constantly increasing demand for them. They may be had at your favorite food store. However, if you prefer, you can have doorstep delivery direct from the dairy. Just call telephone number 2948.

Having a high butter fat content, Swayze's milk is one of the most nourishing foods you could possibly utilize in your daily diet. Guarded carefully in production in a thoroughly sanitary dairy, it is wholesome and healthful for children as well as adults.

When buying your food, specify Swayze's high grade milk. All of its other products—cream, buttermilk and butter—rate equally as high as the milk. Ask for them, too, by name when you are making your purchases.

Use Swayze's milk, cream and butter in your cooking and note the improvement in your culinary efforts.

And remember at all times to demand Swayze's when you buy or order milk, buttermilk, cream or butter.

Brown Lumber Co. Makes Lumber For All Requirements

J. B. Brown Lumber company, located on U. S. highway 80 (Monroe-Shreveport road) in Calhoun, is exactly what its name implies. It is more than a sawmill. It is a lumber company in every sense of the word and is in a position to supply both rough and dressed lumber for every construction purpose.

In addition to a sawmill, it operates a planing mill and has a Moore cross-circulating steam dry kiln. Its plant is modern throughout, being equipped with the latest machinery. Moreover, production is supervised by J. B. Brown, owner of the enterprise, who has spent a lifetime in the lumber business.

J. B. Brown Lumber company always keeps a complete supply of lumber on its yards and in its sheds and is prepared at all times to fill both large and small orders. Short-length lumber for minor construction and repairs is always available there.

The public is invited to inspect the plant and stock of J. B. Brown Lumber company and prospective builders would do well to permit the concern to figure on their lumber requirements. Its lumber measures up to the highest standards and it is a point of pride with the company that it has never knowingly sold a faulty piece of lumber.

J. B. Brown Lumber company delivers with its own trucks within a radius of 200 miles of Calhoun and it maintains a light truck especially to handle small orders.

Its long distance telephone number is 1411.

Royal Feed & Seed Offers Advice On Feeding Of Hens

The season of higher egg prices is approaching. Eggs are getting scarce. Is your flock in the best condition to meet this situation? Many non-laying cull hens should be removed from the flock. This will reduce feed costs, bring a cash return for culls sold as meat and give more room in houses and at feed hoppers for hens that are in production. But in fairness to those on trial, be sure that all hens are free of lice and mites, that they have been treated with Staf-O-Life hen worming mash and that the flock is on a good feeding program, including constant access to a high quality laying mash, such as Staf-O-Life laying mash, and plenty of fresh clean water, before removing other than hopeless culls. When these conditions are fulfilled, more exacting culling can be done with confidence and more profits can be expected from a good feeding program.

Keep the mash hoppers full at all times and allow at least three inches of hopper space per bird. Examine the hoppers frequently to see that lumps of dirt have not been kicked into them and that the mash is kept clean and palatable. It pays to clean hoppers thoroughly at least twice a week as a matter of routine. Watch the consumption of mash and resort to wet mash feeding at noon if necessary to insure full consumption of mash. Feed scratch grain in the afternoon, either hopper or hand fed, in accordance with the weight and condition of the hens. Some prefer to delay the use of lights, and in some cases the use of wet mash feeding, until the birds have started putting on new feathers in the course of the moult. This depends, however, upon local market conditions, age of hens and other considerations. Sudden changes in feeding or management should be carefully avoided during the late summer and fall.

Particular attention should be given to supplying plenty of fresh cool water. Not only is this necessary for the utilization of feeds but an abundant supply of cool water along with well-ventilated houses is of great value in keeping hens from becoming overheated. Put fresh water in the drinking fountains every few hours and provide plenty of fountains. See that the flock has plenty of shade on well-drained areas.

Take some time now to provide for a supply of green feed this fall. Plant oats as soon as possible—in most parts of the south by the first of September. Plant oats on cultivated ground, sow rye grass seed on sodded ground, or plant Swiss chard, rape or other plants that will yield succulent green feed this fall, but by all means start now to provide green feed from some source!

Branch Is Opened By Terminix Of La.

Due to the steady growth of its business, Terminix of Louisiana, 312 Bernhardt building, which is engaged in termite insulating in the northern third of the state, recently opened a branch office in Shreveport.

The Monroe office retained the eastern half of the territory. The Shreveport branch will serve the western half.

The Shreveport branch is located in suite 712 of the Ardis building, with Walter Scott, who has been with Bruce Terminix company in Memphis, Tenn., for the past six years, in charge. Jack Davis, formerly connected with the Monroe office, is acting as chief inspector for the Shreveport branch.

Licensed and bonded with the state of Louisiana, Terminix of Louisiana gives a five-year, ironclad guarantee on its work. Frequent reinspections are made during the five years and reports made to the property owner.

Termites can wreck your property unless steps are taken to curb them. The cost of termite insulation is moderate. Inspections and estimates are furnished free of charge by Terminix of Louisiana. Just call telephone number 1341.

RAIL EMPLOYE'S DEATH OCCURS

Homer H. Howell, 48, of 1812 Jackson street, died in the Missouri Pacific hospital in St. Louis, Mo., Saturday at 9:30 p.m., following a long illness which required an operation. Mr. Howell had been employed for 17 years by the Missouri Pacific railroad in Monroe, being motor car foreman.

The body will reach Monroe over the Missouri Pacific this morning at 6:40 a.m., and will be accompanied by his son, H. H. Howell, Jr., who was with his father when he died. No arrangements for the funeral had been made Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Howell received word late Friday that her husband was critically ill and she left on a morning train Saturday for St. Louis. When she reached Little Rock, she received word that her husband had died, so she changed her plans and returned to Monroe last night.

Mr. Howell is survived by his wife and son.

Swayze's Dairy Noted For High Grade Products

Swayze's dairy, located on the Milhaven road, is recognized throughout Monroe and West Monroe as the home of high grade milk, buttermilk, cream and butter.

The richness of Swayze's dairy products has established a constantly increasing demand for them. They may be had at your favorite food store. However, if you prefer, you can have doorstep delivery direct from the dairy. Just call telephone number 2948.

Having a high butter fat content, Swayze's milk is one of the most nourishing foods you could possibly utilize in your daily diet. Guarded carefully in production in a thoroughly sanitary dairy, it is wholesome and healthful for children as well as adults.

When buying your food, specify Swayze's high grade milk. All of its other products—cream, buttermilk and butter—rate equally as high as the milk. Ask for them, too, by name when you are making your purchases.

Use Swayze's milk; cream and butter in your cooking and note the improvement in your culinary efforts.

And remember at all times to demand Swayze's when you buy or order milk, buttermilk, cream or butter.

Little Club Place To Have Big Time

The place to go for a big time before or after the ball game is The Little club, 2800 DeSiard street, just a short distance from Casino park.

Patrons of the establishment are permitted to use its large and convenient parking facilities during the game to avoid the traffic congestion that results at the end of the contest.

For the entertainment of its patrons, The Little club devotes three large rooms and no coverage charge is assessed. The establishment maintains a bar at which all kinds of drinks are available and serves sandwiches of every variety. Curb service is given motorists who like to eat and drink in their cars.

There is dancing every night except Sunday night at The Little club, which encourages fun to the fullest but permits no rowdyism.

Brown Lumber Co. Makes Lumber For All Requirements

J. B. Brown Lumber company, located on U. S. highway 80 (Monroe-Shreveport road) in Calhoun, is exactly what its name imples. It is more than a sawmill. It is a lumber company in every sense of the word and is in a position to supply both rough and dressed lumber for every construction purpose.

In addition to a sawmill, it operates a planing mill and has a Moore cross-circulating steam dry kiln. Its plant is modern throughout, being equipped with the latest machinery. Moreover, production is supervised by J. B. Brown, owner of the enterprise, who has spent a lifetime in the lumber business.

J. B. Brown Lumber company always keeps a complete supply of lumber on its yards and in its sheds and is prepared at all times to fill both large and small orders. Short-length lumber for minor construction and repairs is always available there.

The public is invited to inspect the plant and stock of J. B. Brown Lumber company and prospective builders would do well to permit the concern to figure on their lumber requirements. Its lumber measures up to the highest standards and it is a point of pride with the company that it has never knowingly sold a faulty piece of lumber.

J. B. Brown Lumber company delivers with its own trucks within a radius of 200 miles of Calhoun and it maintains a light truck especially to handle small orders.

Its long distance telephone number is 1411.

Royal Feed & Seed Offers Advice On Feeding Of Hens

The season of higher egg prices is approaching. Eggs are getting scarce. Is your flock in the best condition to meet this situation? Many non-laying cull hens should be removed from the flock. This will reduce feed costs, bring a cash return for culls sold as meat and give more room in houses and at feed hoppers for hens that are in production. But in fairness to those on trial, be sure that all hens are free of lice and mites, that they have been treated with Staf-O-Life hen worming mash and that the flock is on a good feeding program, including constant access to a high quality laying mash, such as Staf-O-Life laying mash, and plenty of fresh clean water, before removing other than hopeless culls. When these conditions are fulfilled, more exacting culling can be done with confidence and more profits can be expected from a good feeding program.

Keep the mash hoppers full at all times and allow at least three inches of hopper space per bird. Examine the hoppers frequently to see that lumps of dirt have not been kicked into them and that the mash is kept clean and palatable. It pays to clean hoppers thoroughly at least twice a week as a matter of routine. Watch the consumption of mash and resort to wet mash feeding at noon if necessary to insure full consumption of mash. Feed scratch grain in the afternoon, either hopper or hand fed, in accordance with the weight and condition of the hens. Some prefer to delay the use of lights, and in some cases the use of wet mash feeding, until the birds have started putting on new feathers in the course of the moult. This depends, however, upon local market conditions, age of hens and other considerations. Sudden changes in feeding or management should be carefully avoided during the late summer and fall.

Particular attention should be given to supplying plenty of fresh cool water. Not only is this necessary for the utilization of feeds but an abundant supply of cool water along with well-ventilated houses is of great value in keeping hens from becoming overheated. Put fresh water in the drinking fountains every few hours and provide plenty of fountains. See that the flock has plenty of shade on well-drained areas.

Take some time now to provide for a supply of green feed this fall. Plant oats as soon as possible—in most parts of the south by the first of September. Plant oats on cultivated ground, sow rye grass seed on sodded ground, or plant Swiss chard, rape or other plants that will yield succulent green feed this fall, but by all means start now to provide green feed from some source!

Branch Is Opened By Terminix Of La.

Due to the steady growth of its business, Terminix of Louisiana, 312 Bernhardt building, which is engaged in termite insulating in the northern third of the state, recently opened a branch office in Shreveport.

The Monroe office retained the eastern half of the territory. The Shreveport branch will serve the western half.

The Shreveport branch is located in suite 712 of the Ardis building, with Walter Scott, who has been with Bruce Terminix company in Memphis, Tenn., for the past six years, in charge. Jack Davis, formerly connected with the Monroe office, is acting as chief inspector for the Shreveport branch.

Licensed and bonded with the state of Louisiana, Terminix of Louisiana gives a five-year, ironclad guarantee on its work. Frequent reinspections are made during the five years and reports made to the property owner.

Termites can wreck your property unless steps are taken to curb them. The cost of termite insulation is moderate. Inspections and estimates are furnished free of charge by Terminix of Louisiana. Just call telephone number 1341.

'Frontier Marshal' At Capitol

BLOOD-TINGLING action will be the order of the day when "Frontier Marshal," blows into the Capitol theater today, with Randolph Scott and Nancy Kelly in the leading roles.

This stirring 20th Century-Fox production tells the vivid story of the wickedest, wildest town of the dangerous old west, where life wasn't worth a lead nickel until a gunfighting marshal brought in the law at the shooting end of a sixgun.

Scott is seen in the title role as Wyatt Earp, whose fabulous exploits tamed Tombstone and who stayed alive because nobody ever beat him to the draw, while Nancy Kelly is cast as a beautiful, brave, unflinching girl who followed the man she loved to this wide-open town in the hope of saving him from himself.

Romero has the colorful role of Doc Holliday, elegant gambler and deadly killer, a man who, for reasons best known to himself, has given up a useful life in the east to come to this wild borderland town to wait for death. Loved by two women, he was feared by every man—until Wyatt Earp walked in.

Allan Dwan directed the production from a screen play by Sam Hellman, based on a book by Stuart N. Lake. Sol M. Wurtzel gets the executive producer's credit.

Some finely chopped spiced apricots or peaches give zest to chilled fruit beverages. Stir the fruit in well so it will be distributed evenly.

For something brand new as a picnic bun filler try this: Cut canned corned beef into thin slices, brown well in a little fat. Spread generously with chili sauce mixed with some chopped dill pickles and quickly tuck into half open buttered buns—plain or toasted.

Tyrone Power, Alice Faye and Al Jolson are starred in "Rose of Washington Square," feature attraction showing Thursday only at the Capitol theater, which opens the gates of memory and brings back favorite songs. Handsome Tyrone sings for the first in this film.

Hedy Lamarr's New Film Comes To Paramount Thursday

Lola, Rosemary and Priscilla Lane, and Gale Page, four daughters in "Daughters Courageous," with a dynamic supporting cast shows today, Monday and Tuesday at the Paramount theater.

Teamed with Robert Taylor in a sensuous tale of the exoitic east, Hedy Lamarr, most glamorous and most talked-about motion picture personality since the inception of the talkies, comes to the Paramount theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday in "Lady of the Tropics."

Taylor Cast In Leading Male Role

'Lady Of The Tropics' Tells Love Story Of South Sea Islands

THE widely-awaited appearance of Robert Taylor and the sensational Hedy Lamarr in "Lady of the Tropics," a languorous drama of smouldering passions laid against an exotic background of Indo-China, occurs Thursday at the Paramount theater in what is heralded as the most fascinating romance of the year.

Three years in preparation, "Lady of the Tropics" brings to the screen for the first time a panorama of background scenes of little-known places of Indo-China and Cambodia which were filmed by a photographic expedition exclusively for the picture.

The love story has its beginning in the harbor of Saigon, with its teeming oriental traffic of ocean liners offshore, quaint native craft at the docks, natives babbling in the colorful, narrow market places and caparisoned elephants and oxen lumbering through the streets.

A riverfront a quarter of mile in length was dredged from California soil, landings were built, native huts were erected on piles and a large section of the famed and ancient Angkor Wat temple was recreated for a climatic love scene between Taylor and Miss Lamarr.

Taylor, as Bill Carey, arrives in Saigon and falls in love with Manon, the Eurasian portrayed by Miss Lamarr. A half-caste, she is bound to Indo-China by racial distinctions. Failing to escape through the influence of Delaroch, a rich and powerful admirer, she has planned to marry a native prince when she is dissuaded by Taylor, whom she marries instead. Although married to an American, Manon is prevented from fleeing from Indo-China. To release her husband, whom she loves devotedly, she slays the man who has thwarted her happiness, then ends her own life.

RAIL EMPLOYE'S DEATH OCCURS

Homer H. Howell, 48, of 1812 Jackson street, died in the Missouri Pacific hospital in St. Louis, Mo., Saturday at 9:30 p.m., following a long illness which required an operation. Mr. Howell had been employed for 17 years by the Missouri Pacific railroad in Monroe, being motor car foreman.

The body will reach Monroe over the Missouri Pacific this morning at 6:40 a.m., and will be accompanied by his son, H. H. Howell, Jr., who was with his father when he died. No arrangements for the funeral had been made Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Howell received word late Friday that her husband was critically ill and she left on a morning train Saturday for St. Louis. When she reached Little Rock, she received word that her husband had died, so she changed her plans and returned to Monroe last night.

Mr. Howell is survived by his wife and son.

Swayze's Dairy Noted For High Grade Products

Swayze's dairy, located on the Milhaven road, is recognized throughout Monroe and West Monroe as the home of high grade milk, buttermilk, cream and butter.

The richness of Swayze's dairy products has established a constantly increasing demand for them. They may be had at your favorite food store. However, if you prefer, you can have doorstep delivery direct from the dairy. Just call telephone number 2948.

Having a high butter fat content, Swayze's milk is one of the most nourishing foods you could possibly utilize in your daily diet. Guarded carefully in production in a thorough'y sanitary dairy, it is wholesome and healthful for children as well as adults.

When buying your food, specify Swayze's high grade milk. All of its other products, cream, buttermilk and butter—rate equally as high as the milk. Ask for them, too, by name when you are making your purchases.

Use Swayze's milk, cream and butter in your cooking and note the improvement in your culinary efforts.

And remember at all times to demand Swayze's when you buy or order milk, buttermilk, cream or butter.

Brown Lumber Co. Makes Lumber For All Requirements

J. B. Brown Lumber company, located on U. S. highway 80 (Monroe-Shreveport road) in Calhoun, is exactly what its name imples. It is more than a sawmill. It is a lumber company in every sense of the word and is in a position to supply both rough and dressed lumber for every construction purpose.

In addition to a sawmill, it operates a planing mill and has a Moore cross-circulating steam dry kiln. Its plant is modern throughout, being equipped with the latest machinery. Moreover, production is supervised by J. B. Brown, owner of the enterprise, who has spent a lifetime in the lumber business.

J. B. Brown Lumber company always keeps a complete supply of lumber on its yards and in its sheds and is prepared at all times to fill both large and small orders. Short-length lumber for minor construction and repairs is always available there.

The public is invited to inspect the plant and stock of J. B. Brown Lumber company and prospective builders would do well to permit the concern to figure on their lumber requirements. Its lumber measures up to the highest standards and it is a point of pride with the company that it has never knowingly sold a faulty piece of lumber.

J. B. Brown Lumber company delivers with its own trucks within a radius of 200 miles of Calhoun and it maintains a light truck especially to handle small orders.

Its long distance telephone number is 1411.

Royal Feed & Seed Offers Advice On Feeding Of Hens

The season of higher egg prices is approaching. Eggs are getting scarce. Is your flock in the best condition to meet this situation? Many non-laying cull hens should be removed from the flock. This will reduce feed costs, bring a cash return for culls sold as meat and give more room in houses and at feed hoppers for hens that are in production. But in fairness to those on trial, be sure that all hens are free of lice and mites, that they have been treated with Staf-O-Life hen worming mash and that the flock is on a good feeding program, including constant access to a high quality laying mash, such as Staf-O-Life laying mash, and plenty of fresh clean water, before removing other than hopeless culls. When these conditions are fulfilled, more exacting culling can be done with confidence and more profits can be expected from a good feeding program.

Keep the mash hoppers full at all times and allow at least three inches of hopper space per bird. Examine the hoppers frequently to see that lumps of dirt have not been kicked into them and that the mash is kept clean and palatable. It pays to clean hoppers thoroughly at least twice a week as a matter of routine. Watch the consumption of mash and resort to wet mash feeding at noon if necessary to insure full consumption of mash. Feed scratch grain in the afternoon, either hopper or hand fed, in accordance with the weight and condition of the hens. Some prefer to delay the use of lights, and in some cases the use of wet mash feeding, until the birds have started putting on new feathers in the course of the moult. This depends, however, upon local market conditions, age of hens and other considerations. Sudden changes in feeding or management should be carefully avoided during the late summer and fall.

Particular attention should be given to supplying plenty of fresh cool water. Not only is this necessary for the utilization of feeds but an abundant supply of cool water along with well-ventilated houses is of great value in keeping hens from becoming overheated. Put fresh water in the drinking fountains every few hours and provide plenty of fountains. See that the flock has plenty of shade on well-drained areas.

Take some time now to provide for a supply of green feed this fall. Plant oats as soon as possible—in most parts of the south by the first of September. Plant oats on cultivated ground, sow rye grass seed on sodded ground, or plant Swiss chard, rape or other plants that will yield succulent green feed this fall, but by all means start now to provide green feed from some source!

Branch Is Opened By Terminix Of La.

Due to the steady growth of its business, Terminix of Louisiana, 312 Bernhardt building, which is engaged in termite insulating in the northern third of the state, recently opened a branch office in Shreveport.

The Monroe office retained the eastern half of the territory. The Shreveport branch will serve the western half.

The Shreveport branch is located in suite 712 of the Ardis building, with Walter Scott, who has been with Bruce Terminix company in Memphis, Tenn., for the past six years, in charge. Jack Davis, formerly connected with the Monroe office, is acting as chief inspector for the Shreveport branch.

Licensed and bonded with the state of Louisiana, Terminix of Louisiana gives a five-year, ironclad guarantee on its work. Frequent reinspections are made during the five years and reports made to the property owner.

Termites can wreck your property unless steps are taken to curb them. The cost of termite insulation is moderate. Inspections and estimates are furnished free of charge by Terminix of Louisiana. Just call telephone number 1341.

RAIL EMPLOYE'S DEATH OCCURS

Homer H. Howell, 48, of 1812 Jackson street, died in the Missouri Pacific hospital in St. Louis, Mo., Saturday at 9:30 p.m., following a long illness which required an operation. Mr. Howell had been employed for 17 years by the Missouri Pacific railroad in Monroe, being motor car foreman.

The body will reach Monroe over the Missouri Pacific this morning at 6:40 a.m., and will be accompanied by his son, H. H. Howell, Jr., who was with his father when he died. No arrangements for the funeral had been made Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Howell received word late Friday that her husband was critically ill and she left on a morning train Saturday for St. Louis. When she reached Little Rock, she received word that her husband had died, so she changed her plans and returned to Monroe last night.

Mr. Howell is survived by his wife and son.

Swayze's Dairy Noted For High Grade Products

Swayze's dairy, located on the Milhaven road, is recognized throughout Monroe and West Monroe as the home of high grade milk, buttermilk, cream and butter.

The richness of Swayze's dairy products has established a constantly increasing demand for them. They may be had at your favorite food store. However, if you prefer, you can have doorstep delivery direct from the dairy. Just call telephone number 2948.

Having a high butter fat content, Swayze's milk is one of the most nourishing foods you could possibly utilize in your daily diet. Guarded carefully in production in a thoroughly sanitary dairy, it is wholesome and healthful for children as well as adults.

When buying your food, specify Swayze's high grade milk. All of its other products—cream, buttermilk and butter—rate equally as high as the milk. Ask for them, too, by name when you are making your purchases.

Use Swayze's milk, cream and butter in your cooking and note the improvement in your culinary efforts.

And remember at all times to demand Swayze's when you buy or order milk, buttermilk, cream or butter.

Brown Lumber Co. Makes Lumber For All Requirements

J. B. Brown Lumber company, located on U. S. highway 80 (Monroe-Shreveport road) in Calhoun, is exactly what its name imples. It is more than a sawmill. It is a lumber company in every sense of the word and is in a position to supply both rough and dressed lumber for every construction purpose.

In addition to a sawmill, it operates a planing mill and has a Moore cross-circulating steam dry kiln. Its plant is modern throughout, being equipped with the latest machinery. Moreover, production is supervised by J. B. Brown, owner of the enterprise, who has spent a lifetime in the lumber business.

J. B. Brown Lumber company always keeps a complete supply of lumber on its yards and in its sheds and is prepared at all times to fill both large and small orders. Short-length lumber for minor construction and repairs is always available there.

The public is invited to inspect the plant and stock of J. B. Brown Lumber company and prospective builders would do well to permit the concern to figure on their lumber requirements. Its lumber measures up to the highest standards and it is a point of pride with the company that it has never knowingly sold a faulty piece of lumber.

J. B. Brown Lumber company delivers with its own trucks within a radius of 200 miles of Calhoun and it maintains a light truck especially to handle small orders.

Its long distance telephone number is 1411.

Royal Feed & Seed Offers Advice On Feeding Of Hens

The season of higher egg prices is approaching. Eggs are getting scarce. Is your flock in the best condition to meet this situation? Many non-laying cull hens should be removed from the flock. This will reduce feed costs, bring a cash return for culls sold as meat and give more room in houses and at feed hoppers for hens that are in production. But in fairness to those on trial, be sure that all hens are free of lice and mites, that they have been treated with Staf-O-Life hen worming mash and that the flock is on a good feeding program, including constant access to a high quality laying mash, such as Staf-O-Life laying mash, and plenty of fresh clean water, before removing other than hopeless culls. When these conditions are fulfilled, more exacting culling can be done with confidence and more profits can be expected from a good feeding program.

Keep the mash hoppers full at all times and allow at least three inches of hopper space per bird. Examine the hoppers frequently to see that lumps of dirt have not been kicked into them and that the mash is kept clean and palatable. It pays to clean hoppers thoroughly at least twice a week as a matter of routine. Watch the consumption of mash and resort to wet mash feeding at noon if necessary to insure full consumption of mash. Feed scratch grain in the afternoon, either hopper or hand fed, in accordance with the weight and condition of the hens. Some prefer to delay the use of lights, and in some cases the use of wet mash feeding, until the birds have started putting on new feathers in the course of the moult. This depends, however, upon local market conditions, age of hens and other considerations. Sudden changes in feeding or management should be carefully avoided during the late summer and fall.

Particular attention should be given to supplying plenty of fresh cool water. Not only is this necessary for the utilization of feeds but an abundant supply of cool water along with well-ventilated houses is of great value in keeping hens from becoming overheated. Put fresh water in the drinking fountains every few hours and provide plenty of fountains. See that the flock has plenty of shade on well-drained areas.

Take some time now to provide for a supply of green feed this fall. Plant oats as soon as possible—in most parts of the south by the first of September. Plant oats on cultivated ground, sow rye grass seed on sodded ground, or plant Swiss chard, rape or other plants that will yield succulent green feed this fall, but by all means start now to provide green feed from some source!

Branch Is Opened By Terminix Of La.

Due to the steady growth of its business, Terminix of Louisiana, 312 Bernhardt building, which is engaged in termite insulating in the northern third of the state, recently opened a branch office in Shreveport.

The Monroe office retained the eastern half of the territory. The Shreveport branch will serve the western half.

The Shreveport branch is located in suite 712 of the Ardis building, with Walter Scott, who has been with Bruce Terminix company in Memphis, Tenn., for the past six years, in charge. Jack Davis, formerly connected with the Monroe office, is acting as chief inspector for the Shreveport branch.

Licensed and bonded with the state of Louisiana, Terminix of Louisiana gives a five-year, ironclad guarantee on its work. Frequent reinspections are made during the five years and reports made to the property owner.

Termites can wreck your property unless steps are taken to curb them. The cost of termite insulation is moderate. Inspections and estimates are furnished free of charge by Terminix of Louisiana. Just call telephone number 1341.

L. S. U. SCANDALS CALLED BLESSING IN DISGUISE

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 26—(AP)—Dr. J. Harvey Cain of the American Council of Education, who has completed an extended visit at the Louisiana State university here declared the breaking of the recent scandals at the institution was "a blessing in disguise."

Dr. Cain, who is director of the council's financial advisory service, visited the university on invitation of Dr. Paul M. Hebert, acting president. His statement on the university was contained in the current issue of "School and Society," national education weekly published in New York.

He said attention had been called to the fact that the institution had a [illegible] He explained that this superiority lay in the fact that the university was financed from continuing appropriations which did not have to be submitted to the legislature every time it met.

He asserted that in addition to the reorganization of the business management of the institution, now under way, the institution needed a self perpetuating board of supervisors and by-laws defining duties of the board and other officers.

SALE OF SEALS DATE UNCHANGED

President's Thanksgiving Proclamation Not To Effect Period Designated

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 26.—(Special)—The Christmas seal sale of the Tuberculosis and Public Health Association of Louisiana, held annually in the weeks between Thanksgiving day and Christmas, will not be affected by the president's proclamation fixing Thanksgiving day as November 23 this year, Dr. W. H. Perkins, president of the association, announced today.

"The 33rd annual seal sale, carried on by the National Tuberculosis association and its affiliated groups throughout the United States, will open according to plans made previous to the president's proclamation and in accord with the schedules of other fund-raising agencies December 1, 1939," Dr. Perkins stated. In the years to follow the question will be treated on its merits, according to word received by Dr. Perkins from national headquarters.

Dr. Perkins received notice of the unchanged date upon his return from California, where he spoke before the sixth Pacific science congress of the Pacific Science association of Berkeley, Stanford and San Francisco.

The congress, in which 42 countries participated, was held under the auspices of the National Research council of the United States of America. It was the sixth of a series and the first to be held in the United States. Previous meetings were in Honolulu, Sydney and Melbourne, Tokyo and Kyoto, Batavia and Bandoeng, Vancouver and Victoria. The theme of the congress was the present stage of knowledge of Pacific scientific problems and the methods by which that knowledge may be most profitably enlarged.

Dr. Perkins' address, delivered in that section of the program dealing with communicable diseases of the Pacific area and tropical medicine, was the only one treating of tuberculosis. His subject was "Tuberculization Intensity and Forms of Tuberculosis in the Western Pacific Area."

CIVIC BEAUTY TO BE AIDED

Local Foundation Is Established; Names Of Directors Given

The newly-formed Twin City Beautification foundation held an election of board members to serve for the coming year at a meeting held the past week in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce.

Those to serve on the board will be the following: J. S. Washburn, Dr. A. G. McHenry, Mrs. Tom Sholars, Mrs. J. Q. Graves, Mrs. Fred Fudickar, Murray Hudson, Mrs. Gordon Wright, Judge W. M. Harper, Harry Frazer, Tom Hicks, L. Milton King, John Breard, Mrs. Kate Morrice, Mrs. C. E. Woolman and Mrs. J. H. Thatcher.

By-laws, constitution and other details will be presented and action taken at a later meeting when officers also will be named.

The plan will be to cause a cleanup of unsightliness throughout the two cities and to adopt plantings of flowers and shrubs on private and public property. The work will extend over a long range of years and will be similar to plans in effect in Shreveport, it is said.

TUGWELL TELLS ABOUT TREASURY

Explains That Treasurer Has No Detailed Information On Expenditures

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 26.—(AP)—State Treasurer A. P. Tugwell announced today that he was not able to furnish detailed information about expenditures of various state departments because their checks do not clear through the treasury.

The treasurer, who is a candidate for governor, said that during the past 60 days he had received "dozens of letters requesting information about payments by state departments."

"Much of this information requested concerned state employes, the salaries paid and the effective dates of their employment," Tugwell said. "The authors of these letters had every reason to believe that the information that they were seeking could be furnished by the treasury department. My department, however, has been able to furnish but little of the information requested for the reason that payroll checks of state departments, boards, commissions and institutions do not clear through the treasury department. This is also true with respect to the payment of other obligations incurred by the state departments and institutions."

The treasurer explained that when an appropriation is made by the legislature the amount of the appropriation is set up on the books of the auditor and the treasurer.

"The warrants are drawn on the state auditor and if found to be in compliance with the appropriation, the auditor orders the treasurer to pay the amounts requested," Tugwell said. "The funds withdrawn from the treasury by a state department against its appropriation are then deposited to the credit of that department in local banks with which the department does its banking business. Payroll checks and all other checks issued in payment of the obligations of that department are then drawn on the local banks in which such funds have been deposited."

He explained that in the final disbursement of funds drawn from the treasury the department in question may issue checks but these checks are never seen by the treasurer.

"After the funds of a certain department or institution are withdrawn from the treasury," he continued, "the treasury department has no control over the final expenditure of the money nor any other phase of the matter. The treasury department is nothing more than the bank of the state in which the public funds are deposited to the credit of the various departments, boards, commissions and institutions by the collector of revenue and other tax collecting agencies."

FIRST EAST CARROLL BALE

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Aug. 26.—(Special)—J. T. Hicks, of the Monticello community, ginned the first bale of cotton in East Carroll parish from the 1939 crop. The bale, ginned August 14, at the Monticello Gin company, weighed 587 pounds and was of the Delfos variety.

THIS IS THE GENERAL IDEA

Headed for a European tour, Vera Zorina, top-ranking ballet dancer, said that so necessary is sunbathing in the nude to her health and skill that she wouldn't even skip it while on the train from Hollywood to New York. She planned to sunbathe as the train passed through sparsely settled areas, continue it on shipboard in a suite with a private deck. She is pictured on the terrace of her Hollywood home.

He's 88 But He Carries On Business At Bernice Daily

BERNICE, La., Aug. 26.—(Special)—Bernice's oldest citizen and active business man celebrated his 88th birthday Thursday, August 24, by placidly continuing about his business that is literally between a drug store and a bank. "Uncle Tom" Phillips has his own frame building housing his store of garden seed situated between the Bank of Bernice and Miller's drug store, with room enough on one side to provide benches for the town's men at leisure to discuss the day's events.

"Uncle Tom" was 80 years old before he decided upon his present business; it seemed to him a man that old should have a certain place to sleep every night. Results, he quit his traveling job as a fruit dealer and settled down 60 years later than most men. Even today he seems years younger than his present age.

He was born August 24, 1851, in Tuskegee, Ala., the son of Susan and Mack Phillips, who moved to the pioneer town of Lincoln parish, Vienna, in 1858. His father fought in the Civil war and died of sickness in 1864 and was buried in Shreveport, just where "Uncle Tom" doesn't know today. There were three sisters and one brother in the family.

In 1881, he left his home and moved near the present site of Bernice and married Pamela Tanner, settling on a farm. In a few years the town of Bernice sprang up and he has watched it grow and develop all the 40 years of its life. He has many recollections of its early struggles for schools, stores, markets, churches, roads, and other necessities for a thriving town.

"Uncle Tom" decided about 1910 to quit farming and try his fortune in other fields. For several years he proudly relates, he was a newspaper man; he sold subscriptions over a large route in the surrounding country.

About eight years ago he got his idea of a seed store. He first placed a few seed upon a table in the middle of the room and sold them to friends. Then larger demands caused larger supplies and more tables and finally a store resulted. His idea was mainly to sell home-grown seed but now a part of his seed is shipped in.

He believed when he hit upon his idea for a profitable business for a man declining in years, that it would succeed and it has. People from far and wide come to "Uncle Tom" for early garden seed; for late patches and for most any time of the year. He handles a wide variety of garden seed, has a flourishing business, spends his spare time in reading to improve his knowledge, and faces the future with a sense of security.

His children living today are Mrs. Elizabeth McCullen of Bernice; Mrs. Susan Green of Bernice; Mrs. W. L. Key of Bernice; Mack Phillips of Ruston, and Sam Phillips of Shreveport. He has many great-grandchildren.

CLARKSON RITES ARE CONDUCTED

Official Of Louisiana Central Lumber Company Buried In Monroe

CLARKS, La., Aug. 26.—(Special)—The funeral of John Walter Clarkson, 72, who died Thursday following an operation Wednesday in a Monroe hospital, was held at the Baptist church here Saturday at 9 a.m. Rev. Paul Jones, pastor, officiated and interment was in Riverview Burial park in Monroe. A eulogy was given by M. C. Thompson, of Monroe, a close personal friend.

Pallbearers at the funeral were Leonard Griffin, S. H. Allbritton, W. H. Thomas, Robert Busch, Richard Fenton, Jr., and John Sellers of Clarks; Elmer Slagle of Monroe, and Cameron Minard of Columbia.

Mr. Clarkson was employed for 37 years by the Louisiana Central Lumber company at Clarks in charge of their land and timber department, and he was regarded as unusually expert in his line.

Surviving are the widow, who before her marriage was Miss Hattie Peck of Ironton, Mo.; a daughter, Miss Jeanette Clarkson; and a brother, J. G. Clarkson of Clarks; a nephew, George W. Clarkson, of St. Louis, Mo.; and two nieces, Mrs. Lillian Edmonds, of New Berlin, Ill., and Mrs. Hallie Haiss, of New York City.

PLAYGROUNDS IN CITY TO CLOSE

Final Day Will Be Held With Special Contest On Thursday

This week will close the summer playground season for the Monroe recreation department which has proved an outstanding success with more in attendance and increased enthusiasm having been shown than in any previous season, state those in charge. On Thursday the final day, "Achievement day" will be observed. Winners in contests will be rewarded with blue, red and white ribbons designating respectively first, second and third places. All the events for Thursday will be held on the Barkdull Faulk playground.

There will be woodwork, handicraft, croquet, baseball, softball, Chinese chess, rope jumping, deck tennis, hop Scotch, volley ball, badminton, tennis, paddle tennis, jacks, marbles, running, 60-yard dash, broad jump, throwing the discus and other events.

Herbert Kelly will be in charge of woodwork; handicraft in charge of Mrs. Thelma Carson, assisted by Dorothy Stamets and Dorothy Ferrington. Softball will be in charge of John Eby with a WPA assistant. Midget softball will be directed by Emmett Christman assisted by Mary Lee George, Laverne Lawson, Katherine Brown, Joyce McKoin and Patricia Murphy.

Dorothy Stamets will be in charge of tennis while Evelyn and Mary Louise Marine will be directors of paddle tennis. The cold drink stand will be in charge of L. Works and Juanita George. Games will be directed by Louise White and Coach Ruple. Mrs. Norris White will be in charge of croquet and of the headquarters, assisted by Mrs. Hall of the WPA.

The junior baseball final games will be played at 2 p.m. between winners of the two halves. Emblems will be awarded.

The board of director of the Monroe municipal recreation department Saturday expressed thanks to all who have made it possible to complete so successful a summer recreation season as is now ending, and that without this cooperation it would not have been possible.

Mrs. W. P. McCall, who has served faithfully in charge of the recreation center for the past three years or more, is to end her duties, for the present at least, with the month of August. Miss Lucyle Godwin, director of the recreation department, stated that in behalf of the department she wished to express her appreciation of the fine service performed by Mrs. McCall.

L. S. U. SCANDALS CALLED BLESSING IN DISGUISE

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Dr. J. Harvey Cain of the American Council of Education, who has completed an extended visit at the Louisiana State university here declared the breaking of the recent scandals at the institution was "a blessing in disguise."

Dr. Cain, who is director of the council's financial advisory service, visited the university on invitation of Dr. Paul M. Hebert, acting president. His statement on the university was contained in the current issue of "School and Society," national education weekly published in New York.

He said attention had been called to the fact that the institution had a fine physical plant and that he found the system of financial support was superior to that of most state universities. He explained that this superiority lay in the fact that the university was financed from continuing appropriations which did not have to be submitted to the legislature every time it met.

He asserted that in addition to the reorganization of the business management of the institution, now under way, the institution needed a self perpetuating board of supervisors and by-laws defining duties of the board and other officials.

GEORGE, I'M SIMPLY DYING FOR A DRINK OF WATER
A DRINK! HAVE YOU GOT TO HAVE IT? WELL OKAY.
OH WELL, WHAT..?
SUCH LUCK! I WAS HOLDING THE GLASS BOTTOMSIDE UP.
NOW THE GLASS IS TOO FULL. OH WELL, WHY WORRY IF A LITTLE SPILLS ON THE FLOOR AND THAT CARPETSWEEPER GOT ME AGAIN.
OH! OH!
OUCH!
JO! HERE'S THE WATER YOU ASKED FOR! JO! THE WATER! OH JO!
WHAT? WHO? OH, WATER WHY, I DIDN'T ASK FOR WATER. I MUST HAVE JUST TALKED IN MY SLEEP.
ANOTHER THING I'D LIKE TO BE IS A POLAR EXPLORER. IMAGINE BEING FOR MONTHS... YES YEARS, WHERE NO WOMAN COULD GET ON YOUR NERVES.
AH THAT'S THE LIFE. AH!

THOSE TARZANS CUT ME OUT??? — NOT MUCH!!
HMMM — THAT PIECE OF DRIFTWOOD GIVES ME A CORKING IDEA
LOOKS LIKE A FIN!
IT IS!!
SHARK!
MY RECORD FOR UNDERWATER SWIMMING COMES IN MIGHTY HANDY
THEY'RE PROBABLY SCARED OFF BY THIS TIME HA-HA — NOW I'LL HAVE DIXIE ALL TO M'SELF!
HI, DIXIE! WHAT'S ALL THE EXCITEMENT?
A SHARK WAS SEEN IN THE WATER
?!
SEE??? THEY'VE JUST GOT HIM!

HE CAN'T LAST THREE MINUTES IN THOSE WAVES!
BY THE GREAT HORN SPOON, HE'S MAKING HEADWAY! LOOK HOW HE DIVES THROUGH THOSE MOUNTAINS OF WATER!
THERE'S A LOT OF POWER IN HIS STROKES, MATES!
COURAGE, MAN! I'LL BE THERE IN A TRICE!
CAPTAIN HOOPLE HAS REACHED HIM! STEADY, LADS — NOW, HEAVE HO!
EGAD! I PRESUME THIS WILL ADD ANOTHER MEDAL TO MY ARRAY OF LIFE-SAVING AWARDS!
WHAT HO! STEP LIVELY, LADS! TOSS DOWN A LIFE PRESERVER SO I CAN HOIST HIM UP — AND TELL THE FIRST MATE TO HAVE A BIT OF TODDY READY — HAR-RUMPH!

AHOY, WIMPY
MY VERY GOOD PAL, I WOULD GLADLY MOW YOUR LAWN IF YOU HAD A LAWN TO MOW-
NO LOAN, WIMPY
NO?
NO!
HM,- NO LOAN --- I WILL HAVE TO MANEUVER GEEZIL INTO LETTING ME MAKE A SANDWICH
DEEP THINKING
GEEZIL, MY FRIEND, YOU MAY BRING ME A HAMBURGER SANDWICH
AGAIN MUST I TELL YOU THIS IS A SEA FOOD CAFE NO HAMBURGER NO SANDWICHES
BUT, SURELY SIR, YOU COULD MAKE ME A SANDWICH
NO! NO! NO! WE HAVE NO SANDWICHES
ANYTHING BETWEEN TWO PIECES OF BREAD
NO, WE HAVE NOTHING FOR SANDWICHES FOR YOURSELF GO AND LOOK
KITCHEN
H-M-M
YOU SEE, GEEZIL, MY FRIEND, YOU WERE MISTAKEN, A LOBSTER-
OW!
KITCHEN
8-27
I YAM SORRY I REFUSED YOU THE LOAN, WIMPY, I DID NOT KNOW YA WAS SO DESPIRK YA'D TRY TO EAT A LIVE LOBSKER
I DID NOT KNOW IT WAS A LIVE ONE --- IT WAS MOTIONLESS I THOUGHT IT WAS A COOKED ONE
BUT WIMPY, COOKED LOBSKERS ARE RED, THAT ONE WAS GREENISH BROWN
WAS IT, POPEYE? MY FRIEND, I NEVER TOLD YOU I AM COLOR BLIND
